The south is not known to produce wrestlers but the University of West Virginia seems to have developed a team in the last few years that is able to throw any of them. The southern walloped Penn last Friday and scored on the Ames squad two years ago when the ambitious Farmers were almost unbeatable. Since Nebraska threw the big scare into the Iowa crew there has been little said about the unbeatable nature of the Ames team.

and two in other lines, with an average salary of $3000 to $3200 a year. Land development is one of the newest fields open to agricultural engineers according to Mr. Wood. In California engineers map out the enormous extent of undeveloped lands planning the communities and farms completely. Then the state loans farmers the money to build, taking mortgages on the land. In this way 132 farms including several towns were developed last year, he said. The men who planned this work received salaries of $3500 to $4000 a year. Farm building and drainage is also a field for agriculture engineers, he said.

"When you fellows get out of school you will probably want to design a million-dollar bridge the first thing and you won't work unless you do. Well, just remember that the big jobs are made up of little ones."

"Somebody has to write or you engineers wouldn't know anything," he continued. "It is very difficult for engineering publications to get good articles written by good men. Any engineer should be able to make at least $500 a year on the side in journalism."

"Nine commandments prescribed by the best men in the field of engineering for student engineers, which I gleaned from their writing are:

1. Take a prescribed course.
2. Take electives.
3. Train physically.
4. Study men and affairs.
5. Take some good engineering publication.
6. Keep all your school books and collect a library.
7. Belong to a local and a national society.
8. Study outside of school.
9. Make a living and save."

PAINFUL PART.

"Feels the separation, no doubt."

Freshman Class to Meet for Elections

The freshman class will meet Tuesday, March 19, in Social Science building, Room 191, for the election of minor class officers, and discussion of business, according to announcement made today by John B. Welpton, newly-elected president of the first-year students.

The meeting has been postponed because of the mid-semester exams this week, says the bulletin.

There is no mistake about it but that Nebraska has a wrestling team that compares well with any in the United States. Ames is leading the conference and those fellows came very near to losing a tough match when all the Nebraska heavies tossed the highly touted grapplers from our neighboring state. One more fall or decision on the Husker score card and the match would have been hung up with the rest of the scalps in Coach Dawson's office.

Drake's coach has issued a call for his football squad. Spring practice is going to be very severe over there according to dispatches. The Bulldogs went through last season without a defeat and they are going to try it again this year. They turn out a pretty clever squad every year and it does credit to the school. There are some big schools in the Valley that have stooped for the Bulldog and he is still up and coming.

"SHOW me," says the math. teacher—and when the chalk clouds have settled down there are a lot of figures signed "Q. E. D." which aren't "Q. E. D." at all.
