

CALIFORNIA WRITER PRAISES NEBRASKA

Many Complimentary Things
Said About Husker Team
and Work of Coach
Dawson.

A letter enclosing a clipping from the sport page of a prominent Los Angeles daily was recently received by the Daily Nebraskan. The letter was from a former Nebraska man, now a resident in California, and the clipping shows the interest which California sport writers are taking in the athletic teams of Nebraska. The track meet between Nebraska and California in which Nebraska will engage during their western trip is spoken of, and it would seem that this track meet is eliciting nearly as much interest as the proposed football games between the two schools, which are also mentioned in the article.

The California sport writer speaks in the most complimentary terms of the University of Nebraska, its athletic teams, and of the work that Coach Fred Dawson is doing in establishing Nebraska's gridiron reputation. Speaking of the possibilities of a strong football team for next year, the writer says, "Despite the fact that Coach Dawson lost eleven strong men by graduation, he has the material for another formidable outfit. Only one man, an end, of the '22 class of freshmen made the varsity last fall. By this you can more readily understand what Lincoln is losing."

The clipping speaks of the probability of Nebraska signing a two-year contract with the University of Southern California, to start with a football game in California on next December 8. Many obstacles would impair the consummation of such a contract, among them, the necessity for procuring the consent of the Missouri Conference board of control, but a home schedule of the kind proposed would do much to further assist in the establishing of Nebraska's record as an institution of the highest rank, and it is apparent that California papers are championing the cause of Nebraska.

William Jennings Bryan, with other prominent Nebraska men, are spoken of as desirous of seeing the Nebraska team fight upon California soil, and the clipping pithily says, "and what they want they usually get."

When the track squad leaves this week the Huskers will be making their initial invasion of the West, and it is certain that the work that they do in competition there will increase the Los Angeles paper's belief in the ability of Nebraska athletic teams.

It's perversity that begets adversity.
