Hendrickson, senior heavy, and Miller, junior, put up the best scrap of the series. The bout went for the full twelve minutes and neither man had a time advantage sufficient to give him the match. AGS PERFECT PLANS FOR FARMERS' FAIR

Many Students Attend Mass Meeting Prior to Celebration May 5.

Two hundred and fifty Agricultural College students attended a mass-meeting Thursday evening, April 12, to perfect their plans for the "Big Day," May 5, the date of the 1923 Farmers' Fair.

The meeting was called to order by Manager Elton Lux. The cheer leaders led off with some Ag yells after which business was discussed. Mr. Lux outlined his plans briefly for the benefit of those who had not attended the previous meetings. Included in his talk were his observations at the Missouri Farmers' Fair which he attended last week. He then called upon the chairmen of the various committees for reports on the progress they were making, or wished to make.

After the conclusion of the talks two reels of moving pictures were shown. The first one showed scenes from the round-up at Chepene and was full of action. The second reel showed the 1921 Farmers' Fair in action.

After the movies the meeting was adjourned and the committees met to talk over some of the plans which they have under way. The next mass meeting will be held in Ag Hall at 7:30, April 26. Movies of the 1922 Fair as well as other interesting pictures will be shown.

The Farmers' Fair will lead off this year, of course, with the traditional parade. The parade will pass through the business section of Lincoln, and all the "best minds" of the Ag College are at work on the floats which will be displayed.

The comic will be interspersed with the serious in the parade. Some of the best and worst methods of Animal Husbandry, Agronomy, and Animal Pathology will be illustrated in the floats.

The importance and diversity of agricultural education will be shown in the parade. The public is invited to the Ag campus to take part in the day of hilarity which will follow the parade.

Y. M. C. A. Employment Bureau Finds Work for University Men

Students in need of spring employment should file applications with the Y. M. C. A. employment bureau, in the Temple building, of which William Alstadt is the secretary. I takes more time to telephone for men to work than to find the work, Mr. Alstadt said yesterday. The bureau is always pleased to be of service to students, he said.
