Meetings for nominations will be in charge of members of this year's council, and will be held in the following places, at eleven o'clock Tuesday morning:

Agriculture, A. H. 306, in charge of Alfred Stenger.

The junior class will nominate people to fill the two positions for men and the two for women in the council for the coming year. The meeting of the class, which will nominate students for members at large for the governing board, will meet at eleven o'clock in the Social Science auditorium.

Carl J. Peterson, president of the junior class, will preside at the meeting where nominations for the positions for the positions will be made.

All That Goes Up Comes Down So Get On and Have A Ride

Whoop-e-e! Gather round, you bow-legged, leather-skinned, bronch-twisters and listen to this: A regular horse and steel riding contest will be staged at the "Ag" Campus next Saturday at 1:30. Anybody who craves to climb on a snaky, flea-bitten crawfishin' cayuse is privileged to enter. All year a representative from the State Veterinarians office has been gathering all the bovine and equine outlaws that he has run across, and now the Farmers' Fair Board has a collection of man-eating beasts that would do credit to Pendleton of Cheyenne.

Saddles and all other riding equipment will be furnished by the Farmers' Fair Board, which will also officiate at the obsequies following the contest. If any bronch-rider has a pet saddle at home that he wants to use, the Farmers' Fair Board will pay express on it to Lincoln. Next Saturday there will also be a roping contest for University rope artists (cigar-makers are barred).

Prizes for the roping and riding contests will be donated by downtown merchants. The Farmers' Fair Board hopes to have a large number of entries by next Saturday afternoon when the first of the equine sky-rockets will be turned loose.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR ANNUAL FAIR

Week to Be Busy one for Ags—Horse Tank Promised to Slackers.

At the second of the monthly meetings of the staffs of the Farmers' Fair, committee plans in outline were given by the chairmen of the various activities for the day. The managers of the Farmers' Fair guarantee that this year's affairs will be better than ever in the past. The night of Saturday, May 5, is closed for the Agricultural College day.

Arnold Fouts, chairman of the parade committee, says that the parade for this year will be the best ever put on by the students of the College. He says there is to be a "hick" band for the benefit of all those who crave music, and that the usual number of clowns will be there to enliven the scene.

The guide-book for the events of the campus for that day is being compiled by "Hobb" Turner, who promises to include the location and times of events, and the prizes to be awarded.

For all the Ags, the coming week is to be a busy one. The horse tank is already installed on the campus, and the Ags. promise any slacker a dip into its cold and watery depths.

R. O. T. C. to Honor G. A. R. With Parade

Thursday, May 3, the state G. A. R. convention will be honored at a parade and review of the R. O. T. C. corps of the University. The review will be held on the drill field north of Social Science at five o'clock.

All cadets will participate in the parade unless properly excused in advance, according to announcement from Major Sidney Erickson, professor of military science and tactics.

TWO GIRLS TO ATTEND W.S.G.A. CONVENTION

Jean Holtz and Margaret Stidworthy to Leave Monday for Meeting at Columbus, Ohio.

Girls will be gathered from schools all over the country at Columbus, O. this week, to attend the annual national convention of the Woman's Self-Governing Association on May 3 and 4. Delegates from Nebraska will be next year's and this year's president, Jean Holtz and Margaret Stidworthy. They will leave Monday afternoon and expect to be gone one week.

Matters concerning the constitution will be taken up, along with house rules and new suggestions for self-government. Lately, much attention has been paid to the "big and little sister" movement and vocational guidance. One day's discussions will probably be devoted to this.

Nebraska has distinguished herself at convention before with the success of the Cornhusker luncheon, the girls' Cornhusker party, and other peculiar movements. Last year she made quite a name for herself at Convention, as well as generally over the country, with the "Nebraska Girl's Creed." This year, owing to discussions about it on this campus, the Creed will again be brought up at the National meeting and criticized by all schools.

KOSMET KLUB HAS 128 TICKETS LEFT FOR "YELLOW LANTERN"

Uncalled for Pasteboards to Be Released Monday Morning at Ten O'clock—One Hundred and Forty-Five in Second Balcony—Klub Assured of Packed House May 4.

OMAHA MAKES PLANS TO RECEIVE CAST MAY 7

Donna Gustin to Give Dance—Coombs Given Chance to Sell Songs—Printed in Book Form and Sold—Sen Chorus Is Bit of Show.

One hundred twenty-eight good seats to the "Yellow Lantern" to be presented by the Kosmet Klub at the Orpheum theater Friday night will go on sale at ten o'clock Monday morning. These tickets represent those reserved and not called for. They will all be on sale regardless of their position in the house on Monday morning according to the announcement of the Klub. One hundred and forty-five second balcony seats which were not sold will be on sale. The Klub is assured of a packed house for the Friday night performance of the "Yellow Lantern" here at the Orpheum.

The song hits of the Kosmet Klub show have been printed together in a booklet form with the "Yellow Lantern" cover and will be sold after the show both in Lincoln and Omaha. The two chief numbers of the show have been reviewed by an eastern music buyer and at least one and probably both of them will be put out with other popular music before the summer is over. These pieces are "Underneath the Chinese Moon" and "Missin' Mississippi". Both were written by Cyril L. Coombs. A representative of another music house in the east visited Mr. Coombs this week regarding the sale of the song numbers. The Kosmet Klub recently made the announcement that the song numbers of the "Yellow Lantern" will be a real treat in the way of spicy popular music.

With but few practices remaining before the first appearance of the show Friday night, the cast has been working hard every evening at the Armory. Special work has been put on the choruses of the show.

Donna Gustin Will Dance
Announcement was made this week that Donna Gustin, well-known Lincoln dancer, will appear in the second act of the "Yellow Lantern" as the spirit of the poppies.

Arrangements for the production of the show in Omaha have been carried out through out the past few weeks. Omaha sign boards and windows are sparkling with the University of Nebraska Kosmet Klub ads for the "Yellow Lantern." An advance ticket sale at the various Omaha schools and colleges with the University of Nebraska Medical College well in the lead has been reported heavy and already the ticket sales insure the success of the Kosmet Klub show in the metropolis. A number of the University of Nebraska students are expecting to see the show in Omaha rather than Lincoln. Tickets go on reservation in Omaha on Tuesday.

Committees of the faculty and the students of the Omaha high school have taken up the Kosmet Klub show with special interest and are selling their share of the tickets. The first report of sales from the Medical College in Omaha showed a sale of thirty-two advance tickets at the Phi Rho house with other fraternities and the nurse section of the college buying heavily.

Patronesses for the Kosmet Klub show in Omaha will be announced Monday. Committees of alumni and other University organizations in Omaha will welcome the cast on Monday the seventh. A special dinner will probably be held before the show with all Omaha alumni attending. The matter has not been definitely decided.

As a specialty show with plenty of spicy turns and good music, the "Yellow Lantern" is the best of Kosmet Klub productions according to the members of the Klub. It is built on costumes and settings will be the highlight of the show in a regular occurrence in the hand of the Chairman, Oriental.
