The 1923 home track season opens on Saturday morning. Cornhuskers have not had a chance to see this season's team officially in action. They have had to be content to read of its performances at Kansas City, in Arizona, in California, and at the Drake relays, but on Saturday we will see Nebraska pitted against the indoor track champions of the Missouri Valley—the Jayhawkers from Lawrence, Kansas.

Probably there is no other team in this part of the country that Nebraskans want to defeat on the cinder path more than Kansas. The Jayhawkers last year laid claim to the all-around championship of the Missouri Valley. It's up to our track team to dispute this title effectively by winning over its Southern neighbor and Nebraska students will help by their attendance at the meet.

On account of the fact that the athletic field is torn up by grading for the stadium, the tracksters will have to find some other field for their dual meet. Whether or not this field is near the campus, students must not fail the track team. The opening baseball games were witnessed by fine crowds and the backing of the students undoubtedly affected the results of those games. And so with the track team—the team that hundreds of Nebraska grads came miles to see on the California coast—its chances for victory over Kansas will be strengthened by cheers from a big crowd on the sidelines Saturday morning.

The senior honorary society of women in the Teachers College is honored by receiving a charter to Pi Lambda Theta, national educational sorority. Although organized only a year ago, the organization has carried out its purposes so well that recognition by other schools is granted to the Nebraska organization. Closer co-operation with undergraduates of other colleges will surely be the outcome of the granting of the charter and Nebraska, as well as the local chapter, profits by the honor. Some recognition of the high standing of the Nebraska Teachers' College is also shown by the coming of Pi Lambda Theta to our campus. The charter should not be taken by the local unit as the goal of its ambition to further undergraduate interest in its work, but rather as a beginning toward accomplishing greater things for its college and University.

The Minnesota Daily offers this comment on "Successful Losing":

As part of our training at the University we should learn the art of taking the reverse of life—the disappointing decisions—with a smile and a spirit characteristic of genuine sportsmanship. A loser is much more likely to hear expressions of sympathy on his misfortune from witnesses if he does not personally agitate for them.

Those who were present at the contests at the Armory last Friday night when the boxing titles were decided witnessed examples of good sportsmanship and lack of it. In one of the battles, the boxer who was scarcely untouched could easily have ended the affair by following his man to the ropes but he preferred to give him every advantage possible. The crowd expressed their admiration for the victor with ringing cheers—because he had shown he was a sportsman at heart. Later in the evening occurred the contrasting incident. Two men had negotiated their regular rounds to a draw. The referee called an extra round. Again the decision was a draw. The seconds of the two men were called in conference and it was decided to "flip a coin" for the title. No sooner had the referee announced the winner when the "unfortunate" loser's friends began expressing their "displeasure"—if polite words are to be used—or entire lack of sportsmanship—if it is to be said point blankly. If their man had won on the say of the coin these same persons would have cheered until breakfast time. But their man didn't win—and they had never learned how to be "good losers."

Such examples are to be found on every side—nearly everyone has at one time or other been guilty of "kicking" because they've experienced reverses. But if "kicking" only brings the scorn of everyone—is it worth while? Losers may be as popular as winners if they are sportsmen at heart.

CO-ED'S OUTLINE OF REQUIREMENTS FOR THE 'IDEAL MAN' ARE UNEARTHED

Your "ideal man"... Girls, have you decided definitely upon his features and characteristics? Would you know him if you saw him? Of course you have an ideal—we all have, even though we don't admit it. One fair co-ed has mapped hers on paper. Her "map" was found in a Library book, and this is what she wants:

- A—Good looks (essential).
 1. Five feet ten inches.
 2. Clear complexion.
 3. Regular features.

- B—Good "line" (essential).
 1. Witty.
 2. Must not discuss former affairs with girls.
 3. Must disapprove of promiscuous "petting."
 4. Must not be silly.

- C—Good manners (essential).
 1. Must be courteous.
 2. Must not eat awkwardly.

- D—Clothes (essential).
 1. Must tie neckties straight.
 2. White trousers desirable.
 3. Flared trouser cuffs.

- E—Further preferences (not absolutely necessary.)
 1. Car (not a 1914 model.)
 2. Violin or good voice.
 3. Pipe.

F—Almost required.

- 1. Good taste in music and literature.
- 2. Well-kept finger-nails.
- 3. Must not eat onions or such before a date.
- 4. Good dancer.

G—Imperative.

- 1. Popularity with men.
 - 2. National fraternity.
 - 3. Personality and character.
- We certainly hope that she finds him. We would like a try at him ourselves. However, we fear—we hate to discourage anyone, but we really do fear—that there "ain't no such animal."—Ohio State Lantern.

GRADUATE STUDENT GIVES ALLIGATOR TO CAMPUS COLLECTION

A baby alligator has been presented to the department of zoology by Miss Helen L. Wikoff, Grad., laboratory assistant in the department of chemistry.

The alligator, which was sent as a gift to Miss Wikoff from Florida, proved a rather cumbersome pet. However, it was not the alligator, as he is now only 18 inches long, that worried Miss Wikoff, but rather the thought of what he will be some day that urged her to give up the pet to the department of zoology.

The department already has one full-grown alligator in the tropical room.—Ohio State Lantern.

OLIVER AAS WILL RETURN TO MINNESOTA GRID CAMP

Oliver Aas, the fighting leader from North Dakota, who captained the University of Minnesota football team last fall, will again be out in uniform when the whistle blows next fall, he has indicated to Head Coach "Bill" Spaulding. Aas has played college football but two years, his remarkable showing in his first year out leading to his election as captain last year.

Earl Martineau, Minnesota's famous "Marty," who is to captain the 1923 eleven, is believed to have prevailed on Aas to return to the team after the latter had hesitated for fear the presence of a former captain might harass the new Gopher leader. Martineau immediately made it clear that no such feeling existed.—Ohio State Lantern.

DELTA UPSILON TO GIVE WEEK'S RADIO PROGRAM

Delta Upsilon will provide the program to be broadcasted Thursday evening from radio station WEAQ. Features of the program will be selections by the girls' Caloric Quartet, and a program of Hawaiian melodies by "The Four Hawaiians," a quartet of players on string instruments.

The program will be opened with a talk by Earl W. Wiley of the department of English. Selections of popular music will be played by an orchestra. Walter L. Davis, A-4, will recite an original monologue entitled, "The Verse of the Vagabond." Margaret E. Tabbs, A-2, will sing soprano solos, and William E. Reiland, Engr-3, will sing tenor solos, accompanied by Florence Lentz.

Cornet solos will be played by J. Don McCormick, Engr-1, accompanied by Lorin A. Thompson, Jr., A-4. Mr. Thompson will also render piano solos. Ward A. Thomas, CJ-Spl, will sing popular songs, accompanied by

COMSTOCK YOUTH TURNS IN RECORD

Thirty-four numerals were awarded this week to Nebraska high school track athletes for meritorious performances on the cinder path this season. A pair of new numerals records were set in the awards made this week.

Frank Wagner of Comstock established a new numeral record for the discus throw when he hurled the better than the state record. Elwin platter 123 feet, which is three feet Karr made 46 feet 3 inches in the shot put.

Donald Holmes, in winning his full blue numeral, scored sixty-two points—a high mark for the 1923 competition. This week's awards:

HURLS PERFECT GAME; NO BATTER TO FIRST

ATHENS, Ga., May 1.—Fred Sale, diminutive right-hander, of the University of Georgia, pitched a perfect game against the University of Virginia here Monday afternoon. Not a man hit safely, not one reached first base and only twenty-seven men faced him. Georgia won the game, 4 to 0.

The nearest approach to a hit was a ball hit to second in the ninth inning and a close play resulted at first.

Sale's record is believed in local college circles to set a new southern college baseball record. Other no-hit games have been hurled in the south, one against Georgia Tech by Philpot, left-hand Georgia pitcher, in 1900, but never before probably has the feat of no-man-to-reach-first been attained. Sale fanned eight men.

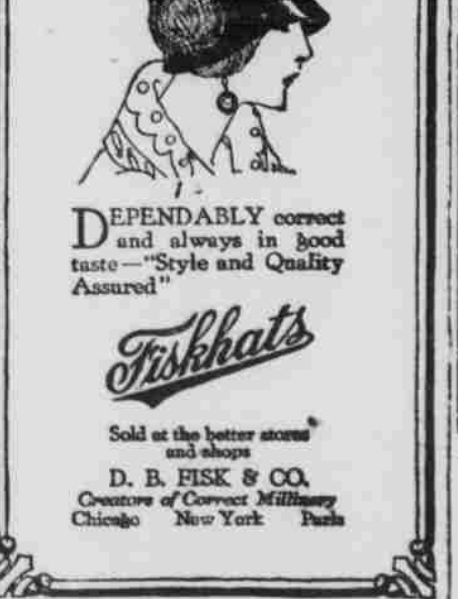

LEGION MEN URGED TO MARCH IN PARADE

American Legion men are asked to meet at the club rooms at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to march in the parade with the Grand Army veterans. It will not be necessary to wear uniforms, according to C. C. Becker, secretary. This is done in order that more men may attend.

"This will be the last time for some years that we will be able to march with the G. A. R.," said Mr. Becker, "and we want as many men out as can possibly attend to make the parade a real success."

The 40 Hommes at 8 Chevaux bugle and drum corps will meet at the Legion hall at 9:30 and will also march in the parade.

Men who are interested in the bugle and drum corps and are able to become members will be taken to the American Legion convention in California next October with all expenses paid.
