GREAT ATHLETES WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION SATURDAY MORNING

"Nebraska-Kansas Track Meet Saturday Morning Will Be Greatest Ever Held in State of Nebraska." Says Coach Henry F. Schulte—Events Will Be Run Off at Fair Grounds.

HUSKERS WILL SCORE HEAVILY IN TRACK EVENTS

Jayhawk Team Is Stronger in the Field—Gardner and Captain Allen Favored to Win Half-Mile and Mile—Hurdles Are Doubtful—Century Dash May Be Run in 9 4-5 Seconds.

Nebraska's track team, 1922 Missouri Valley champions, will battle the University of Kansas track athletes, 1923 indoor Valley champs, in a dual meet on the State Fair Grounds track Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Although the Kansas team is given an edge by the dopsters, the Huskers have a good chance of winning, and the winner of the meet will not be determined until the final event is completed. The Scarlet and Cream tracksters are the stronger in the track events, while the Jayhawker team will clean up a majority of the points in the field events. Both teams are in good condition for the meet, altho the Huskers have been unable to get into the best of shape because of the lack of a track to train on, and adverse weather conditions.

"The Nebraska-Kansas track meet will be the greatest track meet ever held in the state of Nebraska," Coach Henry F. "Indian" Schulte said yesterday in commenting upon Saturday's meet. "In fact, it will be one of the greatest cinder path meets ever held in the Mississippi Valley," he added.

The meet will open at ten o'clock with the 100-yard dash. This race is expected to be one of the sensations of the meet. Noble and Lloyd, Husker sprint stars, will fight it out with Wiestemeyer and Fisher, the Jayhawker speed demons. Fisher, who runs the century in 9 4-5 seconds, is expected to win this race though one of the Huskers may upset the dope and win. The same quartet of speedsters will run in the 220-yard race. Baldwin will be the third Husker runner in the two sprint races.

Ted Smith of Nebraska and Firebaugh of Kansas will battle for first place in the quarter. Firebaugh is rated as the fastest quarter in the valley, but Husker fans have some ideas of their own on that subject, and say that Ted Smith is the cream of valley quarter-milers. Saturday's race will well decide the argument.

"Mud" Gardner is expected to have everything his own way in the half-mile. The doozy little Husker won the 880-yard run at California in less than 2 minutes, and is in good shape for the meet tomorrow. Coats should make a strong bid for second place in the half.

Captain Allen, the Omaha Medic miler, is conceder the mile run. The Medic star runs a 4:30 mile consistently, and if pushed, can clip several seconds from this time. Ted Slemmons, another Omaha Medic, is Nebraska's best bet in the two-mile run.

Lear and Kenner, Omaha Medics, and Creceus are expected to be the Scarlet and Cream entries in the hurdle races. Kansas is rather weak in the stick events, but so are the Huskers, so the outcome of these races are doubtful. "King" Lear, however, has shown great improvement lately, and should win the high hurdles.

A majority of the field events will be won by Kansas. Captain Rogers and Norton of Kansas, both clearing better than 12 feet, will win first and second in the pole vault. Riddlesbarger and Gleason of Nebraska will fight it out for third place. Likewise in the high jump, Poor and Norton of Kansas are given the first two places, with Turner of Nebraska taking second, with a possibility of his copping second place.

In the weight events, honors will probably be about evenly divided. Hartman, Parks, and Meyers, Cornhusker entries in the shotput, should win a good share of the honors. Norton of Kansas will also cut a figure in this event. The outcome of the discus throw is doubtful. Both Nebraska and Kansas are weak in this event, and whoever gets a "lucky toss" Saturday will probably be the victor.

Graham of Kansas is conceded first place in the broad jump, with Hatch of Nebraska taking second. Lloyd and Norton will battle for the third position. Hartley and Wenke, Husker javelin throwers, toss the spear well over 160 feet, and should place high in this event tomorrow.
