SEE THE FOOTBALL GAMES

Fortunately for football, colleges, and intercollegiate players, the major sport in most colleges has not proven to be a success for professionals. Time after time, and with a small measure of success, enterprising men have tried to hire men to play the game that has become distinctly intercollegiate and interscholastic.

It is feared that if football does become a success from the commercial standpoint, there will be a great measure of trouble in keeping men in college when they have opportunity to play for salaries.

Professionalism is looked upon by all officials as a plague that must be dealt with in the first stages. No coach in America can keep his good standing if he knowingly allows a professional or ineligible man to play in his ranks.

By merit of drastic measures, football has taken the trend of a sport that supersedes all others. It has risen, in a very few years, to the sport that overshadows all games played in that season.

Many years ago Nebraska jumped into the lead with a football team, and that supremacy has been maintained since those days. Nebraska's football team is important in the world of major sports. There is not a fan in America who would not be glad to pay a great price to see the Cornhuskers fight Notre Dame, battle Syracuse, or meet the Kansas Aggies. Every student at Nebraska can see those three games and two more for $7.50.

CHURCH RECEPTIONS.

The indeterminate good accomplished by the student receptions—so generously given by the Lincoln churches and so well attended by the students—is often overlooked. We often fail to realize just why the authorities of this institution have seen fit to "close" one evening each fall so that the churches and religious bodies may claim the attention of all University students.

Numbers of students, disinclined or too bashful to attend the regular functions open to students, are made to feel that they have a place in the warmth of a church gathering. Made to feel at home as they are, such students find the church one of the best and most interesting places to spend their extra time. The democratizing influence of bringing all sorts of students together in this manner, because all types are included, is quite perceptible. What influences are better?

CLASS ELECTIONS

The Student Council has named the date for the semester elections. It is certainly a distinct honor for any man or woman to be chosen president of his class. There is opportunity for the fortunate student to do work for his class and there is plenty of room for him to do the work for none has been done for many years.

The position of president has long been that of but an honor with no work. The right person could materially aid his class if he were willing to work. In voting for your candidates, consider their merits carefully. Put in persons who are valuable and not those who merely have a bit more prestige than someone else.

There is room on the editorial staff for persons who wish to contribute editorials for publication in these columns. It is essential to the success of an editorial column that writers be versatile. Anyone being appointed on the editorial staff will have his articles signed by initials only, thereby showing that all were not written by the editor.

What a university this is! What opportunity, what surroundings, and what history there is here. Freshmen were given but a small measure of the instruction at the rally. They will learn more gradually. When they hear of the men now great who formerly studied or taught in the same rooms in which they receive their daily instruction, when they realize the triumph and glory of Ivy Day, when they begin to feel the fine traditions that are arising only with the age of the institution, then they will become the Nebraskans that we expect them to be. Then they too will be able to sincerely exclaim, what a university this is!

Every freshman is expected to know Nebraska. Let your slogan be, "Know your own school."

Notices

Some of the freshmen are so dumb that they think Oliver Twist is a new dance step.

"I want a ticket for Florence," said a University Student to the ticket agent.

"Where on earth is Florence," said the agent, after thumbing through countless pages for some minutes. "Why, sitting over there on the bench."

Their Fluent WRITING Induces
Fluent THINKING
Your Education Demands It

If there's any one thing that students are entitled to have, it's a fountain pen that makes their thoughts flow freely. So don't let "False Economy" put an unruly pen in your hand. That is a mental hazard you can't afford to hold before your eyes throughout your college days. Pay a little more and use the pen that gives your thought free rein—the black-tipped, lacquer-red Duofold—the fountain pen classic.

Parker Duofold is not only handsomer than gold—its color makes it hard to lose. Its balanced swing and super-smooth point make it a fascinating pen to use—a point no style of writing can distort, no years of use can wear away.

Get the $7 Over-size Duofold or $5 Duofold Jr. or Lady Duofold now, and you're fixed for life. Neat gold pocket-clip or ring-end for ribbon or chain included free.
