RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
DISCUSSED AT DINNER

Chancellor Avery, the conference was entirely informal and was not designed to commit prematurely the University in any way to any course of action. Before the group disbanded Dr. Kent expressed a willingness to visit the University at some future time to look over the ground and to offer any helpful suggestions possible to those interested in the movement.

The deans and professors of the University of Nebraska present were interested to learn that plans had been worked out in some of the leading state universities of the country that promised to materialize in scholarly instruction in basic things on which genuine religious character can be built without offence to members of any organized religion or to persons of no religious affiliations. The group of Nebraska men present resolved themselves into an informal committee to study the entire situation. Local conditions will be considered as well as the experience of such institutions as Michigan where under Dr. Kent's leadership a school of religion has been organized, Missouri where there is an affiliated Bible College, Texas where under different organization much fundamental instruction is given, and numerous other large state universities of the country.

Professors Address
Engineer's Society

The local chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers was addressed Thursday morning by Dean Ferguson and Professor Edison.

Dean Ferguson explained the aims and ideals of the organization, stating that the present membership is more than 14,000.

Professor Edison explained the various grades of membership, and the qualifications required.

The Academy of Science and Letters of Sioux City, Ia., has secured the services of four University of Nebraska professors for its program this year. Dr. Barker lectured on "Evolution, the Hope of the Race," this week.

Professor Laura B. Pfeiffer of the History department will speak on "German-French Relations Since the Time of Charlemagne;" Professor Bengston will lecture on "Central America;" and Dr. Pool will give an illustrated lecture on "Life Among the High Peaks of the Rockies."

The Academy at Sioux City and one at Iowa City are the only organizations of this kind in the middle west. The subjects covered embrace every branch of science, and are open to the public.

An old fashioned lady writes in to ask, "What is a stadium?" A stadium, madam, is a large football field, with a University attached.

Dr. R. K. Beattie of Washington, D. C., called on friends in the University this week. He is at present connected with the federal horticulture board of the United States department of agriculture. His work involves the examination of plants which are imported into the United States from all parts of the world, in connection with the enforcement of various plant regulations. Dr. Beattie received his B. Sc. from this university in 1896.
