BUY A TICKET.

Student tickets go on sale tomorrow. That means that every student is expected to buy a pass which admits him to every athletic event to be held on the Nebraska field.

This is a single tax that molds all the drives into one. It eliminated extra expense, enabling the sale of season tickets at a very low price.

There are hundreds of selling points for the tickets. Support of Nebraska is the biggest one. Your own enjoyment is another.

WE NEED PRESIDENTS.

You are going to the polls today to vote—at least you are expected to do so.

Are you going to vote for some one because he is on your side of the political fence? We do not like to admit it but there are politics. A decisive stroke was given the upstarts on the campus two years ago and all was destroyed save the memories of the hectic campaigns.

Today the elections are quiet. But there are powerful votes being cast in units of one. Your vote is a powerful one. So is your neighbors.

Vote for the president who will either get his class out of debt if it is in or keep it out if it is on the level. Two classes, the juniors and seniors are now deeply in debt. A class officer of real ability will straighten these affairs out and see to it that the class pays its debts.

That is one of your duties at the polls. The only reason for the seniors of being more than a hundred dollars in debt is because there has been uninterested officers elected in the past. It is the same with the juniors. Examples like these are not conducive to good class organization or it is the result of the lack of it.

HISTORY REPEATS.

Football critics all over America have taken note of the Illinois-Nebraska game Saturday. The remarks made by those veterans of the pens, gridirons, and rules do not cast a bit of reflection upon the Nebraska team.

Nebraska is not looking for solace. Nebraska played the game and lost. There was no means of comparison between the two teams.

It took a defeat last year to beat Notre Dame. It took a defeat to beat Pitt. If this defeat beats Syracuse, Notre Dame and the Kansas Aggies, Nebraska will have profited. That is the point that sport writers are stressing. They expect and we hope for a repetition of the years gone by.

Every Nebraskan should get ready for that Oklahoma game now. The southerners have a brand of football that is dangerous—but Nebraska intends to win. There is no over-confidence in the Husker camp. There is determination.

SMOKING ON CAMPUS.

Smoking on the University of Nebraska campus has long been considered a nuisance and a detriment. Organizations do not favor smoking within the confines of the campus and request that students refrain from carrying the cigarets and live ashes to the doors of the buildings.

Before the famous old iron fence was removed, the gates used to be the depository for all remains of the good old smoke, but now the shadows of the doors must be the hint.

Nobody cares to see students smoking any place, much less on the campus. Keep your cigarets in your pocket while within the limits of Nebraska's campus.

The Daily Nebraskan likes to get tips, news, and contributions, but those persons who want publicity for themselves and their organizations, and nothing but publicity are sheer nuisances around this office. Be genuine in your efforts and your stories will show it.

Merely Opinion

Oklahoma will be here Saturday. Benny Owen's Sooners are important contenders for the Missouri Valley title. A hundred per cent display of spirit will help Nebraska whip the southerners.

The turnout to meet the team at the station Sunday was an excellent showing. Nearly as many were there to greet the team upon its return as there were to give it a send-off. The team may be beaten but never the spirit.

Presidents of all the classes and persons to fill vacancies in the Student Council will be elected today. All the offices are important to school activities. You should be able to vote intelligently.

AN ODE TO CHEMISTRY.
Oh, there's grandeur in the study of old Greek,
And there's rapture too, in music (twice a week).
But the grandeur's put to route when the H₂S gets out,
Or the Cl generator strikes a leak.
Mathematics hath its charms, we must confess,
Physics, too, the students never cease to bless;
But their charms are put to flight when phosphorous gets alight
On a fellow's fingers or a brand new dress.
Yes, the sciences are pleasant in the main,
And their study helps to cultivate the brain;
But there's no logic or reason can explain away the reason
Done to nature by the valences, that's plain.

Honorary Colonel of University Regiment to Be Elected at Polls

The second annual election of the honorary colonel of the University R. O. T. C. corps will be held today in connection with the general class election. There will be no filings nor nominations in connection with the choosing of the honorary colonel and balloting is open to the entire student body.

Any girl in the junior or senior class is eligible for the honorary position and if elected will have the honor of accompanying the cadet colonel in leading the grand march at the annual military ball on the night of December 7. The identity of the co-ed chosen at the election today will not be announced until the cadet officers promenade.

It has been said that the honorary colonel is to be Nebraska's most representative girl this year, and great enthusiasm has been promoted on the campus concerning the election. Besides being the honor guest at the officer's "hop" the winner of the casted ballots today will review the R. O. T. C. regiment in formal parade, an honor accorded only to distinguished military officers.

Miss Pearl Swanson was the first elected honorary colonel at this institution last year, and due to the interest shown, the selection from the girls of the upper classes has become established.

The polls for the election of the honorary colonel will be the same as those for the offices, in the southwest corner of the basement of the Administration building which was formerly occupied by the Daily Nebraskan.
