A SCORELESS TIE.

Kansas came to Nebraska as a guest at the dedication of the stadium and Kansas came here with the underflowing hope and expectation of whipping the Cornhuskers as the Cornhuskers beat Kansas a year ago. As far as the game is concerned, K. U. was as happy to hold Nebraska—happy because the Huskers were considered the winner before the game started.

Nebraska's team delivered until the critical moments and then the ball was lost. As K. U. held Nebraska, so did Nebraska hold K. U.

The Huskers did not win, but they kept Kansas on the defensive most of the game. The students were not aware that Kansas is stronger this year than ever before and that Kansas as traditional record for trying to beat Nebraska. There was too much confidence among the students.

Nebraska is generally conceded to have the better team, but there is no legitimate manner of claiming the victory without scores.

LOOK WHAT'S COMING.

With Nebraska playing a scoreless tie against Kansas and all Husker opponents in action, there is opportunity for a venture into the field of predictions and hopes.

The Kansas Aggies, considered formidable foes in the Valley, tied with Ames. The Iowa State team held Minnesota to a close score two weeks ago. The Aggies beat Creighton and are showing an inclination toward a tough Thanksgiving day battle.

Notre Dame, who will be here in three weeks, gave the Princeton Tiger a sad drubbing. When the "Big Three" meets western football, the proud old institutions lost a bit of the prestige that they have so long held in the pigskin world.

Syracuse, who will be here a few days before the Kansas Aggie game, won from Pitt. Nebraska remembers both of these teams very well.

There is a hard season ahead. There will have to be a great fight put up by the students at every game. The team is able to grasp the situation from Pitt. Nebraska remembers her that there is not a team on the schedule that will allow Nebraska to score at will.

The Cornhuskers have a schedule that needs real consideration. Fight for Nebraska and with Nebraska!

AS STRANGERS SEE IT.

E. R. Gay, assistant dean at Harvard, gave a Nebraskan reporter his impression of the Daily Nebraskan as a college newspaper. Mr. Gay noted the distinctive type of a paper which has placed the Nebraskan in a category that makes it unique in the college world.

Where many papers have adopted a metropolitan air in their college cities, the Nebraskan as not tried to deviate from its course as a publication for students.

Persons vitally concerned with the progress of the paper have long considered the advisability of causing the Nebraskan to make radical changes in its present policy and give students a metropolitan newspaper that will push college news into the background. The balance swings between the comparative values of national and local news.

To change the policy of the paper would be a radical move involving a great risk. There would be no practical manner of telling whether the move was advisable or not until it was tried, and then there would be the danger of dissatisfaction.

At the present time there will be no change made. The Nebraskan will continue to be the newspaper dedicated to the institution and not to the outside world. However, there will probably be a time when the Daily Nebraskan will follow the pace set by most of the college papers at this time.

GIRLS WILL AID IN AMERICANIZATION

Twenty-seven University Women to Work Under Direction of Y.W.C.A.

Twenty-seven University Y. W. C. A. girls will co-operate with the city organization in Americanizing the Mexican families who live here. This work is under the supervision of Mrs. W. J. Wyncoop, 2020 South Nineteenth street, who has spent much time in the last thirteen years as a social service worker in this Spanish group.

For many years Mrs. Wyncoop went into the homes alone to help in times of epidemics. Five years ago the city schools established night classes and sent young girls into the homes to teach the English language to the older members of the family. Two courses are being added to night classes this winter for those who understand the English language well enough to go to lectures. Dietetics for the sick and simple hygiene are now offered.

Mrs. Wyncoop won their confidence through her experience in Buenos Aires as a teacher and student of Spanish. Every girl who works under her is personally introduced to the adults of the family before she may carry out her work of teaching grammar and practical knowledge necessary for a housewife.

GAY COMMENDS NEBRASKA DAILY

Former Dean of Crimson Says Husker Paper is Distinctive.

"The Daily Nebraskan compares most favorably with other college papers throughout the country, and is exceptionally good in giving a stranger an idea of what is going on in the University. I read it with a great deal of interest," was the comment of Edward R. Gay, former assistant dean of Harvard University, after he had read the Friday issue of the Nebraskan.

The Nebraskan is somewhat different from most college papers that Mr. Gay has seen. In many college towns the school paper is the only daily and most furnish not only local but all the telegraph news published. Such papers do not become distinctive, he said.

On thing which an outsider notices about the paper is the lack of illustrations, criticised Mr. Gay. At least one cut would add much to the front page, and a rotogravure section with the Sunday issue, if it could be afforded, would put the paper in a class by itself.

RAG CARPET Conducted by Carolyn Airy

OUR OWN CLASSICS.
Othello: "On our quarterly reports, 'Twas pitiful, 'twas wondrous pitiful."
To a student hesitating between a date and some serious study: "I do perceive here a divided duty."
To those contemplating attending Uni: "Put money in thy purse."
Not to Nebraska co-ednas: "Alas, she has no speech."
To those offering excuses for absences: "Indeed, is't true?"
The Ragdoll says that the men here would probably date oftener if the girls would only ask them.
ARE YOU AWARE OF THE FACT? That if we didn't have noses, we probably couldn't smell.
ALL ON A STORMY NIGHT.
He heard dem bones a'rattle,
An did his teeth have fits?
Sh'd say not so, my honey chile,
He merely won fo' bits.
We could get to our 8 o'clock's oftener if they started later.
GOSH!
We went over to the stadium this morning and what do you suppose. They have forgot to put a roof on it.
The Ragdoll says that even if the average pie has got a lot of crust and isn't exactly square, she's got a profound admiration for one anyhow.

"They say I haven't any pedigree—but just wait till they see me in the boss's Dunlap."

Shopping With Charlotte

If 'ts something new to wear Or a place to go, or a thing to eat We bring these items to your home And lay our service at your feet.

have beads in all lengths, from the popular choker beads to the long beads for dress wear. Do you have a weakness for pearls? You can get lovely bandeaux and bracelets set with pearls in different designs. Of course they carry all sorts of pearl beads. The thirty inch strings are particularly beautiful. For day time wear they carry a line of fancy white gold sport rings. They are set with amethysts and topazes and stones in other popular fall colors.

Gifts for Someone.
Have you seen the beautiful Steuben glass that George Bros. have just received? It is all hand made and comes in marvelous colors. There is a pair of blue cologne bottles that would look well on the dressing table of the most particular co-ed. This wear makes lovely gifts. Then there are some darling tea cosies which are a specialty. They consist of a tea-pot, hot water pot and tile. They are unusually attractive and cost only $5.00. Everyone wants a Mah Jong set these days. And just think you can get one for $2.50 at George Bros. Of course if you care to you can get a gorgeous set for $50. Now is the time to think about cards for Christmas. George Bros. have many exclusive designs for engraved greeting cards. If you order them now you can have them delivered in December. Besides they will engrave all sorts of invitations and place-cards, and can furnish distinctive party favors. They have as well a fine assortment of costume jewelry. The designs of these ear rings, beads, and bracelets are more attractive. Why not make a present to yourself of something pretty?

For a Bite to Eat.
After a cold walk, a long ride, or a football game what tastes better than a cup of hot chocolate with a hot toasted ham or chicken sandwich? There is nothing that I know of. When you want something to eat just drop in at Rector's and try their chocolate and any sandwich you fancy. They have a complete luncheonette and fountain service so you can get anything you like at any time.

A New Dress or Two.
Parties, parties, parties. Everyone is having them. And parties mean new clothes. So I went to Ben Simon & Sons to see what I could find. One love was Lovvain green beaded georgettes over cloth of gold with an uneven hem. Another stunning one had a draped French blue skirt with a gold metallic bodice and a large beaded cabochon. They have a number of wonderful dresses as low as $29.50 and their more expensive dresses are equally good values.

And Then This Evening.
Now that we have bobbed our hair fashion decrees that it must be worn high for evening. The curled bobs for $6.50 at Giffin's Beaute Shoppe are the solution. They can be doubled and worn in a cluster coiffure. With a swirl of hair bound around the head this is the latest in hairdressing.

To Complete the Picture.
While we are dressing up we will have to think about ornaments. Tucker-Shean's have a large assortment of all sorts of jewelry. They
