THREE HUNDRED PAYMENTS MADE ON WEDNESDAY

Campaign to Collect Installments on Stadium Pledges Goes Well.

EXPECT 3,200 TO PAY BEFORE DRIVE ENDS

Three hundred students, met the second payments Wednesday on the pledges which they made a year ago to the Nebraska Memorial association. Thirty-two hundred more students are expected to meet their installments before the campaign to clear up the second payments on stadium pledges ends next Wednesday. At least a thousand students who made pledges are estimated to have not returned to school.

Starting at 8 o'clock Wednesday and continuing throughout the entire day, the little white house on the Twelfth and R streets corner of the campus has been receiving the payments of the students. Throughout the entire day a steady stream of stadium builders have been clearing up a part, and in many instances, all of the obligation which they owe to the Nebraska Memorial Association.

Over 100 Pay by Noon. By the close of the morning run on the little white house, 125 students had availed themselves of the chance to pay their stadium pledge. Less than four hours after the little house was opened Wednesday morning more than 3 per cent of the 4,500 students, who have made pledges, had met their second payment. During the afternoon, the rush was stronger.

The first day's payments more than satisfied the expectations of the memorial association. If the present rate keeps up throughout the week, it is expected that only a small percentage of the student pledges will not have been paid on time. Of these pledges, the greater percentage of them will be those made by students who have left school since making their pledges.

Pay in Memorial Office. Ever since school started six weeks ago there has been a steady stream of students into the office of the Nebraska Memorial Association, 106 Law building, where they have made payments on their pledges. Not a few have cleared up their entire obligations, and the number of those who have made advanced payments on their pledges is great.

Statements of amounts due have not been mailed to students yet. The memorial association preferred rather to conduct a voluntary payment campaign on the campus, and then within a few weeks bill those students who did not make their payments. In this way much money which would have been spent in sending out statements will be saved.

Students who have changed their addresses since making their pledges are requested to notify the Memorial Association of their new addresses.

HARRIERS LEAVE FOR MEET WITH MISSOURI

Hyde, Dickson, Lewis, Cohen, Ross and Zimmerman Make Trip.

Today the cross-country team leaves for a duel meet with the Missouri Tigers. They will accompany the football team to Columbia, leaving on the Burlington at 1:30 o'clock. Missouri has been noted for its strength in the distance grind. Last fall they took the husker harriers to a decisive defeat. However, the Huskers have been working ard for this first meet away from home, and with the experience of two meets, the team is expected to twist the Tiger's tail.

Tryouts this week have developed a new line-up on the members of the squad and likewise a change on the team. The squad that will leave for Columbia today is: Captain Hyde, Dickson, Lewis, Cohen, Ross and Zimmerman.

BEGIN PLANS FOR ANNUAL DAD'S DAY

Traditional Event Comes on Day of Battle With Notre Dame.

Preparations for "Dad's Day" now an annual University event, are being rapidly completed, according to members of the committee in charge. The date has been set for November 10.

Last year more than 1,000 "Dads" attended the luncheon and Kansas Aggie game in the afternoon, and with the new stadium and the Notre Dame game as additional drawing cards, it is expected that the number this year will be greatly increased.

Nebraska "dads" and Nebraska "sons" will both cheer for the team at the game as sections in the stadium have been reserved so that they may sit together.

Tradition in Many Schools. In many of the eastern schools such a day is a time honored tradition, and those who attended believe that Nebraska will have a tradition just as strong.

In the evening a banquet in honor of the fathers will be given, which is one of the features of the day. At the banquet last year every available seat was taken but arrangements are to be made this year so that every "dad" and son may have a place without fail.

"In view of the tremendous success of the event last year there is no doubt but that many more fathers will attend this year. 'Dad's day' has already become one of Nebraska's traditions," declared a member of the committee.

The arrangements are in charge of the Vikings, who suggest that students reserve now the day when Nebraska "dads" take possession of the campus.

Cadet Colonel From Other Schools Will Be Invited to Ball

Mr. Ray was extended the invitation by Maurice Henderson who is a cousin of Mr. Ray and a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

COUNCIL PROHIBITS UNLICENSED DRIVES

Townpeople and Students Must Secure Permission to Sell.

A warning to students and townpeople to get permits from the student council before conducting any drive sales campaign, or selling plan on the Nebraska campus was issued at a meeting of the student council Tuesday. The warning had particular reference to the selling of flags, ribbons, pins and flowers by organizations on the campus before the football games. Complaint against the unlicensed selling was registered with the council.

The only recognized selling of football souvenirs and Nebraska colors on the campus is in the hands of the W. A. A., according to the council and this organization is limited to the inside of the stadium where they have a complete concession.

Any individuals other than the W. A. A. who have anything to sell on the campus must apply to the council for permission or be asked to stay off the University campus. The council has been attempting to protect the students from unnecessary sales campaigns on the campus.

Permission was granted by the council for the sale of student directories on the campus on Thursday and Friday of this week.

PLAN RALLY AT STATION TODAY FOR GRID TEAM

Band and Cheer Leaders to Head Parade Through Business Section.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM LEAVES AT SAME TIME

A huge parade of students from the Armory to the Burlington station will take place at 1 o'clock today to send off Nebraska's fighting Cornhuskers and the cross country team, who leave for Columbia to meet the Missouri Tigers. The parade is to be headed by the University band and cheer leaders.

All students are urged to march in the parade and not to go individually to the station. The train leaves at 1:30 o'clock for Omaha where they will change to the Wabash. Speeches by members of the team and songs and yells by the students will feature the send-off at the station.

Members of the Innocents society are in charge of the parade and will conduct the line of students through the business section of town to the station. The Corncobs will assist. This will be the second send-off the Cornhuskers have had this year and every student is urged to help make it a big one.

The Missouri contest will be the last game the Huskers play until Notre Dame comes here the 10th of November for the Armistice day contest. The Cornhuskers take the road only once more after the Tiger contest, that being when they go to Ames to meet the Cyclones November 17. It is expected the freshman squad will make the trip to Ames.

"The send-off given the team two weeks ago when we went to Illinois was wonderful and I feel that the entire student body is supporting the team to the utmost and I would like to see a large delegation at the station tomorrow when we leave for the Tiger camp," was Captain Lewellen's comment.

It has been a long time custom to give Nebraska's athletic teams good send-offs when they have departed for foreign fields and every student should make it a personal duty to uphold this custom. The torchlight parade which has been a long time custom at Nebraska will be held the night before the Notre Dame game.

Reports from Missouri indicate that there will be plenty of Nebraska rooters in the stands when the Cornhuskers take the field against the Tigers. Nebraska played the Tigers in Lincoln last fall for the first time in a number of years and decisely deated the Missourians. Coach Dawson will predict nothing as to the outcome of Saturday's contest.
