

PLAYERS STAGE OPENING COMEDY THURSDAY NIGHT

John Dawson, L. C. Hawley and Harte Jenks Carry Leading Parts.

LARGE CROWD SEES "THREE WISE FOOLS"

"Three Wise Fools," a comedy by Austin Strong, and the opening production of the University Players, was presented before a crowd that filled the Temple Theater last night.

The plot of the play centered around three old bachelors, a financier, a judge and a doctor, who are settled in their habits of life. When the sweetheart of their younger days dies and wills her daughter to the three men, the action of the play begins. The escape of a convict who has sworn to kill the judge and a love affair between the girl and the nephew of the financier, serve to complicate the plot. After the convict has made an attempt on the life of the judge, the girl is suspected of aiding him to escape and it is the proving of her innocence that brings the action to a climax.

The parts of the "Three Wise Fools" were carried by John Dawson, L. C. Hawley and Harte Jenks. The performance of Mr. Dawson as Theodore Findley was especially effective. Marguerite Munger and Harold Felton were good as the lovers.

The complete cast follows: Theodore Findley—John Dawson. Dr. Richard Gaunt—L. C. Hawley. Hon. James Trumbull—Harte Jenks.

Miss Fairchild—Marguerite Munger. Mrs. Saunders—Marian Sargent. Gordon Schuyler—Harold Felton. Benny the Duck—Ralph Ireland. John Crawshaw—Morris Sutton. Poole—Dwight Merriam. Gray—Sutton Morris. Clancy—Edward Taylor. Mary—Dolores Boose.

The executive staff of the University Players are: Director, H. Alice Howell. Assistant director, Herbert Yenne. Stage manager, Joseph Thayer. Electrician, Paul. Master of properties, Ralph Ireland.

The first meeting of the A.S.A.E. was held at the Agricultural Engineering building, Thursday morning. This meeting was the first organized attempt to extend the membership of the society this year.

Nebraskan Writer Goes With Team

In accordance with the Nebraskan's policy of giving its readers first-hand "dope" at all times on the "Fighting Cornhusker" football team, the paper is sending a special representative to the Missouri-Nebraska game.

He will send back a special wire report of the game Saturday night, so that the readers of Sunday's Nebraskan will be treated to all the highlights and features of the Tiger game.

NOVEMBER 7 IS DATE SET FOR BIZAD DAY

Program Includes Football Game, Dance, Contest and Parade.

Bizad Day will be held Wednesday, November 7. This is an annual affair of the College of Business Administration. At this time the University Commercial club has succeeded in obtaining permission from the Dean to hold an open day.

All students registered in the College of Business Administration will be excused from classes for the entire day.

A parade will form at 9 o'clock in front of the Social Science building Wednesday morning, and proceed to one of the parks, the exact location of which will be announced later. Events will be held for both men and women. The traditional fat men's race, the barrel race, the potato race, and the greater part of the morning will be taken up with such events. A boxing contest will be held in addition to the above mentioned events.

Dinner will be held in the park and preparations are under way to provide a killing feast.

Ag. vs. Bizads. Ernest Raun, chairman of athletics, is now making arrangements for a football game between the College of Business Administration and the College of Agriculture. Those students who saw the game last year between these colleges will remember it as a hair-raiser.

Rex Reese will have charge of the dance which will wind up the day. This dance will be held at the Chamber of Commerce and the Nebraskans have been engaged for the occasion. Several stunts will be provided, for during the dance. The Bizad quartet will make its debut and render some harmony.

First Held in 1921. Bizad Day was first held in 1921 under the leadership of Harry LaTowsky and has remained a tradition since that date. Kenneth Cozier had charge of it last year.

Under the direction of Dietrich Dierks it is hoped that this will be the biggest year for Bizad Day and the preparations which are under way are making for a larger attendance than before.

Last year the adversities of weather went toward a drop in the attendance and unless such misfortune occurs this year, the whole college will be on hand to help make fun.

Dierks has several surprises in store for the Bizads which will go toward creating an atmosphere of enjoyment.

Bizad Day is undoubtedly the biggest affair in the list of the Business Administration College. Dean Le Rossignol will be present as well as the professors of the College.

Rummage Sale Clears One Hundred Dollars

Over $100 was cleared at the Y. W. C. A. rummage sale on O street, which opened Monday morning under the auspices of the conference committee of the organization.

Twenty co-eds each day give voluntary service at the shop to help raise the fund for sending three official delegates to New York city, where the conference will be held next summer.

The Y. W. C. A. budget provides for a part of the sum necessary to send the delegates, and this campaign will be held in the near future. The conference staff under Lila Wyman supplements this budget by earning money at the various sales held throughout the year.

Kansas Wins Moral Victory Uncle Jimmy Husker Declares

"I see that the Jayhawks won a moral victory Saturday," said the Old Grad.

Uncle Jimmy looked up with his quizzical grin. "Moral victory, eh? Well, I guess that's right. It only goes to show how easy it is to win some sort of victory. I didn't see the game—the first Kansas game I've missed for years and years—but from the newspaper accounts I judge that the present generation of Jayhawkers are still delighted with moral victories. And of course it was a moral victory—you know that a physical licking chronologically precedes a moral victory.

"But I guess I shouldn't say very much. I didn't attend the game. You see Joe called up Friday night and said that the ducks were coming down. With true Nebraska assurance of certain victory over our lowly neighbors I slipped out to the club house. The ducks should have been there but they weren't and so I spent the morning looking for the northern flight.

"About 1:15 I couldn't stand it any longer. I'd have given a whole lot to have been out in my seat watching the old game. The best I could do was to use Joe's radio. And say, I could hear the band and every yell—almost hear the signals. The chap reporting from the stadium made a real game of it. I could fairly see Noble, the Dewitzes, Lewellen and Locke crashing through and around and I could sense the crashing drive of the line.

"I hadn't a worry in the world. My pipe was going good. The wood fire in the old cook stove cheerily crackled an accompaniment to the snap of the yardage that the Huskers were reeling off. I couldn't see anything but a big run away, yet the half passed without a score. The third quarter would see the rout started. And it did. Noble and Lewellen and the Dewitzes carried the ball yard-by yard to the Jayhawk goal. It was twenty, fifteen, ten yards and seven and four, and then—Noble carries the ball—buzzzz, a-bang! and silence. I hurriedly jiggled the adjustments but could get nothing. The battery was dead. And there I was. Of course I was sure we'd win the game and I was warm all over with pride in the way the team was going.

"Along about 8 o'clock I couldn't stand it any longer. I just naturally had to know. I telephoned from the farm house and found that Kansas had succeeded in tying our boys. You see at that time I'd not yet (Continued on Page 4)

"DAD'S DAY" ENDORSED BY CHANCELLOR AVERY

Urges All Students to Co-operate in Making Success of Undertaking.

"Dad's Day" is a mighty fine thing," declared Chancellor Avery Thursday afternoon, "and I sincerely hope that the students in the University will give the closest co-operation possible to those organizations sponsoring the event. I thoroughly approve of the idea, and believe that it will meet with only the heartiest response from Nebraskans," he concluded.

"Dad's Day" last year was an unqualified success, according to members of the committee, and more than 1,000 dads took possession of the campus that day.

This year it comes November 10, the date of one of the important football games—the Notre Dame game—and a large increase in attendance is expected.

Members of the committee suggest that the day be set aside now in order that nothing may interfere with preparations being made.

Arrangements are in charge of the Vikings, and definite plans will be made soon, according to Art Whitworth, president of the organization.

Sisters "Picnic" in Ellen Smith Hall

About a hundred twenty girls, most of them freshmen, attended the Big and Little Sister picnic Thursday evening in Ellen Smith hall. The picnic had been planned as a weenie roast to be held in Antelope park, but was changed to Ellen Smith hall on account of the weather.

Many of the little sisters went without their big sisters, and showed an interest in meeting the upper classwomen.

Dinner was served cafeteria style, after which the girls danced until 8 o'clock.

Members of the senior advisory board had charge of the picnic.

BAND HOLDS FIRST BANQUET WEDNESDAY

Enrollment of Seventy-five Pieces is Largest in History of University.

The University of Nebraska band held its initial banquet at the Grand hotel Wednesday evening. The enrollment of seventy-five pieces is the largest in the history of the University.

President Wendell Brown acted as toastmaster. In his address of welcome to the freshman of the band he told them of the work ahead.

Short talks were made by Drum-Major Schickley, Ervin, Weller, Professor W. T. Quick and Hoaglund.

In the main speech Professor Quick, director of music at the University, thanked the band members for their co-operation this year. He said that the material was far superior to that of other years and the band was farther advanced at this time than ever before.

The list of new men will be printed in Sunday's edition.

Lewellen Brands Rumors as False

In answer to some very assinine rumors floating around concerning fraternity feeling on the varsity, I want to make the following statement:

There positively is no fraternity cliquing on the team. In Saturday's game on the one yard line Dave Noble wanted Rufe Dewitz to carry it. Is that fraternity feeling? As captain of the team I ordered Rufe to send Dave into the line on the third play and Herb on the last play. Little Herb hit with everything he had and fought to put the ball over.

Instead of finding a bad spirit on the team look for it outside. We're Nebraska varsity men and our hearts are of varsity calibre. The strongest fraternity in Nebraska is the football squad.

LAWS HERE SPEECH GIVEN BY PARRIOTT

Declares That Graduates Will Know More Law Than Practitioners.

"When you graduate from this school you will know more substantive law than one-half the practitioners of this state," asserted W. C. Parriott, former judge of the district court, in an address Tuesday evening to Delta Theta Phi and a number of freshmen in the law college.

The value of thorough knowledge in the substantive law was the subject of Mr. Parriott's talk. He also gave the students advice on the selection of a location after graduation.

"If the man who is in the law school could realize the necessity of knowing the theoretical side of the law, he wouldn't mind hard study," stated Mr. Parriott. "Though you may feel shaky about the practice side of it, when you get out of college you will find it easy enough to pick up.

"There was never a time in the history of the world when there was a greater opportunity for the graduate of the law school than now," he continued. "There are great probabilities that you will make your mark more quickly in a small town than in a city. When you get a reputation as a good lawyer you can change your location.

"Get more out of the law school than mere theory of the law. Be sure and establish in your community the real true meaning of business integrity. Go to all the public functions of the town such as patriotic rallies and picnics," said Mr. Parriott. "Be a part of the community."

Grid-Graph Reports Will Start at 2:30

The grid-graph leased by the N club arrived yesterday and is being installed in the Armory. Reports from the game will start about 2:30. Admission will be 25c.

There will be enough seats to accommodate 3,000 spectators. The cheer leaders and the band will be present to make the event as like a football game as possible.

Cornhusker Calls For Special Writers

Writers are needed on the Cornhusker for both the athletic and military sections. Five or six persons can be used in each department, according to Robert F. Craig, editor-in-chief.

Applications should be turned in at the Cornhusker office in the basement of University hall.

Rally to Give Team Send-off Not Held

Because the train which carried the Nebraska football team to Missouri was forty minutes late, the rally which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon was not held.

Those who had gathered at the armory to see the team off, cheered before they departed. Quite a few students went down to the station, although the time for the departure of the train was not very definite.

ALL STUDENTS ARE EXPECTED TO PAY PLEDGES

Every Payment Should Be Made by Last Day of Campaign.

MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION APPEALS TO LOYALTY

Several hundred have made the second payment on the stadium pledges made a year ago. Thursday was the second day of the voluntary payment campaign. Practically all students who made pledges last year and who have returned to school this year are expected to make their payments before the end of the campaign next Wednesday.

Although several hundred students have made their stadium payments already, unless a many more make payments within the remaining days of the campaign the memorial association will be greatly disappointed in the attitude of Nebraska students towards the promise which they made a year ago.

The association said Thursday evening, "Nebraska students have always stood by their word. We surely expect that they will not go back on the promise which they made to us."

Students Made Promise

"Nebraska students, when they volunteered to pay $105,000 of the cost of building the Nebraska Memorial Stadium, made a promise to the memorial association. We have always had faith in the Nebraska students. That is why we went to them first when we started to raise money for the stadium. We sincerely believe that they will come through clean, that they will keep the promises they made to us.

"We regard the stadium pledges as promises. Of course the pledges are obligatory, but we prefer to have Nebraska students pay their pledges voluntarily, rather than to be compelled to force payment out of them. We ask them to make their original pledges voluntarily. We ask them to make pledges that were far below the average pledge of other schools. We conducted our entire campaign on a voluntary basis. We hope to secure our payments on the same basis. And because we did get our pledges voluntarily, we expect little trouble in collecting the remaining payments."

All Second Payments Due

Not only are the second payments on the student pledges due October 24, but the pledges of all members (Continued on Page 4)

TURKISH PRINCESS VISITS UNIVERSITY

Greatly Impressed by Beauty of College of Agriculture Campus.

Princess Lela Fotiades of Smyrna, Turkey, visited the campus of the University of Nebraska Wednesday with Yeshwantrao P. Bhosale, of Kolhapur, India.

She was greatly pleased with the College of Agriculture campus and made a passing remark that it was the first campus of the kind she had seen.

She spent some time in looking over the buildings at the Agricultural College and admired the dairy herd and the beef cattle.

When the princess was given a chance to examine some copies of the Daily Nebraskan she looked them over carefully and said, "This is just the kind of paper that a stranger, who wants to know about the University in a short time, should read. After reading it, I knew very well what the University was doing and what was going on in the University circles. I recommend the paper to strangers."

"The University buildings," she added, "are magnificent and the campuses are beautiful."

She further says, "The city of Lincoln is a calm and quiet place and is best suited for the purpose of an University town. The houses, though small, are nice and cozy and charming and pleasing to the eye."

During her stay in Lincoln, Princess Lela Fotiades was a guest of Yeshwantrao P. Bhosale.
