LAST CHANCE TO PAY PLEDGES AT BOOTH IS TODAY

Memorial Stadium Pledges Must Be Paid in Law Building After Today.

STUDENTS SLOW IN MAKING PAYMENTS

Today is the last day on which Nebraska students, subscribers to the memorial stadium, may pay their second installments on their pledges at the booth on the corner of Twelfth and R streets. After this evening, students will be required to make their payments at the office of the memorial association, 106 Law building—the booth, which has been open all this week for the convenience of students, will close.

Cards were mailed from the office of the memorial association Monday morning to all students of the University who have not yet paid their stadium pledges. The cards reminded the students that the stadium pledges are due, and asked that they pay their obligation at the stadium booth before Tuesday evening.

Pledges Due October 24.

The stadium pledges were payable October 24. In spite of the fact that the booth has been open throughout the week and that numerous reminders in the form of signs around the campus have been placed before the students, many subscribers have yet to clear up their pledges.

Progress of the campaign to collect stadium pledges has not been satisfactory to date, stadium officials have been frank to admit. Students seemingly fail to realize that they are obligated to meet their pledges now. The pledges constitute promissory notes and are payable on six months after date of letting the contract for the stadium. That contract was let last April 24, and now the stadium pledges are due. Students must make these payments now.

Booth for Students.

The Nebraska Memorial Association has used the booth at the corner of Twelfth and R streets for the convenience of the students. It was believed that students would prefer to stop at the booth to pay their pledges than to be required to walk over to the Law building to meet their obligations.

"We have used the stadium booth on the corner as a convenience to the students. It has required that the memorial association take at least one person out of the office at all hours of the day in order that he be at the booth to take the pledges when the students wished to pay them. As a result, work in the memorial office has become heavier than it would otherwise have been. It was not for our convenience, rather it was at our inconvenience, and for the convenience of the students that the booth was run," the head of the association says.

Students should make their stadium pledge payments today in the booth. Tomorrow the booth will be gone, and payments will have to be made in 106 Law building.

To Organize Branch of Y. W. on Ag Campus

Plans to carry the work of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. to the Agricultural campus are being rapidly completed by both of these organizations.

A vesper service, lead by Lois Jackson and attended by sixty girls, was held Tuesday evening on the Agricultural campus for the purpose of starting a branch of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Appleby talked on the need of such an organization.

Radio Station Open Thursday Evening

Every Thursday evening, except on holidays, beginning November 1st, the University radio room will be open to visitors from 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock. Operators will be in attendance to explain and operate the receiving equipment. The station is in room 116 of the Electrical Engineering building.

Need Women for Guardian Positions

"If University girls would accept the responsibility of being Camp Fire guardians, the enrollment of Lincoln Camp Fire girls could be doubled," Miss Lola Duncan, Lincoln Camp Fire executive, said in an interview Monday afternoon. "The great advantage in giving each girl a chance to be in a Camp Fire lies in the fact that so many children do not have such advantages in the home." Any girls who wish to be guardians see Miss Lola Duncan, Fraternity building.

BUREAU FINDS WORK FOR MANY STUDENTS

Y. M. Places 225 Men in Positions During Month of September.

The Y. M. C. A. Employment Bureau, in charge of Bennett S. Martin, employment secretary for the Y.M.C.A., has been busy during the past two months securing work for University students.

During the month of September 440 students made application to the bureau for work, and 225 were given positions through the efforts of the bureau. The approximate earnings of the students during the month is $3,500.

Most of the work secured for students by the bureau is for board and room, only. Very few jobs were secured this month in clerical or stenographical lines. The bureau receives several part-time jobs every day, and is placing students as fast as the places are found. Several jobs are now open in the selling field on the commission basis.

The bureau co-operates with the employment committee of the Lincoln Lions club. Early this fall the Lions club made a drive in Lincoln to secure positions for students who are in need of work. These positions are now being filled by the Y. M. C. A. employment bureau.

Weaver Returns From Colorado Conference

Professor J. E. Weaver has just returned from Colorado Springs, where he attended a conference of ecologists of the Carnegie Institute of Washington. Doctor Weaver, in conjunction with Dr. F. E. Clements, has just completed the manuscript for a book on "Experimental Vegetation," and another with Prof. F. E. Jean of Greeley, Colorado, on "Root Variation and Crop Yield Under Different Degrees of Irrigation." Both will be published by the Institution and should be ready for distribution by spring.

Will Give Freshmen Chance to Subscribe to Memorial Stadium

Freshman Week is November 5 to 10.

This week has been set aside for the Nebraska freshman, and is designed to give Cornhusker first-year students a real opportunity to show the Husker spirit. But how will this be done, ask the Freshmen?

Through the consent of the Nebraska Alumni Association, which is in charge of the great Nebraska Memorial stadium, every freshman in school will be given an opportunity to subscribe to the new stadium, and thus to have an active part in the building and perpetuating of Nebraska's greatest tradition, the Memorial stadium.

Perhaps the freshman, after viewing the stadium for the first time, or after watching the grid teams battle on the new field, has had a disappointing feeling, realizing that he never had a part in the development of that great monument to the past and to the present at Nebraska. He has wanted to be "in" on the stadium, so that when he goes home and tells the home folks all about the stadium, he can say, "Well, I, like all the other Cornhuskers, had a share in the building."

After consulting with the Innocents and other societies who felt that Nebraska freshmen should be given an opportunity to share in the sta-

STUDENT RELIEF WORKER TO VISIT NEBRASKA UNI

Conrad Hoffman Will Come to University Monday Before Thanksgiving.

TO TELL OF CONDITIONS IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

Conrad Hoffman, prominent in student relief work, will visit Nebraska campus the Monday before Thanksgiving. He comes to discuss the European situation with Nebraska students.

His first practical contact with European conditions was in the German prison camps where he worked among the allied prisoners. It was here that he organized the educational classes which proved a relief to prisoners. His work in the prison camps began in 1914. It was conducted in such a manner that the German government did not ask him to leave even after America entered the war.

At the close of the war, he directed his efforts to relieve the suffering among the European students. He is now head of the European student relief work. He has been decorated by every European government. Every continental student is as familiar with the name Hoffman as every Belgium child is with the name Hoover.

Mr. Hoffman has been allowed a six weeks' leave to visit America. Part of his time he must devote to his business, the student friendship fund, but the rest of his time he is devoting to the discussion of European conditions.

Mr. Hoffman is a native Kansan and a graduate of Kansas University. Later he was Y. M. C. A. secretary there. In 1914, at the beginning of the war, he offered his services, and because of his ability to speak German he was given this work in the German prison camps.

Y. W. Gives Programs at State Institutions

Under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. social service committee of which Margaret Hager is chairman, programs are being given at all of the state homes and institutions within the vicinity of Lincoln.

Recently Priscilla Van DeCar sponsored an entertainment which was given at the state reformatory. The program, consisting of readings and musical selections, was greatly appreciated. The children responded by singing. The next program will be given at the Tabitha home.

The Salvation Army today is operating in seventy-eight countries and colonies in the world.

What the Y. M. C. A. Does

- Introduces new students to the University with greeting committees, stag-fests, Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. reception.
- Sponsors University night.
- Lists rooms and serves as information headquarters for men.
- Publishes the "N" Book and Student Directory jointly with the Y. W. C. A.
- Operates University employment bureau.
- Sends out gospel teams.
- Brings to campus recognized religious and social leaders.
- Offers forums and discussion groups on campus, social and economic questions.

TO STAGE UNIVERSITY NIGHT IN AUDITORIUM

Hope to Accommodate All Who Wish to See Skit-night.

The city auditorium has been selected for the production of the 1924 University night, according to an announcement made yesterday by Welch Pogue, general chairman of the Y. M. C. A. committee in charge of the traditional skit night.

"The auditorium is large enough to accommodate everyone who cares to be present at the University of Nebraska's annual night of fun," Mr. Pogue declared. "The acoustic properties of the structure are excellent, but improve when the building is filled with people. Judging from the audiences of last year when the show was produced simultaneously at the Orpheum and the Temple theaters, it is more than likely that ideal acoustic conditions will be attained in the auditorium."

Skits illustrating many phases of campus life and "take-offs" on both students and faculty members form the program for University night, one of the oldest annual events for everyone connected with the University.

TO DISCUSS KLAN AT WORLD FORUM MEETING

Dr. W. H. Riley to Speak on "Klan and Americanism" November 7.

The second meeting of the World Forum club on the ku klux klan will be held Wednesday, November 7 instead of today. This change in plan was made necessary by the finance campaign luncheon of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. which will be held today, and which will occupy the room at the Grand Hotel usually used by the club. Dr. W. H. Riley, university pastor of the Congregational church will speak at this meeting November 7 on the subject, "The Klan and Americanism."

The address of last week by a national organizer of the klan has provoked considerable discussion. After his address he was questioned by interested students for nearly two hours.

The meeting originally planned for tomorrow was to present the other side of the question, and it is the hope of the committee that those who attended the first lecture will also attend the second.

The World Forum luncheons are conducted by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. committee under joint chairmen, Agnes Kessler, and Adrian Edgar. The purpose of these luncheons is to acquaint students with current problems.

The committee in giving the student body a chance to hear both sides of the klan question does it for the information of the students and not to spread propaganda.

Rex Smith, ex '23, was married to Harriet Wilburn of Lincoln last night at 7 o'clock in Council Bluffs, Iowa. They will take a short wedding trip to Denver. Upon their return they will live at the Lennox apartments. Mr. Smith is employed by the Magee Clothing Co. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

In 1924 Palaeoptus, Dartmouth's senior student governing council, today went on record as being vigorously opposed to the drinking of intoxicating liquors by undergraduates.

Grace Davey Elected To Honorary Society

Grace Davey has been elected to fill a vacancy in Vestels of the Lamp, honorary organization for girls of the Arts and Science College. A dinner was held at Ellen Smith hall October 23 at which all the alumni were invited and vacancies in the organization were filled. There is still one place left vacant. Miss Davey is a junior member of Phi Mu.

Y. W. C. A. ACTIVE IN WORK AMONG CHINESE

University Organization Conducts Schools for Oriental Women

Missionary activities of the University Y. W. C. A. center about the promotion of recreation, health and sanitation in China. The work for the University is carried on by Miss Vera Barger, and her helpers who are located at Fuchow, China.

Miss Barger was graduated from the University in 1911, after specializing in physical education. During the World War she was at Camp Funston as recreational director, and since that time she has been in China, where she is principal of the Y. W. C. A. normal school for physical education. Before the establishment of this school, there was no place in China where women could get physical education. Now there are a few other schools which have been started by women who have graduated from Miss Barger's school.

Each year the women of the University raise funds to support Miss Barger in her work among the Chinese women. The money is given as a memorial to Miss Grace Coppock, another Nebraska graduate who was one of the national executives of the Y. W. C. A. in China. Miss Coppock helped in the building up of the Y. W. C. A. in China and in preparing the way for physical education. She died several years ago, just before the physical training among Chinese women was begun.

Sanitation and the promotion of health are included with physical education in China, because there is need for training along those lines. The Bible is taught in connection with this other teaching, and a Bible study group is formed from each recreational group.

BIBLE STUDY COURSES OFFERED BY Y. W. C. A.

Six Classes Included on Program of Bible Study Committee.

Six courses in Bible study are planned by the Y. W. C. A. Bible study staff. The courses will open November 7. Alice Beavers, chairman of the Bible study committee, has charge of securing instructors.

Miss Erma Appelby will conduct a class on "The Prophets and Their Relation to the Present."

"The Worker and His Bible" is the course given by Reverend Arthur A. Brooks. Other courses to be conducted by city pastors: Science and Religion, General Survey of the Bible, Power of Personality, Social Principles and the Building of Character.

The Agricultural campus Y. W. C. A. will have one class this year. Mildred Daly is in charge of the course.

The first issue of The Vagabond, new Indiana University literary and humorous magazine, will appear next week.

DRIVES FOR Y. W. AND Y. M. FUNDS START TODAY

Not to Be Conducted on Campus and Contributions Are Voluntary.

TO INTERVIEW EACH STUDENT IN SCHOOL

The annual drive of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. for finances to carry out their work for the coming year will be launched tomorrow. Both of these organizations receive money from the Community Chest but the amounts are about half of what they need to carry on their work. The students are expected to contribute the rest of the budget. Each student of the University will be interviewed by a member of the committees and can then contribute whatever amount he wishes. The drives will not be made on the campus and all contributions will be voluntary.

Committees for Drive.

The Y. W. drive will be under the general direction of Frances Mentzer. The captains working under her direction are: Margaret Williams, Mildred Daly, Frances McChesney, Mariel Flynn, Arvilla Johnson, Desma Renner, Margaret Wattles, Helen Wattles, Helen Guthrie, Millicent Jacke, Pauline Gellatly, Julia Sheldon, Frances Wientz, Dorothy Davis, Jessie Sutter, Rosanna Williams, Ruth Wells, Laura Whelpley, Charlotte Baker, Eleanor Flatemersch, Dorothy Dougan.

The Y. M. C. A. drive will be made by committees under the following heads:

General chairman, Bennett S. Martin.

Division heads, Grant Lantz, Merle Loder, Wendell Berge and Raymond Eller.

Captains under Lantz—Hugh McLaughlin, Jay Hepperly, Don White, Thomas McCague.

Captains under Eller—Crawford Pollmer, Raymond Lewis, Keith Tyler, Clairs Fairchild and Royce West. Captains under Loder—Wayne Packard, Harold Edgerton, Judson Meyers, Earl Smith and John Kleven.

Captains under Berge—Wendell Brown, John Ricker, Monroe Gleason, Blanchard Anderson.

Plans for Y. M. Drive.

A preliminary dinner will be held tonight at 6 o'clock at the Grand hotel. There will be a lunch every noon, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, at this hotel during the drive. These dinners will be for the entire force of workers including division chairmen, captains and team workers.

The organizations do all types of welfare work among the students. Some of the work that the organizations do is publish the "N" Book and the Student Directory, all work being done without pay; operates only employment bureau for University men which last year filled 1,196 jobs; operates information bureau; offers with the Y. W. C. A. forum and discussion groups; conducts special conferences on religion and brings recognized leaders in social and religious thought to the campus; sends University men into communities for definite social and religious work; co-operates with churches; sponsors the Cosmopolitan club and the World's Christian Student Federation; provides attractive club rooms in the Temple; sponsors Thanksgiving and Christmas parties and other events for students. All contributions from students will go directly into the work and will not be used for overhead expense so every contributor can feel that his money is really making this work possible.

Y. W. Must Raise $1,700

The seventeenth annual Y. W. C. A. finance campaign will be staged by two hundred girls working under twenty team captains. Seventeen hundred dollars must be raised according to the budget in the three days of the drive. Membership in Y. W. C. A. does not call for a definite fee payable at the time of joining but each member is held responsible for the sum she is able to contribute. The nominal contribution is a new feature of the membership program which has been conducted by a committee under Ruth Small in a personal way entirely distinctive from the campus.
