

BLOCK-BRIDGE STAGES BABY INTERNATIONAL

Livestock Show on Agricultural College Campus Set for Saturday.

The Block and Bridle club will stage the annual Baby International Livestock show in the judging pavilion on the Agricultural College campus Saturday evening at 7:30. The stock on display at the show will be among the best exhibited by any agricultural institution in the country, club members say, and has been put into excellent condition by the students.

The Baby International, so-called because it is a reproduction of the world-famed national show held yearly in Chicago, is second only to the Farmers' Fair in importance on the Ag calendar. The proceeds of the coming week-end affair will be used to send the stock judging team to the national event and also to cover the expense of the trips the team makes during the school year.

The public is invited to attend the show and plans are nearly completed for one of the biggest exhibits in the history of the school. Students are in full charge of the show and during the display enthusiasts will be entertained by the Ag college comedians.

Colonel K. C. Fouts, a former Ag student and Nebraska football man has been chosen to act as chief judge of the exhibited stock. Fouts is at present in the stock business in Cummings county and is known as one of the best livestock judges in the state. Each student who has prepared an animal for exhibition will be graded upon his work, and prizes for first, second, and third places will be given.

HOME ECONOMICS STUDENTS TO MEET

Miss Edna White of Merrill-Palmer School Is Principal Speaker.

Miss Edna White, of the Merrill-Palmer School of Detroit, will address a special meeting of all home economics' students at 11 o'clock Thursday, November 1, in Agricultural hall. All girls taking home economics will be excused to hear Miss White.

The Merrill-Palmer School, of which Miss White is a director, is noted for its work in nutrition and homemaking. Special attention has been paid to the important work of the education and training of the pre-school child. Dr. Helen Thompson Wooley, the noted psychologist is on the staff of the school.

Miss White is a graduate of the University of Illinois and for some time was head of the home economics department of the University of Ohio. Three years ago she became a director of the Merrill-Palmer school.

Realizing the value of co-operation with the various home economics departments throughout the country, Miss White arranged to have a few of the outstanding seniors from various schools take a semester's work at this school. Nebraska was one of the first schools to be given this privilege.

the Cornhuskers for the Notre Dame game on November 10. The frosh are being tutored in Notre Dame formations by three coaches, Freshman Coach Farley Young, Scout Coach Owen Frank, and Captain Hagan. Every day they are drilled to perfection in a few Irish plays with which they attempt to tear up the varsity line in the scrimmage that concludes practice each night.

During a forty-five minute scrimmage yesterday the freshmen more than divided honors with the varsity in yardage gained. The freshmen using Notre Dame plays on which they are being drilled by Coaches Frank and Young, made gains frequently through the varsity line and were especially successful in forward passing, seeming to toss the ball where it was least expected. The freshmen made many of their gains with a cross buck play used by Notre Dame this year.

Varsity Gains Easily.

It must be born in mind, however, that the freshmen scored against the varsity yesterday only by putting forth their best, while the varsity used a few of their choice plays and broke through the frosh line easily. Competition is becoming keener and keener among the yearlings as the time draws near for the annual freshman trip with the varsity. Some twenty-five or more freshman who were most faithful in their work will reap the reward of a season's battering at the hands of the varsity. The trip this year will be to Ames.

The villagers all called it choir practice; but that probably wasn't what Dan Cupid called it.

Short Courses in Agriculture Planned

An extensive program of short courses for the winter months is being prepared by the College of Agriculture, which will soon be published with dates and other data.

A four-weeks' course in general agriculture will be offered late in January. The practical information contained in this course has in previous years brought a large enrollment, and many farmers and their sons are expected to take advantage of it this year.

The auto-tractor mechanics course, also four weeks in length, which teaches the care and operation of machinery, will probably draw a great many students as well as professional mechanics, according to the officials in charge.

Problems in poultry production and dairy manufacturing will be taken up in several one-week courses.

Hardships an't be avoided when it takes almost 2,000 bushels of wheat to buy a decent automobile.
