

HUSKERS TAKE LIGHT WORKOUT

Dave Noble Takes Rest Cure For His Injured Ankle.

SPORT WRITERS CLAIM IRISH TRAVEL-WORN

The fighting Cornhuskers, conquerors of the "world'er wonder team" from Notre Dame, carried on a light workout on the stadium field Monday afternoon in the first practice in preparation for the yearly game with Iowa State university at Ames next Saturday.

With the exception of Dave Noble, star halfback, the Husker squad is in good shape. Big Dave is suffering from a severe ankle bruise received in the game Saturday. An X-ray was taken of the limb at the Sanitarium by Dr. Oliver Everett and it was discovered that no bones were broken, but a severe wrench had been sustained and one of the bones slightly nicked. Dr. Everett's advice was to keep him off his feet for a few days. He said he could strap it up in such a way as to enable him to get in the Ames game Saturday.

Dave received the injury in the first half of the contest and between halves it was wrapped and he returned to the fray, getting for himself more glory by nabbing the pass from Rufe Dewitz that spelled the second touchdown.

Eastern Writers' Alibi.

The eastern writers just can't give Nebraska the credit she deserves for winning one of the greatest games in the history of the school. They offer excuses for Notre Dame that she was train-worn and that she was suffering from a hard schedule and several other details, anything suffices if it acts as an excuse for the "wonder team." Where they get that "train-worn" stuff we can't quite figure out.

Surely a ride from South Bend, Ind., wouldn't knock out thirty-seven players so bad that they couldn't hit their stride. They have played their last two games at home, meeting Purdue and Georgia Tech. Speaking of "Train Weariness," Nebraska has been to Missouri since Notre Dame has left her home lot so that argument is almost annihilated. And turning to their second excuse, about suffering from a hard schedule, surely they don't consider the Purdue game a hard one after a Notre Dame sport writer made a statement like this: "Purdue game just a warmup."

The game with Purdue was more than a mere warmup in making ready for Nebraska. Rockne sent his second and third stringers against Purdue running up a one-sided score. The Notre Dame regulars were in action only a few minutes, just long enough for a workout in preparation of the job of getting even with Nebraska for its last year's defeat.

That argument won't hold very much water.

It is up to the football followers of Nebraska to believe in their own convictions rather than take in the excuses offered by the eastern sport writers.

The team has won one of the greatest games in its history but it still realizes the fact that three hard games are still on the slate.

Dr. Condra Is Injured When Car Turns Over

(University News Service.)
With the steering gear of his car frozen fast from water splashed from the road, Dr. George E. Condra, director of the conservation and survey division, was severely injured about the head recently while attempting to cover rough ground on Buffalo Creek in Dundy county while checking up soil surveys. The impact when his car turned over on its side threw Dr. Condra against the corner of the car and knocked him unconscious. Revived by the storm he walked to a farmhouse, where the cuts and bruises were attended.

The following day Dr. Condra continued his work in making the final report of soil survey, and is now almost recovered.

In twelve days Dr. Condra completed the examination of the reports of Dundy, Chase, Lincoln, Frontier and Hays counties. On the way to the western part of the state he addressed the Women's club of Hastings on "Nebraska Beautiful."

Major Compliments Cadets on Review

"I was very well pleased with the appearance of the University cadet corps at the review Saturday morning," stated Major Sidney Erickson, commandant of cadets, last night.

"They were commended highly by Major-General Duncan, commander of the seventh corps area, who spoke to the cadets. The whole military staff was greatly pleased with the parade, and considering the fact that the freshmen had only had fifteen hours of drill, they did splendidly."

FRESHMAN POW WOW TO AROUSE SPIRIT

First Year Students Will Organize to Prepare for Olympics.

Four hundred first-year students are expected to attend the first annual freshmen pow wow which is being held in the memorial stadium Friday evening under the auspices of the Green Goblins. From the ticket sales of the first day, everything points towards a successful "pep" meeting, and an exceptional meal is promised all attendants.

The purpose of the pow wow is to unite the freshmen class for the coming Olympic games and the representatives of the green capsters in the coming event will be announced at the rally. The tryouts are being held this week and winning representatives are expected to be found. The committee in charge of the pow wow has engaged an eight-piece orchestra to furnish music during the meal and other entertainment is in store.

Green Goblins Sell Tickets.

Tickets are being sold by the freshmen Olympic committee members and the Green Goblins themselves. The price of admission has been set at 25 cents and plans have been completed to serve the meal in cafeteria style. The menu will include wieners and buns, coffee and doughnuts, pickles, apples and pie.

A good speaker has been secured and freshmen will be given many new ideas concerning the Olympic contests at the rally.

All Fraternity houses have been requested to close their tables Friday evening and the pow wow will start at 6 o'clock.

VARSITY SWIMMERS TAKE FIRST WORKOUT

Heavy Practice Will Start Soon to Whip Men into Shape.

The varsity swimming team started off the year yesterday with the first practice at the Y. M. C. A. Fifteen of the sixteen men who attended the meeting held last Thursday afternoon at the Armory were out. Coach Frank Adkins gave the men a light workout only. Heavy practice will start in a few days after the men limber up a bit.

Coach Adkins says he is still short of men for fancy diving, plunging for distance, and distance swimming. The men who held these places on the team last year have graduated, and Adkins will probably have to develop some new men to take their places. In the other events there is a fine turnout and competition will be keen.

Coach Adkins wishes to stress the point that any man who wants to swim and make the team should come out for the practices any time. There is no red tape connected with attendance, and selection of men on the team will be on the basis of merit alone. The regular practice nights are Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 5:30 to 6:30. The men who signed up for the team have also agreed to swim one hour on the days that the team does not meet.

The schedule when it is finally completed will include three meets, and there is a possibility that it will consist of four. Negotiations are in progress now with Ames, Kansas Aggies, Washington and the Omaha Athletic club.

The fifteen men who reported last night for the initial practice are: Dan Reed, Jack Hunton, Frank Hunton, Herbert Elrich, L. R. Schildneck, B. Ilgen, Theo. Matzner, Kenival Martin, N. Foote, E. G. Steinheimer, P. E. Popejoy, C. E. Simond, S. P. Mitchell, Lloyd P. Sheldneck and Ed Panck.

We Must Beat Ames

Nebraska won from a football team that has been called the greatest team in America—but that doesn't mean that Nebraska can win the remainder of her schedule on the momentum and prestige that she has gained.

That fight-and-concede-nothing attitude that the students took a week before the Notre Dame invasion and maintained until the game was over Saturday must not relax. There are three healthy football teams ahead that will have a reputation to gain and nothing to lose. They will be in exactly the same position that Nebraska was but a week ago—and they intend to duplicate the Cornhusker feat.

Ames looms up as a team that can take the measure of the Huskers if that student spirit and fight is not kept at the highest pitch. There are but three more weeks of football and it is for every student to resolve that those three weeks shall be as triumphant as the earlier part of the season has been. Fighting spirit will do it.

Let this be BEAT AMES week, let the next be BEAT SYRACUSE week, and finally BEAT KANSAS AGGIE week. To accomplish those three ends, there must be a wealth of fight from the students.

You have that determination in you. Show it for the next three weeks and the glory of the football world shall fall on the great team that stopped the wild, galloping Irish.

Craig Offers Jobs to Campus Satirists

Applications for positions on the student life section of the Cornhusker will be received during the next two days, according to Robert F. Craig, editor-in-chief. This year the section will be entirely revised and will give an account of student life all through the year.

In order to make the section as complete as possible students should begin handing in pictures immediately. A large staff will be needed in the basement of University hall. The whole staff will be announced by the editor in a few days.

PUBLISH UNIVERSITY TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

Names and Numbers Will Be Listed Alphabetically and by Departments.

The new University telephone directory will go to press Tuesday night. The physical plant has endeavored to make the directory according to the wishes of the departmental heads and is attempting to make it one of the most convenient telephone books yet published.

The new directory will have the usual alphabetical list, and also a complete departmental list, night phones, and a list of all deans with their respective colleges.

All departments upon the farm and city campus have had, not only a personal interview concerning the list, but have also been sent a copy for their approval and correction. Those departments which have so far neglected to send in their O. K. or a corrected list will have their departments printed as they now stand unless corrections are sent in this afternoon.

The physical plant wishes to thank all departments for their co-operation and assistance in the publishing of the directory and hopes that it will meet with their needs and approval.

ALUMNI OFFICE MAILED LITERATURE TO 15,000

Funds from Dues Are Used on Carry on Various Activities.

(University News Service)
The alumni office has just completed sending out over 15,000 pieces of literature to alumni and non-graduates, emphasizing the necessity for a strong association of Nebraska graduates and former students.

Funds from alumni-dues are used to publish the University Journal; maintain memorabilia of living and deceased alumni; organize, inform and help alumni clubs throughout the United States; assist class secretaries, prepare copy and edit alumni directories; plan and execute homecomings, alumni weeks and alumni meetings.

The association has a mailing list of 15,000 persons, which represents 19,000 alumni members. This is approximately 80 per cent of the total number of graduates of the University.

NEBRASKA DELEGATES TO GO IN TWO CARS

World Student Volunteer Convention to Be Held in Indianapolis.

Two special cars will carry the delegations from Nebraska colleges to the World Student Volunteer convention at Indianapolis December 29 to January 1.

Thirty delegates have been allotted to this University. Other Nebraska colleges are expected to increase their representation to almost 100. The delegation from the University will be chosen by a joint committee formed from the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets and the student volunteer band. On this committee the secretaries of the associations are ex-officio members.

Two thousand persons, including delegates from Mexico, Canada and many foreign countries, are expected to attend the convention. The inter-denominational problems of the world will be discussed at the meeting.

NUMBER OF CHURCH MEMBERS COMPUTED

Many Students Found to Be Members of Some Denomination.

(University News Service.)
From freshman registration slips giving personal information and from similar lists of last year the University pastors of the various churches have prepared a table showing the approximate representation of the several denominations at the University of Nebraska. Five hundred students have expressed no preference, but this does not imply that they have no religious leanings.

It is estimated that fully seventy per cent of the students belong to some church when they enter the University. The growth in strength of the churches has kept in proportion with the growth of the University; the Methodists lead by a large margin, Presbyterians are second, and Congregationalists are third. The list follows:

Methodist	1200
Presbyterian	800
Congregational	600
Christian	525
Lutheran	500
Catholic	325
Episcopalian	300
Baptist	275
United Brethren	100
Christian Science	75
Unitarians	60
Adventist	10
Jewish	40
Friends	3
Latter Day Saints	3
Dunkards	2

Dr. Paul Harrison is the representative of the Y. M. C. A. in Arabia and is well known for his leadership. Walter Judd, of the Omaha school of Medicine, is national chairman of Student Volunteers.

Ask Dean Ferguson to Detroit Dinner

(University News Service.)

Dean O. J. Ferguson of the College of Engineering has received an invitation to a dinner on November 23 at Detroit in honor of Dean Mortimer E. Cooley, of the College of Engineering at the University of Michigan. Distinguished engineers from all parts of the country have been invited to this meeting sponsored by the Detroit Engineering society.

Dean Cooley was granted the degree of Doctor of Engineering by the University of Nebraska in 1911 when he delivered an address at the dedication of Mechanical Engineering building.

Dean Ferguson has sent regrets to the committee in charge for his inability to attend.

EVERY SORORITY GIRL IN SCHOOL PLEDGES

Freshmen of Sixteen Fraternities Pledge 100 Per Cent to Stadium.

Every sorority freshman in school has pledged a unit towards the stadium, according to the check on the drive made by the committee yesterday. The first year men of sixteen fraternities also passed the 100 per cent mark.

Huntington Reports on Activities Among Methodist Students

(University News Service.)

Seventeen hundred sixty-two pieces of mail, nearly all of them to students, have been sent from the office of the Methodist University pastor, Dr. Harry F. Huntington, according to this report on November 1 to the Trustees of Wesley Foundation of Nebraska for the first six weeks of this same year. Dr. Charles Fordyce, Teachers College, is chairman of this body on which Prof. O. R. Martin, College of Business Administration also serves.

Dr. Huntington summarizes his work by an account of the agencies among the 1200 Methodist students in the University, of which nearly 500 are Freshmen. Two hundred thirty-eight students have called at the office of the pastor, and of these one hundred and ten have had personal interviews.

To further the social side of the work the Methodist Student Council of thirty-four members have called on all new students of the church; the Wesley Guild, composed of Methodist men, has outlined its program for the year and has held two meetings; and Kappa Phi, Methodist Women's University club, has also had two meetings. The chief event for the Methodist students was the social held recently under the direction of the Methodist student council.

"700 TO AMES" IS AIM OF CORNCOBS

700 Seats Reserved at Game for Nebraska Grid Followers.

ROUND TRIP TICKETS REDUCED TO $10.70

That is the goal of the Corncobs, who are selling tickets for the special train to Ames. Seven hundred seats have already been reserved at Ames for the game and all students will be assured of a good seat.

The special will leave Lincoln at 6 a. m. Saturday morning. It will arrive at Ames at noon, giving the students plenty of time to eat before the game. The game will be called at 2:30. The train will start back late in the evening after the parties.

Round trip tickets have been reduced and will be sold for $10.70. Tickets can be bought at the Student Activities office or the downtown Burlington office. Pullmans can also be reserved for the special.

The Innocents, who have charge of the train, have turned the sale of tickets to the game over to the Corncobs. They go on sale this morning the Student Activities office, at Latsch Brothers, or from the Corncobs. Students desiring good seats should reserve them early.

The band and freshmen football team will also make the trip. It is hoped that 700 or more students will go on the special, and fill the Nebraska section to capacity.

"700 to Ames."

FIRST YEAR SQUAD USES AMES PLAYS

Twenty-five Freshmen Will Make Trip Saturday with Varsity.

The freshman team, bruised and beaten from the hardest week of scrimmage this fall, was out again yesterday to do its bit in preparing the fighting Cornhuskers for the remaining gib games of the season.

All last week, uncomplainingly, the freshmen faced the varsity and were targets for new Nebraska formations, and they bore the fierce tackling of the regulars when they rehearsed Notre Dame formations. It is partly due to the good work of the freshmen in playing the Notre Dame formations that the varsity won so decisively last Saturday.

As a reward for their hard work all season, twenty-five freshmen who have been most faithful in the practices and who have shown the greatest football ability will be given a trip with the varsity to Ames where they will see the Cornhuskers in action against one of Nebraska's strong conference opponents.

Coach Farley Young said yesterday that the final choice of those who will make the trip to Ames will be made at the close of the last scrimmage this week.

Yesterday the yearlings were hard at it again on their field east of Social Science building, learning Ames formations, and general style of play, which they will try against the varsity in the regular evening scrimmages.

Kamm was quarterback on the first squad, and had as running mates Mandery, Burnham and DuTeau. Grow was holding down his old position of center. Jones played left guard and Swearingen right guard. Weir was playing his old style of tearing, smashing game at right tackle. Ford at right end caught a lot of good passes heaved to him by Mandery and Kamm.

There were just enough men out for three teams, which were run thru signal practice by Coach Young. In the scrimmage the third team was split up and the men used as substitutes for the two teams.

Union Society Holds Open Meeting Friday

At the University Union open meeting held Friday evening about 150 were present. The Palladian and Delian societies were invited guests, as well as many others. Ice cream and waffles were served during intermission. An interesting program was given.
