"700 TO AMES"

Ames has a formidable and dangerous team. That spirit that helped beat Notre Dame must be maintained. Keep up the singing and keep up the old chant. If you are fighting hard for a victory, the team will be fighting for the same end.

The fare to Ames is $10.70. Let us make this our annual pilgrimage as we made Kansas our Mecca last year. Go to Ames by car, by train, by taxi, by bus, or any old way—just so that you get to Ames and then, fight. "Seven hundred to Ames" is the cry this week.

INDICATIONS.

Not many years ago writers in the east never considered westerners when it came to picking mythical elevens. Most of the men came from the independent eastern schools, with some of the "Big Ten" players granted a few positions.

Western teams began to play football and the easterners made the big mistake of scheduling games with the invaders. Year after year Harvard, Yale, and Princeton whipped every team that dared enter the field—but the tables began to turn until now the east is fast losing its characteristic.

Games played in the past year indicate that the best football in America is probably being played in the Big Ten and the second best is being played in the Missouri Valley conference. The day seems to be coming for the greatest intersectional battles to be between teams from the two conferences, with the east producing teams at random. Middle-western football shows indications of taking the lead.

DO YOU AGREE?

The editor of this paper has often been told that he writes things that observers do not agree with. One said that he didn't like the tone of the editorial column. Consequently, he wouldn't read it any more. Another said that the editor was radical and he considered the editorials were products of an immature mind. He did, however, say that he was going to continue reading them because he might find in some instances that the writer was right. Which man do you think was the most liberal-minded?

If the editor thought that everyone agreed with him on everything, he would turn this column over to the advertising department and tell the business manager to fill it with advertising matter.

There is such a thing as being radical—and that is nothing but disagreeing with a great number. There are men called non-conformists—they are ones who think independently, and there are purely insane people who have a single-spur mind. Men need to be criticised and it is neither for the idiot nor the standardized man to do it. It is for the one who believes in neither form of mental activity. Although the writer does not make a pretense of possessing such a faculty, explanation might serve as an apology for some action.

Rag Doll observes that she wishes the chickens were built like a centipede—as her favorite piece is the leg.

"We will now rise and sing "My Name Is Mud," by Henry Clay.

JUST THINK.

If Christopher had not crossed the sea,
George would not have crossed the stream;
Daniel would not have crossed the plains,
And a history course would be a scream!

The clock on the library doesn't seem to be the least bit handy.

We consider it the height of optimism to draw the back seat in "nigger heaven" and still enjoy the show.

AN INTERESTING SCHEDULE.
First day—Clean blouse.
Second day—Wear a sweater.
Third day—Turn in the cuffs.
Fourth day—Good-bye forever.

Said the letter to the envelope, "I sure have got you stuffed."

We see that one Prof said "The Cornhusker" sounds like a dirge. If that is the case, what will we sing when we win?

The best seller these days is not necessarily a book.

If green represents embryonic growth—why not grade the classes like tomatoes—have the sophs wear yellow, the juniors orange, and the seniors red?

SEND TWO DELEGATES TO REGIONAL MEETING

Emily Ross and William Alstadt Prominent at Y Conference.

Emily Ross represented the University Y. W. C. A. and William Alstadt was the delegate-at-large from all Nebraska colleges for the Y. M. C. A. at the Regional Council of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. held at Manhattan, Kas, October 12 to 14. Miss Erma Appleby and W. P. McCaffree represented student secretaries of both associations in this region.

At the council meeting plans were discussed relating to the quadrennial student volunteer convention to be held in Indianapolis the latter part of December. Students who went to Europe this past summer told of the need by European students of help from America. The council voted to continue the Friendship Fund with more emphasis on the friendship element than on the contributions themselves.

Plans were made to bring prominent speakers to our campus in the near future. It was hoped that Sherwood Eddy, John R. Mott or Dr. Alva Taylor might be brought to Nebraska again.

Miss Ross was elected editor of the Campus Forum and served as chairman of the findings committee. Mr. Alstadt was elected treasurer of the council for the coming year.

Is Rated in Year Book

Maurice B. Long, who graduated from the Nebraska College of Engineering in 1917, has been listed in "Who's Who in Engineering" this year. Long, who is living in New York, is credited with installing the first "carrier" telegraph system, in use between Harrisburg, Pa., and Chicago.
