

Students at Syracuse University Cannot Marry and Stay in School

Student activities at Syracuse University present several aspects different from life in most schools. Marriage of students is absolutely forbidden. Students violating this rule are asked to leave the university.

It happens that a certain senior in the College of Business Administration, William E. Ryan, decided to take unto himself a wife. But what was W. E. to do. Choose a wife or a career? The problem was solved for Mr. Ryan by Chancellor Flint, who by special dispensation allowed the marriage to take place with his approval.

In explaining his action the chancellor said: "Mr. Ryan is a real estate dealer in the city and is a student here under the direction of the government vocational training bureau, because of disabilities received while in service during the world war. Furthermore his bride is not a student of the university."

Explaining the ordinance which forbids marriage of students the chancellor said: "It was not the intention of the marriage ban to prohibit the marriage of persons who are deemed competent to carry out their obligations, but rather to prevent, I am glad to say, the small fraction of the student body which might go in for wildcat elopement."

Personally we're glad we go to school at Nebraska.

EASTERN COMMENTS ON NEBRASKA VICTORY OVER IRISH STILL COME (Continued from Page 1)

Boston Herald: It is a platitude to say that comparative scores mean nothing, yet we football fans of the past can fall back on that old statement for comfort in Nebraska's 14 to 7 victory over Notre Dame. A few weeks ago the latter team made two excursions east and handsomely walloped two of our supposed, strong teams. The Hoosiers were hailed along the Atlantic seaboard as a wonder team, yet they met defeat at the hands of a western eleven.

Boston Post: At last the mighty have fallen. Just as we were beginning to think that Knute Rockne's Notre Dame machine was unbeatable, Cornhuskers from the University of Nebraska threw a fine young 14 to 7 lacing into the South Bend players. Notre Dame might have it on the Army and some of the eastern combinations, but the Nebraskans are proving one real jinx for any of Rockne's teams.

Nebraska came on the field the field the second half with the same lineup as at the end of the first half. Nebraska kicked off to Ames. Ames made a first down and worked the ball up to their 35 yard line where a forward pass by Roberts was intercepted by Rufus Dewitz. Dewitz and Hartman bucked the line for gains totaling nine yards. McGlasson was injured and Hubka took his place at right guard. On the next three plays the ball was advanced to Ames' 11 yard line. An incomplete pass game Ames the ball on their 20 yard line. They kicked out of danger. After thirty yards of penalties, a forty-five yard pass, Rufus Dewitz to Lewellen, was completed and Lewellen raced twenty-five yards more for a touchdown. The quarter ended with Nebraska in possession of the ball on its own 38 yard line.

The third period was easy for the Huskers. Nebraska made many substitutions in the last quarter and Ames opened with all she had and started a desperate forward passing battle. A long pass, Roberts to J. Behm, was completed for forty-five yards and Behm raced across the Husker goal for Ames' first touchdown. The battle then waged desperately with many injuries. Spectacular passes by Ames featured the whole of the last quarter and resulted in the second touchdown for Ames. Ames fought a desperate dog battle in the last quarter and had Nebraska battled off to a standstill, scoring 14 points to Nebraska's none.

Ames entered the game with a determination to do the utmost. They had everything to win and nothing to lose. With the Nebraska-Notre Dame game as an example of what a fighting spirit does for a team the Cyclones went into the game with a fierceness and intensity that at times almost foreboded defeat for Nebraska. The first quarter they had Nebraska outplayed and the last quarters were theirs also by a wide margin.

Ames made twelve first downs to Nebraska's eleven. In yards from scrimmage Nebraska made 262, and Ames 268.

A crowd of 13,000 people watched the game. It was one of the biggest crowds ever assembled in the Ames stadium.
