NEBRASKA WILL BATTLE STRONG GRID MACHINE

Syracuse Has Team That Is Well Drilled, Experienced and Speedy Squad.

When Syracuse invades Nebraska Saturday the Huskers will meet in them one of the most formidable teams of the east, a team which has piled up 230 points this season against 19 points made by their opponents. They will come with blood in their eyes, due to the defeat they received last Saturday at the hands of Colgate.

The Orange is a veteran team with the exception of one man. There is not a weak spot in the line, and the backfield is among the best of the east. Dr. Charles Whelan, coach of the Boston University team, was much impressed with the play.

"Syracuse has a heavy, fast, well-drilled and splendidly interfering team," he declared. "Meehan is pulling his guard and tackle out of the line for interfering duty much as Cornell does and he has every man following out his assignments on every play."

Bowman has everything that a back should have. He is a multiple threat man. He can run the ends, buck the line, pass and kick. He is the youth who flashed as a star punter during last year's track campaign. Zimmerman is another star backfield man. He has been a source of worry for every team the Orange has played this season. His best trick, though, is getting away his punts. Although only six or seven feet back of the line he take a quick swing and gets the ball away for fifty yards. His toe has been responsible for an average distance of 48 yards this season. McBride is also a wonderful runner and has broken away for many long gains this season. Bowman is second in scoring for the season in the east and McBride is not far behind.

A glance at their past victory will show how powerful Syracuse has been the past few years. Seven victories have been won this year, including Pittsburgh and Penn State. In the past six years the team has lost only ten games of the sixty-one played and has scored a total of 1,245 points to 247 for opponents.

Sociology Students Entertained at Tea

Professor Hattie Plum Williams entertained at tea Sunday afternoon at her home for students majoring in Sociology. The time was spent informally and experiences were recalled by some of the students who did social work this summer. Josephine Bishop, who was one of the head councillors of the Hull House summer camp at Waukegan, Illinois; and Margaret McMillen, who did recreation work at Chicago Commons Settlement, in the Italian district, told of their summer's work. Miss Hazel Poorbaugh, a Nebraska alumna, who is medical-social worker at St. Lukes Hospital in Cleveland, was a guest.

and a three day layoff now means a great handicap to the team.

Dave Noble and Doug Meyers were out in uniform Monday afternoon and were running signals. The squad that saw action in the Ames combat was given a light workout of signal running and then sent to the showers.

In the Ames game the defensive Husker work was featured by the veteran Husker tackle Heinie Bassett. He broke through the Cyclone line time after time and threw the runner or passer in their tracks. It is hard to say who starred in the Husker offense. The line plunging of Herb Dewitz and Ced Hartman was consistent. Remarks from the stands were to the effect that they had never seen any back hit like those two veterans hit the Ames line.

Rufe Dewitz' passing and end running was a feature in itself, while Captain Lewellen handled his team with that same calmness that has been so evident in all the games in which he has been field general. His judgment on plays always outguessed the opponents. His toe was booting the oval yards farther than Roberts the Ames punter who is reputed to be one of the best punters in the Valley.

Everything in the Husker camp is pointing to hard and strenuous work for the big game Saturday and the scrimmages are being held behind closed doors. There has been some misunderstanding in the minds of some students as to the reason why they are prohibited from witnessing the practices. It is not that their loyalty to the team is question but it is a question of the loyalty to some disinterested outsider. Some one of that caliber may come in and get all the facts about the Husker workouts and for a certain sum, sell them. The results of all seasons work would be exposed and the team thrown to a great disadvantage. There is no possible way to tell who are loyal Husker followers and who are not, and consequently Coach Dawsor has ordered that no one but newspaper men be allowed. It is for the reason of protection to the team and their welfare in future games that secret practices are held.

A statement from the Syracuse camp says, "The Syracuse squad which will make the long journey to Lincoln, Nebraska, to clash with the University of Nebraska eleven, conquerors of Notre Dame, will leave Syracuse Tuesday afternoon. They will go to Chicago where they will hold a practice Wednesday afternoon on the notorious Stagg field of the

HOODED ORGANIZATION DISCUSSED BY SENATE

A bill "to prohibit the formation or continuance of all hooded organizations with secret membership lists" was discussed by the Senate club at its third regular session in Law 101, Friday night.

Senator Richards of Indiana, its author, found the opposition determined, especially that from Senator Harrington of North Dakota. After two hours of forensic effort, the roll call revealed the bill's defeat by a vote of 10 to 3—some not voting. A resolution authorizing the presi-
