

CONVENTION REINSTATES LOCAL CHAPTER OF SIGMA DELTA CHI

Suspension Following Publication of "Shun" Last Year Is Lifted—Herbert Brownell, Jr., Represents Nebraska Chapter—Next Meeting at Indiana University.

AWGWAN, UNIVERSITY HUMOROUS PUBLICATION, TO BE PUBLISHED SOON

The suspension imposed on the Nebraska chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalistic fraternity, was removed by a unanimous vote of the delegates at the ninth annual convention of the fraternity at Minneapolis, November 19 to 21.

The local chapter had been suspended following difficulties growing out of the publication of the 1923 "Evening Shun" at University Night last spring. The national officers commended the Nebraska chapter on its other activities of the past year and expressed the hope that the local group would soon be one of the leading chapters in the organization.

Professor Fogg Is Advisor

Professor M. M. Fogg, director of the School of Journalism and chairman of the Publication Board, will continue as chapter advisor for the fraternity.

The outstanding note of the convention was strict adherence to professional standards in the selection of members of the thirty-seven active chapters. Formation of alumni chapters was urged. A tentative endowment fund for the Quill, the publication of the national fraternity, was submitted by the national president and was unanimously endorsed by the undergraduates.

Newspapers Are Hosts

The Minneapolis Journal and the Minneapolis Tribune entertained the delegates at banquets. At the Journal office a souvenir edition containing humorous write-ups of happenings at the convention was carried through all the processes of printing before the eyes of the delegates and distributed to all. A fake murder was one of the Journalist's Jamboree. Initiation for seven prominent Minnesota Journalists was conducted with the new ritual.

The Reamington Hotel was the scene of the Tribune party where the guests found their places at the table with the aid of place cards which were slugs of twenty-four point type. The London correspondent of the Chicago Daily News gave the main address, praising the fraternity on its stand for the highest type of journalistic ethics.

Brownell Presents Case

The Nebraska case was presented to the executive council of Sigma Delta Chi by the Nebraska delegate, Herbert Brownell, Jr., on the day preceding the opening of the convention. At the first session of the convention a committee was appointed to recommend action on the readmittance of Nebraska chapter. The Nebraska delegate addressed

Kindergarten Club Holds Kid Party

The program follows: Reading, Frances Carruthers; song, Helen Jones; dance of the jumping jacks and dolls, Dorothy Davis, Dorothy Van Vrankin, Dorothy Seacrist, Ruth Ellsworth.

Many clever and original costumes were displayed. The judges chose the following as the prize winners: Boy's costume, Emma Cross; girl's costume, Ula Thomas. Dancing and games completed the program.

Hazing or any other form of class activity before the official opening of the Olympics Saturday morning will not be tolerated.

Presidents of all organizations on the campus, including fraternities, will be held strictly accountable for the obedience of their members to this order.

Any violation will be considered a breach of school spirit and University discipline. Hazing is under the ban and any violator will be dismissed from the University.

CARL C. ENGBERG, Executive Dean.

Girls' Commercial Club Initiates

Fifteen were initiated into Girls Commercial Club, Wednesday evening, at Ellen Smith Hall. This is a club for all girls in the 'Bizard' college and Teacher's College, who are majoring in commerce.

This initiation was the second of the year and was followed by a dinner at the Grand Hotel at which fifty girls were present.

Dean and Mrs. LeRoussignol were guests and both of them made short talks.

INSULL TALKS ON PUBLIC UTILITIES

Nationally Known Expert Addresses Convocation of College of Engineering.

IMPORTANCE OF SERVICE ENTERPRISES STRESSED

Proper functioning of public utilities is necessary to the life of American business, said Martin J. Insull of Chicago, in a speech before the second regular convocation of the College of Engineering in Social Science auditorium yesterday at 11 o'clock. Mr. Insull, vice president of the Middlewest Utilities company, was introduced by Dean O. J. Ferguson as nationally-known expert on the subject of utilities.

"Every man or woman in the country who is thrifty enough to take out a life insurance policy is interested in Nebraska is fighting against odds Saturday! Everything points to an Eastern victory: Syracuse is fit and fighting mad—the Cornhuskers are crippled and worn,—but one force is yet to be reckoned with.

Nebraska's fighting student body!

You, students, that irresistible force which glorified itself and Nebraska by rising up and beating the Irish "wonder team," have not yet arisen!

The Fighting Cornhusker team is calling you again to rise up and crush the opposition by your spirit!

Students, are you going to fail Nebraska in this crisis?

public utilities because these companies invest a great part of their assets in utilities," Mr. Insull said in pointing out the great importance to everyone of the success of utilities.

"Of two important problems facing utilities of the country today—their relation to the public and their finances—the first is the most important."

Allow Fair Wage.

The fair wage of capital is all that utilities are allowed to earn, Mr. Insull asserted, because of the regulations put upon them by popular legislation. Consequently the utility has nothing left over, after each year, to enlarge and improve its plant and equipment as the public demands. To make up this deficit the utility must go into the money market, one of the most competitive, and borrow.

"The utility must have good credit if it is to borrow money. This is established by good earnings, and these are established by fair rates, reasonable both to the public and to the utility, that will enable it to go ahead and develop as the public wants it to.

"If the utilities did not increase their facilities the country's business development would stand still," Mr. Insull continued. "In 1922 manufacturers of the country were equipped to use thirty million horse power." These increases were met, he explained, largely by the utilities bor-

Welcome Syracuse!

All Nebraska is yours—except the largest football score.

'GREATEST RALLY' CARNIVAL PLANS ON EVE OF GAME ARE COMPLETED

Lewellen, Dawson and Scott to Speak to Meeting of Nebraskans.

CORNCOBS PLAN STUNT TO PRECEDE PROGRAM

"Nebraska's greatest rally will be held north of the Administration building Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

To show the team that every man is behind it, and to welcome the "Orange," a singing, cheering crowd of 5,000 students is wanted at the meeting.

Captain Verne Lewellen will speak for the team with a message that will go to the heart of every student present; Coach Fred Dawson will give a short talk to put everyone in a fighting mood; Professor R. D. Scott will crystallize Husker spirit in a pithy address; Welch Pogue, president of the Innocents, will be in charge.

Just before the rally, the Corncoobs will make the round of the fraternity and sorority houses with a special stunt, and the band will play a few spirit-arousing selections at the meeting place.

A large platform for a speaker's rostrum and temporary seats for the members of the team will be erected immediately north of the Administration building, and the students will congregate in the open space between the walks.

Spirit on the campus and in the classrooms this week has not equalled that of last week, according to Coaches Schulte and Dawson. It is frankly admitted that Nebraska is facing the hardest game of the schedule with a crippled team. Is this a time ask men interested in Nebraska, for the student spirit to drop below the level of the spirit that won a game from Notre Dame? The answer of the students will be evident at the rally. If the rally eclipses the one held before the Notre Dame game, the answer is "Yes!"

"Alma Mater," the Syracuse anthem, will be sung heartily, it is hoped by those in charge, by 5,000 students at the rally as a part of the welcoming program of Nebraska.

Nebraska was accused of being a poor host by the editor of the Notre Dame Daily in spite of the efforts of the Huskers to make them welcome. In order not to give Syracuse an excuse to make any such accusation, Coach Dawson has expressed a wish to have the "Orange" welcomed by every student, to have every student preserve the behavior of a gentleman—to do this and yet back the team to the utmost.

"Let's peel that Orange," windshield slogans which are prominent on Lincoln automobiles, were supplied to students through the courtesy of the Varsity Cleaners and Grave's Printery.

Things Will Pop at Annual Military Jubilee in Armory.

DANCING, GAMBLING AND BAR ON PROGRAM

The annual military carnival will burst forth in all its glory in the Armory tonight. Immediately after the rally for the Syracuse game things will begin to "pop," both literally and figuratively.

The sheriff and his posse will be present, ready to defend the ladies against any attack by stage robbers or just ordinary villains. The dancers will be dancing, the gamblers will be gambling, and the bar maids will be barring.

All committees have made final arrangements and promise a good time. Probably the greatest attraction of the evening for the gentlemen who will attend this riot will be found in the dancing girls. Nineteen Spanish dancers should be enough to hold any bunch of lonesome swains for one evening. Besides the Spanish dancers, their little playmates, the barmaids will be on hand to lend assistance. A few wild and woolly cowgirls mixed in completes the feminine atmosphere.

The dashing sheriff and his trusty men should be able to provide entertainment for such of the ladies as need help along that line. For any of the "fussier" sex who like caverns, there will doubtless be a few holdups during the evening and "Tough Thomases" will be plentiful.

The chairman says, "Come to the carnival and rest your foot on the rail again. See how it feels to get into a square dance. Give your eyes and ears a treat among the many interesting sights and sounds that are sure to be present tonight."

"The crash of bottles and glasses, the bark of the six-shooters and the tramp of many feet will carry students back to the days of the 49er's. See once again the gay Spanish dancers and the pretty barmaids. Hear some real music, played by a bunch of boys that know their stuff."

Confetti, candy, dancing, drinks, eats, gambling, and a hot time are all going to be plentiful in the Armory tonight. And who knows? Maybe a few little surprises that no one knows about.

KORNHUSKER KADET APPEARS AT CARNIVAL

The "Orange Peelers" number of the Kornhusker Kadet will make its appearance tonight at the Military Carnival in the Armory.

The issue contains the "low down" on the game with Syracuse Saturday, and also describes the progress of the plans for the Military Ball.

Nebraska's Greatest Rally

Tonight is the time for every student to show the Cornhusker football team that he is fighting to win that football game Saturday. Be at that rally and be there with the intentions of making a display that will overshadow the Notre Dame pep meeting.

Football experts are now taking the Nebraska morale and Nebraska spirit into consideration when they start to figure on the outcome of the Cornhusker games. Students, you are partly responsible for that state of affairs. Your unity, your pep, your sportsmanship, and your spirit has become part of every game.

Let the visitors know tonight that Nebraska welcomes them—but that Nebraska intends to fight tomorrow, to cheer tomorrow, and to see that game through—for Nebraska.

The rally tonight is your last occasion to show the team that you are going to that game tomorrow filled with the grim determination to give everything for Nebraska.

Your opportunity comes tonight. You will not fail.

Herb Dewitz and Ross McGlasson Are Only Regulars Who Will Probably Be Missing From Lineup—Dave Noble Is in Good Shape.

HARTMAN AND OGDEN REPLACE VETERANS ON CORNHUSKER ELEVEN TO MEET INVADERS

Husker Spirit Breaks Loose Thursday Night In Unscheduled Rally

Five hundred super-charged, enthusiastic, and determined Cornhusker rooters broke loose last night, unable to withhold an exhibition until tonight. Nebraska spirit, Nebraska songs, and Nebraska pep took charge of the city and let everyone know that Nebraska was ready to fight the invaders, to turn them back against odds, and to concede nothing.

Starting with one fraternity, the group moved from house to house, increasing in size as it moved on until it reached the drill field where the climax was reached. Football men in the crowd were called to the platform and given a share of the superfluous pep. Every man was given a yell and every student expressed his determination to fight.

The tension of spirit that has been the topic for the week seemed to have been reached. Speakers expressed the wish that it would be maintained until after the game Saturday.

They is a big rally tonight.

The Question Is, How Well Do You Know Your Nebraska?

If you stop to think about it and question yourself, how much do you really know about your school historically. Frankly now, even though you are a sport fan, tell us exactly how many times Nebraska has won the Missouri valley championship. There are hundreds of just such interesting questions which if you know the proper answer makes you realize what a really great school this is. It is for this very purpose, to supply this lack of knowledge about the interesting features of your own school that a "Know Nebraskas" festival is to be staged this coming Tuesday in Memorial Hall at 7 o'clock.

Be there. Enjoy yourself in the revelation of the used-to-be student life at Nebraska. See some of the old timers as they appeared in their student days and then see them as they appear today, in person. Be there and you will leave with a new and finer faith and spirit in Nebraska U.

When the Cornhusker football team squares off against the heavy, speedy, and well drilled eleven from Syracuse, it will be starting the biggest battle of the year and it will start it, crippled. It is very doubtful if Ross McGlasson, veteran guard, and Herb Dewitz, hard hitting halfback, will see service in the combat.

Herb emerged from the sanitarium yesterday afternoon with his discharge, but a discharge from a sanitarium is far from spelling physical fitness for the hardest game of the year. If it comes to the worst, Herb may be used. He has the nerve and will give 'em all he can. As for Mac his position on the forward wall will be a hard one to fill. Mac has been doing great work as a running mate for Big Berquist and his absence spells another handicap.

Warren Ogden, who made his debut in Cornhusker pigskin at Illinois, will probably be Coach Dawson's choice when the teams kick off Saturday. Ogden is heavy and is a steady player and a lot is expected of him.

Scrimmage Is Light.

The Husker workout Thursday consisted of snappy signal practise and a light scrimmage against the freshmen, who employed Syracuse plays and formations. The crippled Husker squad have mastered the defense on the plays that Coach Owen Frank has presented and knowledge of Syracuse's favorite plays will tend to help matters a little.

In the signal practises, two squads were running back and forth across the field. The two teams were made up of Rhodes and Robertson, ends; Weir and Bassett, tackles; Berquist and Ogden, guards; Hutchison, center; Captain Lewellen, quarter; Rufus Dewitz and Dave Noble, halves, and Ced Hartman, fullback. The other squad was Meyers, McAllister, and Collins ends; Halbersleben and Hendrickson, tackles; Hubka and Packer, guards; Westoupl, center; Bloodgood, quarter; Randolph and Crites, halves, and Meilenz, fullback.

Dave Noble Is Back.

It was a good sight to see Big Dave out there in his old station at right half, and to see him carrying the ball on his plays. His ankle is still a little weak but he says it will be all right by Saturday.

With all the squad ready to play, if necessary, with the exception of Herb and Mac, the Syracusians will know they have been somewhere when the battle is over. The spirit in the practise Thursday was "all to the merrry" and the team is determined to win.

There is no doubt as to the size of the crowd that will witness the game. Already the seat sales are near 25,000 and it is expected that the stadium will be filled to the limit. The weather report for the week end is

Thousand Cadets Needed to Cheer at Syracuse Game

One thousand cadets are urged to volunteer their services to the University Saturday afternoon in order to increase the organized rooting section for the Syracuse game. The organization of rooters was introduced at the Notre Dame game and was found to be a great success, although only about five hundred cadets reported.

Due to the fact that November 7 was Dad's Day, it is expected that the thousand reserved seats on the fifty yard line will be filled Saturday. In order to occupy one of these choice seats the requirement is to wear the R. O. T. C. uniform and cheer for Nebraska when a yell is called for. From reports of the participants in the "Irish" mix two weeks ago, the organized rooters could be heard out-stand the occupants of the entire remainder of the Stadium.

All men willing to pledge themselves as loyal Cornhuskers are requested to report in uniform at Nebraska Hall at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and the entire body of rooters will go to the Stadium to fill the reserved seats.
