been plaing a wonderful Berk's runing mate this seasis heavy and fast and built the ground and is a hard indie. He is always ripping in opposing lines. Mac was the Ame game and had to from the field, and conwas made to play in the game. Nac starred espeche Note Dame game when everylay and his side of as theame as a stone wall the ish was concerned. Wat's thid year as a wearer the Cream. He incoln here he played four high sood football. He is r of Kppa Sigma.

RUFUS DEWITZ

Rufus is a triple threat man. His line smashing and end running have been something that will go down in the annals of football history as spectacular football. Rufe is an accurate passer, it was he who shot the oval to Dave Noble in the Notre Dame game. He also starred in that game as well as in the Syracuse and Ames games by his end running. Rufe like his brother Herb is a wonderful side stepper and twister, and once he is started opponents might as well hang up their hats, for he is gone. He has another year to play and even greater things are expected him next year. He comes from Stanton where he also played high school football. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

EUGENE McALLISTER

Mac is playing his second year as a Husker man. He is a deadly tackler and seldom does a play get around his end. Mac starred in the Illinois game when he downed the punt receiver in his tracks on every kick. On the offense, Mac is a good pass snatcher and his speed enables him to complete a pass for good gains. He is very fast and knows football and much is expected of him next year. Mac's ability at stopping plays around his end is a much talked of subject. He always floats his man out then breaks through the interference and nails his man. His home is in Lincoln, where he played football with the Agricultural college for three years. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi.

JOHN RHODES

Although this is Choppy's first year as a Varsity performer he handles himself like a veteran. Choppy's offensive ability at grabbing passes has counted good gains for the Huskers. Choppy has also been used to carry the ball to good advantage and he made good gains especially in the Missouri game when he broke away for a forty yard run. He is a clever and aggresive end and he always gets his man. He is a player of no mean passing ability and the way in which he passes has completely outguessed the opponents. Choppy may be used in the backfield next year although he is a very valuable wing man. His home is Ansley. He is a member of Sigma NU.

EDWIN WEIR

This is Ed's first year in Husker moleskins and already he is getting mention from newspaper writers as a great tackle. Ed's favorite pastime is breaking through and throwing opposing backs for losses. In the Notre Dame and Syracuse games as well as in most of the Valley games he broke through and threw the ball luggers for big loses. Few gains are ever made through his side of the line by opponents and he tears huge holes in opposing walls for the Husker backs. Ed is not very heavy but he makes up for his lack of weight in his speed and shiftiness. Ed is a deadly tackler, when he hits 'em they stop. His home is at Superior, where he was an all state half back on the Superior High school team. Ed is a member of the Acacia fraternity.

HAROLD HUTCHISON

Hutch has been holding down the snap-back position with good consistent playing. He is a second Bill Dav. His passes are always accurate and when a hole is needed through the center of the line Hutch can be depended upon to make it. His defensive work is that of an all-American. Hutch throws opponents hard when they try the center of the line or if they attempt a try at the ends he is there to nail them. Hutch has starred in every game this year at the pivot position, a place where a player gets little credit. In the next two years he will develop into a great Cornhusker gridster. His home is in Lincoln where he played with Lincoln High for three years. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

JOE WOSTOUPAL

Joe is another Husker pivot man whose passes have been accurate on every play and his tearing up the line and resulted in many successful center rushes. Joe is a good man on the defense and he plays roving center and is a deadly tackler. He has two more years on the squad and his snap-back game improves on every play. Before he finishes his football career at Nebraska he will make a name for himself in Valley circles. Joe's home is at West Point, where he played High school football. He is a member of Delta Upsilon.

WARREN OGDEN

Oggie played his first College football in the game at Illinois and he was a whirlwind in the line. He played as though that had been his favorite pastime for years. He tips the scale at 205 and he is never so happy as when a signal is called through his guard so he can go in there and tear out a hole. On the defense he is a human battering ram. He breaks through opponent's line on every play. Especially did he shine in the Syracuse game when he held the heavy Orange line from a gain through his station. His home is at Genoa. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi.

Dewitz. Nebraska opened up in the last half and went down for a touchdown right after the half opened. Dave Noble carried the pigskin over for the first count. Locke made two pretty end runs in this quarter. In the fourth quarter, Oklahoma had the ball on Nebraska's four yard line when "Doug" Meyers grabbed a fumbled and ran ninety-four yards for Nebraska's second touchdown. During the last quarter, the Sooners opened up with their spectacular passing, but failed to score. Dave Noble again made a touchdown after Locke had intercepted a pass and made a long run. After their decisive defeat of the Oklahoma team, the Cornhuskers were picked to win over Kansas in the Homecoming game on the Nebraska field October 20, but the dope was upset and both schools had to be

MELVIN COLLINS

Collie is another Husker end man that grabs 'em while they're hot. Collie's offensive work was a feature against Ames when he caught three difficult passes for a total of forty yards. He is fast and has a knack of breaking through opposing interference and throwing his man before he gets in Collie's territory. He has one more year on the squad. He received most of pre-collegiate football experience at Wakefield, Nebr., where he was an understudy of ex-Captain Swanson. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Although neither team scored, statistics show that the Cornhuskers had the best of the argument in all departments of the game. Both teams played a wonderful defensive game. Both goal lines were in danger, but neither team had the punch to get the ball over.

The line plunging of Dave Noble was the feature of the game. Big Dave made a gain every time he took the ball. The Dewitz brothers and "Gip" Locke did some very good work. Captain Lewellen was in the game part of the time, but was still handicapped very much by his knee and could not get into the game very

The next week the Nebraska squad journeyed to Missouri and again played a tie, this time for a 7 to 7 score. A muddy field was a great handicap for the big Nebraska backs. Missouri scored early in the first half, when they blocked a punt and then completed a forward pass. Nebraska's score was made by Captain

ROB ROY ROBERTSON

This is Bob's first year at the pigskin game since he came to University. He won recognition in the Notre Dame game when he played his end on every play and not once were the famed Notre Dame ballluggers able to get a gain around his end. Bob dumps the interference and then gets his man. He made the first touchdown against Ames when he carried the ball over the line on a ten-yard end run. Bob has two more years as a varsity performer and he will make a regular wing man next year. His home is at Broken Bow. He is a member of Kappa Sigma.

Lewellen in a seventy-five yard run after intercepting a forward pass.

In the second half, Big Dave Noble made a spectacular end run for fortythree yards and placed the ball on Missouri's six yard line, but the Nebraska team failed to shove the ball over, and the game ended without further scoring.

The next game, in which Nebraska defeated Notre Dame 14 to 7, was the game which surprised the country and made Nebraska the most talked-of school for some time. That the much-heralded "wonder team of Americ." could be beaten by the squad which had bowed to Illinois and failed to beat "ansas and Missouri was thought impossible by everyone, except Nebraskars.

Three whole teams which were brought here by Coach Knute Rockne could not hold the fighting Cornhuskers. As it was said after the game, the Nebraska men were super-men and they played a supergame. The team played by far its

JUNIOR HINMAN

Junior is one of the hardest candidates on the squad. He is almost too light for a berth but his stickto-it-iveness has been commendable and when he is called in scrimmage he always delivers the goods. Junior is a quarterback from North Platte. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

GEORGE RANDOLPH.

"Bud" Randolph is not a letter man this year, but he has afforded some stiff competition for the backfield men. He does not have the weight that would grant him a position although his speed and general ability gives him consideration. With some of the regulars out next year and with a year of good experience,

He lives at Kearney and is a member of Beta Theta Pi.
