MOST DELIGHTFUL PLAY IN YEARS

The most delightful musical play of years, "Blossom Time," will be presented by the Messrs. Shubert at the Orpheum, two nights only, February 11 and 12.

"Blossom Time" was produced at the Ambassador Theater, New York, three years ago. It ran there for an entire year and was then moved to the Jolson and Century Theaters where it ran for another year. Now in its third year, it has been seen in Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, and many of the larger cities of the country, where it has broken all house records for receipts. "Blossom Time" is based on incidents in the life of Franz Schubert, the famous Viennese composer. The book and lyrics are by Dorothy Donnelly, adapted from the original of A. M. Willner and H. Reichert. The music is from melodies of Franz Schubert and H. Berte, adapted by Sigmund Romberg. It was staged by J. C. Huffman, under the personal direction of J. J. Shubert.

The original theme of the story was discovered in a semi-fiction and semi-biographical life of Schubert which was published shortly after his death. It is a charming love story that has been made use of. Schubert, in the play, is already famous, but very poor. He falls in love with Mitzi, daughter of the Crown Jeweler, whom he is giving music lessons. There is some doubt as to the girl's love for Schubert, it is more admiration for the composer's great abilities. Schubert's friend, Baron von Schober, also falls in love with Mitzi and his love is reciprocated. Poor Franz Schubert is too good a fellow to resent his friend's luck and he loves Mitzi too much not to rejoice in her happiness and so takes refuge in his music.
