IS THE SINGLE TAX JUST?

The tentative plan for the allotment of the single tax has been announced by the Student Council, and for a lump sum of $15.00, each student will receive an athletic ticket, a Cornhusker, the Daily Nebraskan, Awgwan and contribute to the support of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., Student Council, W. S. G. A., Glee Club and also other miscellaneous causes.

To bar drives and solicitations from the campus is the avowed purpose of the single tax. That is a worthy object. But whether or not this desired result will be effected is more than we pretend to be able to forecast.

Another feature that causes us to wonder as to the ultimate success of the proposal is the optional character of the plan. It might be that if the single tax were compulsory upon every student in the University it would provide enough funds for all the activities that are embraced.

But the question that arises is, would this be just to each and every student in the University? Exponents of the plan say that all the activities that are included are worthwhile and should be supported by all students. Perhaps they should. But it is questionable whether every activity in the University deserves the unanimous support of the students. Activities are becoming specialized. What appeals to one student may mean nothing to another, and therefore would not deserve any financial support.

Of course, if this plan were adopted and made compulsory to every student the same as tuition fees, then there would no doubt be a considerable saving to all. But his would necessitate a certain number of students contributing to activities in which they have not the slightest interest.

Another question that arises is, can the athletic department afford to go into this agreement and take the chance of a loss in income. The stadium pledges are not being met. A large percentage are not keeping these up, and this repudiation of pledges has involved the Nebraska Memorial Association in financial difficulties. The athletic department can hardly afford to gamble. They must be sure of their income.

University authorities are very much in the dark as to what attitude the Board of Regents will take on this question, but the general opinion is that the board will not adopt the single tax as compulsory to entrance and place it on the same basis as tuition fees.

However, if a large enough number of students are in favor of the single tax, it will be placed in effect by the Student Council.

THE PENALTY FOR THINKING.
(Daily Cardinal)

A short time ago the son of the president of Rochester university was put out of a class in ethics at that institution for having "too far advanced ideas." The young man is reported to have said he was an anarchist, that he did not believe in law because law meant forcing people to do what they ought to do of their own accord, that he was an atheist, an iconoclast; he was put out for arguing with the instructor on everything which the wise man taught. What else the young man in question may have said or done is not generally known. He may have solved problems which the sages have never solved and which the instructor was afraid to give out; he may have been disagreeably blatant, said things which may have shocked any good and fearful New Englander who might be teaching in an institution in New York. Yet he was put out of the class for having ideas which were too far advanced, for endeavoring to get at the fundamentals of life, for trying to rise above the lowly plane of American thought to the lofty level of Greek philosophy. And this in an institution of learning!

Again we say, in the name of men call education?

Hugh R. Edwards, '04, is chief engineer of the Hammon Construction company, San Francisco, and spent part of last year in inspecting tin mines in Portugal. He is now in charge of hydraulic gold-dredging operations in Nome, Alaska. He left for that country last spring on a coastwise boat, expecting to return with the last boat in November, but he decided to remain through the winter, since he and his family were quartered in the steam-heated office building of the company. In January he had to come by dog train to the railroad at Fairbanks, on his way to San Francisco on business.

E. R. Guthrie, '07, professor of psychology at the University of Washington, is spending the winter studying in Europe. He expects to return to Seattle in September.

Fred R. Richards, jr., '23, formerly cheerleader at the University, is practicing law in Fremont.

Perry M. Smith, '22, is studying in the Episcopal Theological school at Cambridge, Mass.

R. B. Sanderson, '23, is treasurer of Omega Beta Pi, professional pre-medical fraternity, and is making his headquarters at Chicago.

catches many glints of metal trimming now. There are gold braids and silver galloons and gold pipings and silver bindings, copper buckles, nickel buckles and cut steel ornaments.

On Hats

especially, the metallic touch is fashionable. Beatrice Lillie, star of Charlot's Revue, the smart show from London that is in New York now, often wears a small hat trimmed with gold galloon. And Lady Diana Manners and many other fashionable women choose a touch of metallic brightness on their costumes.

On the Aisle of Accessories at Rudge & Guenzel's they have some awfully pretty braids and trimmings.

Don't give a cap "too much rope"

Just when you're hurrying the most—zip! and away goes that shaving cream cap. The new cap on Williams ends the nuisance forever. It's hinged on and can't get lost.

In shaving, too, Williams has just as noticeable improvements: Williams lather is heavier and more closely woven. It holds the water in against the beard. Result: quicker softening. Williams lather lubricates—no irritating friction. Last, Williams is decidedly helpful to the skin. It keeps your face comfortable no matter how heavy your beard and how tender your skin. There's no coloring matter in Williams—it is a natural white, absolutely pure. Say "Williams Hinge-Cap" to your dealer.
