Surveying present spring fashions with an eye to the future and a thought for Easter, this, then, is the rule of two that governs formal street costumes this spring:

The straight coat and occasionally the cape in one of the new shorter lengths. Always smooth and lustrous in fabric. Usually fur trimmed.

The two worn together and bought as a suit or as a separate dress and coat give this spring's most characteristic silhouette that is tubular and beltless with the horizontal line below the knee for variety.

view of the recent disclosures at Washington. Mr. Bryan knows that this is not logical. Every man whose guilt is brought out in the investigation should be given individual punishment. If a banker becomes an embezzler that doesn't mean that all bankers are embezzlers."

Mr. McMullen is an alumnus of the University of Nebraska, having received his A.B. degree in 1896. After graduating from Nebraska he attended Columbia Law College and later practiced law. He lives at Beatrice. During the war Mr. McMullen was in an officers training camp. He served three terms in the state legislature, twice in the house and once as state senator. Twelve years ago he retired from law practice and took up farming.

Mr. McMullen was met at the train at 10:30 by a committee of students who escorted him to the Temple Theater.

FIFTY-ODD COLLEGES WILL ENTER RELAYS

Kansas Meet to Include Nebraska and Four Other Former Winners.

LAWRENCE, Kan., March 20.—Fifty universities and colleges have already indicated their intention of entering athletes in the second annual University of Kansas relays here April 19 and the number will be increased within the next few weeks, which means that the annual games will be larger than were the initial ones last season when 800 athletes competed representing seventy-seven institutions.

Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Texas and Kansas, winners of the university class relays last year, will all be back this season, as will the winners in the college class—Butler, Kansas State Teachers and Cornell College of Iowa.

Coaches are pointing for the Kansas games with special care this year as they will afford the first opportunity in the middle west for a good line on the ability of athletes to perform in a major outdoor event. The Kansas stadium also will be the scene on May 31 of the Midwestern Olympic tryouts and for that reason the Kansas relays will be of special value in acquainting stars of the track and field with the setting in which they will later strive to make the Olympic team.

Probability that Yale, Occidental College, and Oregon State will send athletes means that the Kansas games will draw from both coasts this year, and in addition South Dakota State and Texas University entries will extend the scope of the entry list.

The military and high school classes will also draw a classy field, the crack St. Johns teams of Delafield, Wis., and the star relayists of Washington High of Cedar Rapids, Ia., already being entered.

Another call for candidates

In this season of try-outs, seniors will do well to respond to the call for candidates which progressive business organizations are making.

The visit of the various company representatives offers a mutual opportunity. It puts you in position to judge whether a particular company offers sufficient scope to your ability and ambition. The representative can judge, after conversing with you and studying your record, whether you would be well placed in his company.

Do not ignore the invitation to these interviews. Do not be one of those—and they are many—who next Fall will write to the larger companies, "At the time your representative visited my college I did not think that I was interested in the work of your company and so did not meet him".

Men who are earnest in wanting to make the team usually respond to first call
