COFFER-MILLER CO PRESENT COMEDY

Will Open Weeks Engagement
Tomorrow With "The Rivals"

ARE UNDER AUSPICES
UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

The Coffe-Miller Players will present "The Rivals" tomorrow night at the Temple theater. "Androcles and the Lion" will be given Tuesday night; "The Imaginary Invalid" on Wednesday night; "The Taming of the Shrew" on Thursday night, and "The Rivals" will again be played on Friday night. The Coffe-Miller Players are here this week under the auspices of the University Players.

"The Rivals" is an interesting comedy in three acts, written by Richard Brinsley Sheridan. Martha Miller and Jess Coffe, the directors of the "strolling players," play the leading roles. The play is an old favorite with theater-goers in spite of the great number of comedies that have been written since it was first presented.

Mrs. Malaprop, who always uses the right word in the wrong place, introduces the plot of the comedy. Three men have fallen in love with the same girl and a duel finally results from their rivalry. The heroine becomes indifferent to the hero and the outcome of the play is shadowed in doubt.

Martha Miller plays the role of Mrs. Malaprop; Jess Coffe, the part of Bob Acres; Arthur Curran, the part of Captain Absolute; Neil Smith, the part of Sir Lucius O'Trigger; and Louise Sawyer, the part of Lydia Languish.

Tickets for all the plays are 75 cents and may be secured at the Ross P. Curcio music store. Center sections and the entire first eight rows downstairs have been sold for all five nights.

NAME COMMITTEES FOR INTERNAT'L UNI. NIGHT

Cosmopolitan Club Announces
Plans for Varied Program
April 5.

Committees for the first International University night, scheduled for April 5 under the auspices of the Cosmopolitan Club, were announced this morning by the executive committee. They include several representatives from most of the campus organizations, fraternities and societies. The program of stunts now includes about eight nationalities. Many of the costumes have arrived, and organized rehearsals are to commence this week. Keith Tyler is general chairman, Josephine Schramm is business manager, and Douglas Orr has been put in charge of publicity.

Skits are being arranged for as follows:

The Chinese skit is to include lantern slide views of China which will be explained by the members in their national costume. This skit was suggested by Dr. Y. Y. Tsu who visited the University recently.

"Chitra" by Tagore, a one-act play which has been highly recommended by Dean Buck, will be presented by the Hindu students.

Eight couples will take part in the German skit. Their program will include folk songs and dances. A touch of the Russian ballet is promised by Russian students in costume. They will give native dances and songs.

Home life in Japan is to be depicted, along with native songs and music, by the Japanese students.

The Filipino students are to present an original play in which a school boy is departing for America amidst the fairwell songs and well wishes of his friends. Costume dances form a part of the fairwell ceremony. Five years later he returns and is welcomed by his friends at a small gathering at his home. He tells them of his troubles and his successes in the task of getting an education and of his other experiences in America.

The general committee will meet Monday at 5 o'clock in Social Science 107 to consider arrangements for the new project. They are as follows:

Weather Forecast

Sunday—Partly cloudy, probably with snow. Not much change in temperature.

PRESENT DANCE DRAMA IN TEMPLE

Eighty Girls Directed by Donna Gustin Interpret Production.

The third annual Fete Dansant of the Womens Athletic Association, with eighty dancers, was given Friday evening in the Temple theater. The production was written and directed by Miss Donna Gustin. Bernice Ballance was student manager.

The program consisted of three parts. The first part, "The Gentlemanly Dancing Master," was the story of the maiden, Hippolita, who had fallen in love with her dancing master. Only the maid, Prunella, is in sympathy with her. Three dandies present themselves for Hippolita's favor to the delight of the father and aunt of the little sweetheart. In spite of all, love is triumphant.

The second part of the program represented a basketball game set to rhythm. This original number was realistically and artistically presented and was very enthusiastically received.

A Greek Revel pictured an old Greek festival in which Bacchus, Flora, Zephyrus and the Dryads, Horae, Niads, Satyrs, Muses, Bacchantes and Iris took part.

The costumes worn were striking and effective in the various parts. They were designed by Miss Pauline Campbell. The lighting effects were unusually pleasing.

Patrons and patronesses of the affair were: Miss Louise Pound, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Clapp, Miss Della Marie Clark, Mrs. Lonam Stott, Prof. and Mrs. R. D. Scott, Miss Winifred Hyde, Miss Lulu Mann, Miss Amanda Heppner, Prof. and Mrs. Paul Grummann, Miss Hazel O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Westover and Chancellor and Mrs. Avery. Miss Lucy Goll was the pianist.

STADIUM PLEDGES ARE DUE IN APRIL

Third Installments Called For;
May Publish 2nd Payment
Delinquents.

Third installments on stadium pledges will be due April 24. The committee in charge of pledge collections is making a strong effort to have all the second installments paid before April 15. Personal solicitation may be resorted to in order to make the collections.

Although the number of students who owe their second payments has been materially reduced, there still remains a substantial number of five-months overdue obligations. Four monthly statements have been sent to delinquent students and many have been interviewed in an attempt to collect.

The plan of publishing a list of students who have not paid their second installments is being considered. The committee feels that the students who have paid them have a right to know those who have not. If the idea is carried out, the list will be published about April 15.

PENNSYLVANIA—The seniors at Pen State expect to establish a precedent by adopting a "Blazer Coat" to be worn the last two weeks of school. The idea set forth is to adopt a sport coat with colors of the graduating class.

W. A. Selleck, candidate for congress, who will speak at convocation at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning.

KOSMET KLUB CAST BEGINS REHEARSALS

Cyril Coombs, Author, Directs
Production of "The Wishing Ring."

Regular rehearsals for "The Wishing Ring," 1924 Kosmet Klub play, will be held during the month remaining before presentation. There will be a three-day pause in the practices because of spring vacation.

No visitors will be allowed at future practices. All members of the cast and choruses have had some practices, and those in the first and second acts will alternate rehearsals. Cyril Coombs, author of the play, is directing the production.

The properties committee of the Klub, under the leadership of George Turner, has already contracted for some unusual scenery from Chicago and has negotiations under way for some elaborate stage settings to be designed especially for "The Wishing Ring."

Arthur Whitworth has been elected business manager of the play and is planning to have the ticket sales for the Orpheum performance of April 25 start on the first Tuesday after spring vacation, April 8. No reservations will be made before that date.

Publicity and advertising for the Kosmet show will be handled by the following committee of the Klub members: Herbert Brownell, Jr., chairman; Harry Burke, and Arthur Latta.

Whether or not "The Wishing Ring" will be produced in Omaha will be decided within a short time and definite announcement will be made after spring recess. Last spring the 1923 show was shown at the Brandeis Theater in Omaha on the night after the Lincoln performance. If the play is shown in Omaha again, it would probably come on April 26.

M. G. WYER ATTENDS MEETING IN EAST

Is Member of Committee to Study Library Training Schools.

Librarian Malcolm G. Wyer attended recently in New York a meeting of the Library Training Board, a committee of the American Library Association appointed last spring to study and classify library training schools and to formulate standards of library training.

The committee is composed of five prominent librarians. The other four members are: Adam Strohm, chairman, of the Detroit Public Library; Linda Eastman of the Cleveland Public Library; Andrew Keogh of the Library of Yale University; and R. W. Craver, librarian of the United Engineering Societies of New York.

In view of the extreme value of the work on which the committee is engaged the Carnegie Corporation has appropriated $10,000 to cover the expenses of making the board's report to the next annual meeting of the Association in June. This report will be completed probably at the next meeting of the board in April.

At the library schools of the St. Louis Public Library and the Pratt Institute at Brooklyn, Librarian Wyer held conferences and investigated training methods. In New York state he visited his brother, J. I. Wyer, formerly librarian at the University of Nebraska, and now director of the New York State Library and in charge of the oldest library school in America.

Grummann to Talk on Art Today

Prof. Paul H. Grummann, director of the school of Fine Arts, will lecture at the art gallery today at 5 o'clock. Noted pictures from the Chicago Art Institute are being displayed at the exhibition.

Cap and Gown Booth to Run Another Week

The Cap and Gown committee will run the booth in the College Book Store one week longer, until spring vacation, for the benefit of those seniors who expect to graduate, but have not yet placed their order.

Every senior who takes part in the graduating exercises in the spring must have a cap and gown. Seniors who order now, and later find that they cannot graduate, will have their rental fee of $2.50 refunded.

Because of the great demand for caps and gowns, Nebraska's order must be in immediately to be sure of getting it filled in time for commencement. All orders must be in to the committee before spring vacation. Faculty members also should order their gowns now.

UNI. SPRING PARTY IS MERRY AFFAIR

Dancing and Games Take Place Amid Bright Decorations in Armory.

The last All-University mixer of the year, taking the form of a spring party, both in decorations and entertainment, broke out in hilarious merriment at 8:15 at the Armory last night and continued until 11:30. Preceding the dance, which formed the main part of the entertainment, "flower guessing" and "poetry matching" games were played, forming a get-acquainted stunt. Following this several selections were given by the girls' university octette.

During intermissions in dancing, fancy dance numbers were presented by members who had taken part in the Fete Dansant the previous night. This part of the entertainment was given by Roma Brown, Louise Wilsons, Thelma Uter, and Dorothy Orcutt.

The Armory was beautifully decorated with light-colored streamers of pastel shades, dividing the floor into three sections. All the decorations were in accordance with the spirit of spring. The music for the dance was furnished by the Louisiana Ragadors and refreshments were served following the dance.

Students May Join Geological Party

Dr. Carl Dunbar, noted paleontologist of Yale University, who has been engaged to make a detailed report of the fauna of the Pennsylvania formation of Nebraska for the state geological survey of the University, will return July 1. Several advanced students have requested to join the survey party, hoping to gain by association with the experience and knowledge of Dr. Dunbar.

Pfeiffer, professor of history at the University, and Mrs. Maurice Deutsch, A.B., attended the conference of the northwest-central section of the American Association of University women at Sioux City. Dr. Pfeiffer addressed the conference on "The Need of International Education," and Mrs. Deutsch spoke at the opening dinner on the work of the Nebraska branches.

FRAT TRACK MEET AGAIN POSTPONED

New Date Is Fixed for First
Friday After Spring Vacation.

The interfraternity track and field meet, announced to begin this Monday has been postponed to the first Friday after spring vacation. The new date is final and the meet will be run, rain or shine. Coach Schulte said in announcing the change. The new outdoor cinder track will probably be ready for the meet then. The change was made so that the meet would not interfere with spring vacation. The date had to be set immediately after vacation so that the varsity team may use the track in preparation for the Kansas relays.

Fraternities that have not entered in the meet can make their entries this week. The conditions of the meet are the same as previously announced with the exception of the elimination of the 660-yard dash and the 12-pound shot put.

Time made by men in the meet will apply on track numerals. Twelve points are required to win a numeral. The requirements are listed in the athletic department office.
