MAY PUBLISH LIST.

Third payment on stadium pledges will be due April 24. There are still a number who have made no response to the appeals of the Nebraska Memorial Association that the second payments be made. A smaller number have never made even the first payment.

And now comes the news that the third installment is at hand. It is hoped that the third payments will be met on time. They are not so large as to work a hardship upon any student, and there is no reason why they should not be paid when due.

It may be that it will be necessary to publish a list of all students who have not met their payments promptly. This will not be done until about April 15, and it is regrettable that such a measure must be taken against the few who have neglected meeting this obligation.

Pay your pledges promptly.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON FOR RIFLE TEAM.

The University of Nebraska rifle team has just completed a very successful season. Forty-nine victories and only five defeats tells the story.

Last year the Huskers met twenty-three schools, twenty of whom won from Nebraska. So this years performance is all the more remarkable when compared with the past years.

During the ten weeks of intercollegiate shooting over 10,000 rounds of ammunition were fired every week, with a total of over 100,000 rounds. The Nebraska allotment for the year from the war department is 200,000 rounds.

Capt. Huska, Capt. Eggers and Sergeant Richardson deserve a great deal of credit for the remarkable showing of the team and they were largely responsible for the excellent showing made by Nebraska against universities in every part of the country.

BACK YARD HABITS ON THE FRONT LAWN.

The Illinois campus is one of the most beautiful in the middle west. The shade trees planted on the prairie half a century ago, casting their shade on stately lawns, are a picture which can be duplicated in but few college towns. But those same magnificent shade trees shading mud flats strewn with cigaret butts would have little of the aesthetic about them.

It has long been an unwritten law on the campus that cigarets should vanish at the borders of the University, and that students on business bound should keep to the walks. Both of these traditions are being violated of late, to the detriment of campus appearances.

The question of cigaret smoking is a minor issue at this time. Cigaret butts undoubtedly disfigure the campus but far more damaging are the paths which are being torn in the turf by the feet of those who are in too great a hurry to keep to the walks. At the present time, when the ground is soft from thaws and rains, the corner cutting is little short of vandalism. Sod torn and scuffed up now will mean blank, bare spots by summer.

There has never been any "Keep Off" signs on campus lawns. There never should be, so long as the student body maintains the standards of decency and aesthetic appreciation which should be expected of college students. It is one thing to walk out across the South Campus on a sunny spring day. It is quite another to go tearing across the grass before the new Ag building, ripping up sod and

THE PRICE OF PEACE.

It appears that Charles Levermore, winner of the $50,000 Bok peace plan competition, is being pestered by a large number of "sucker-catchers" who are trying to relieve him of his money by selling him oil stock and kindred things. It seems to us that these "sure-thing" salesmen are overlooking a bet: Dr. Levermore only wrote the plan; it was Mr. Bok who paid the $50,000 for it.

The weather the last week inspired us to poetry. We called the verse "Halitosis, or the Breath of Spring." It was bad, so we won't publish it.

Speaking of verse, we had a poet friend in the east who went crazy trying to find a word that would rhyme with bootlegger.

At least we think that's what demented the poor begger.

We were complaining the other day that our hair was becoming thin and a friend suggested that we should start reading hair-raising stories. Odd! Just that morning we were boasting that we had never struck a woman.

It's surprising how often a picture of a "boudiorically" clad woman appears in advertisements. It doesn't seem to matter whether the manufacturer is selling automobiles, tooth paste or hosiery.

SOME THINGS WE NEVER EXPECT TO SEE.

- A sensational divorce case story on the back page of a newspaper.
- A motion picture play that is as good as its advertising.
- A Pi Phi by the name of Bridget O'Rielly.
- A risque book on mathematics.
- A kind-hearted traffic cop.
- A modest politician.
- A Ford limousine.
- 1998.

Since President Burton of Michigan University has told the world what is wrong with college students we are trying to conceal the fact that we attend a university.

Don't cry, mother—they lied to you! I am not a university student, I am only a bootlegger.

The English may be slow to see the point of a joke but we will bet that they would laugh their heads off at some of these American versions of English suits.

Extra wide trousers cover a multitude of shins.

It's astonishing how little some students read. Just a few days ago a fellow told us he didn't know the difference between the Democratic and Republican parties. We had supposed that everyone knew that the Democrats were represented by a mule and the Republicans by an elephant.

widening an already too wide path of mud. But unless the latter custom stops, it may be necessary to prohibit the former. Illinois students should look with pride on a set of rules would place them on the same mental plane with a group of children playing in Lincoln park.

The Best Business Career

is what every ambitious college student and senior is thinking about at the present time. Life insurance is one of the best, one of the most desirable, and one of the most satisfactory as a permanent calling.

In assets and volume of business, life insurance is one of the three leading businesses of this country, yet the field is comparatively undeveloped. Only seven per cent of the economic value of all lives in United States is covered by insurance. This gives you an idea of the big field still to be developed.

As to REMUNERATION, reports of college graduates who have entered business indicate that life insurance is at the VERY TOP as a SOURCE OF INCOME. Now is the time to consider what you are going to do at the end of the semester.

If you are ambitious and willing to work hard and are interested to know about life insurance as a vocation, address the LINCOLN LIBERTY LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, Lincoln, Nebraska, or call in person at 305 Ganter Building, 12th and O Streets.
