By Author of 1923 Show.

"The Wishing Ring" is a musical extravaganza in three acts written by Cyril Coombs, author of the 1923 Kosmet show, "The Yellow Lantern." It contains a cast of 20 students including some of the best dramatic and musical talent of the University. The chorus of over 50 co-eds and men is made up of popular and pretty girls and men who have taken part in many of Lincoln's home-talent shows.

"The Wishing Ring" is an all-University production. The author of the book, lyrics and music of the eight scenes of the show was graduated from the Law College last spring and is a member of the Kosmet Klub. His play was accepted by the Klub members in competition for the prize offered for the best original play. All the members of the cast and choruses are University students.

Included in the cast are Miss Marguerite Mungler, Miss Donna Gustin, Ward Wray, Lewellen Hawley, and Orville Andrews. The complete cast and choruses will be announced Sunday.

R. O. T. C. Holds First Parade

The first of the series of R. O. T. C. parades was held Thursday afternoon. The first call was at 4:50 and assembly at 5 o'clock. All cadets were required to be present unless they were properly excused. This was a practice parade and was not in honor of anyone.

The regiment formed on the north side of the drill field and marched past the reviewing officers who were stationed on the south side of the field.

According to Major Erickson, parade will be held in the future in honor of such people as the Chancellor and the Honorary Colonel.

Gaines Speaks at Ag Club Meeting

At the regular Ag Club meeting which was held at the Dairy building Wednesday evening, N. W. Gaines, of the extension department, gave a talk emphasizing the purpose of the Farmers fair and its value as an advertisement to the College of Agriculture.

Elton Lux, manager of last year's fair, told of the progress made this year in comparison to that of previous years. Burton F. Kiltz gave an amusing impersonation of an old German farmer's experience with cats.

Will Sell Copies of Popular Songs of "The Wishing Ring" at Theater

Several of the most popular songs in the 1924 Kosmet Klub musical comedy, "The Wishing Ring" are being printed by Cyril Coombs, author of the show, and will be sold at the Orpheum theater on May 2, the evening of the Lincoln production.

Mr. Coombs combined the songs of his 1923 play into a booklet which he sold at the performance last spring. This year, however, he will print each song separately so that students may buy just the songs which they like best. It is expected that this plan will prove more popular. The songs will also be sold at the Gaiety theater in Omaha on the night of the show there, May 3. Among the song hits which Mr. Coombs is publishing this year is "The Wishing Ring," which was played for the first time at the Pan-Hellenic formal at the Scottish Rite Temple. Other songs to be offered to patrons of the 1924 show are, "Honey Dear I Love You All Day Long," "In Society," and "When I Waltz With You."

Mr. Coombs is author of all the songs in "The Wishing Ring" and he has been coaching the choruses and principals who sing them in the comedy. Practices are being held each evening from now until the play is given, May 2.

ELECTRICAL DIRECTOR SPEAKS TO ENGINEERS

Manager of Light Association Presents Survey Talk at Convocation.

"A Survey of the Electrical Industry" was the subject upon which M. H. Aylesworth, managing director of the National Electric Light Association, addressed the students of the College of Engineering at a special convocation held yesterday morning.

Mr. Aylesworth presented figures to illustrate the growth of the electrical industry which has multiplied twenty-five fold in the last twenty years. He asserted that a beginning has scarcely been made as yet compared to what will be made in the future in this field. The promptness with which service can be obtained to carry sudden demands upon electrical systems was illustrated in New York City recently, he said, when a sudden non-day storm clouded the city of New York and combined the demands upon the electrical lighting system of both the normal industrial power day load and the night lighting load. Within a few minutes the load had doubled. This demand was met promptly through an inter-connection between the New York Edison company and the Brooklyn Edison company.

Electricity on Farm.

The speaker informed the students of a recent development in the electrical industry, being a study that is being undertaken to evaluate the use of electricity on the farm. Several states, he said, have organized projects that will actually provide for the installation of electrical plants and will operate them for several years for the sake of getting information. Nebraska is contemplating such a project at the present time.

At the end of his address, Mr. Aylesworth pointed out the advantage that a man is given because of a technical engineering training if he goes into the managerial side of these industries. He further emphasized the need of more technical men in the business side of the industry.

Mr. Aylesworth also gave a short address before the Knife and Fork club at the Chamber of Commerce last night at a regular meeting. From here he goes to Kansas City.

Minnesota—Six-hundred students will participate in an all-University circus May 16 and 17, the first in nine years.

FIVE HUNDRED AGS HEAR SHERWOOD EDDY

Student Leader Declares Co-operation Among Farmers Needed.

Nearly 500 students heard the address by Sherwood Eddy at the Agricultural hall at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. All seats were taken early and standing room was taken by the time the address started. Dean Burnett presided over the meeting. Dr. Eddy outlined rural conditions and also social conditions as he found it in his travels of the world.

Co-operation was emphasized by Dr. Eddy as the most urgent need for the American people and especially for the farmers. He cited, as an example, Denmark as it is today. He stated that 90 per cent of the Denmark farmers own their own farms. All of their marketing and buying began this practice of co-operating to buy and sell directly, big business controlled them, and they were a dissatisfied class.

"Denmark's schools, railroads, government, and all big business is directly in charge of the people," said Dr. Eddy.

He also cited how twenty-eight poor weavers in England, who were falling at their business, founded a co-operative society. Each man put

PLAYERS WIN APPRECIATION

Present "Dulcy" at Temple; Gertrude Moran Takes Title Role.

SUPPORTING CAST IS SATISFYING

With continuous chatter in a pained effort to make everyone happy, Gertrude Moran won generous applause in the title role of "Dulcy" presented by the University Players last evening in the Temple Theater. Hart Jenks as C. Roger Forbes, big business man, Edward Taylor as Vincent Leach, a "scenarist," and Dwight Merriam as Schuler Van Dyck, the almost multi-millionaire, presented a strong support. Harold Felton as William Parker, the brother of Dulcy, added the practical touch.

Orville Andrews took the part of Gordon Smith, Dulcy's husband, Dolores Bosse of Mrs. Forbes, Martha Dudley of Angela Forbes, Foster Matchett of Tom Sterrett, an advertising manager, David Lindstrom appeared as Blair Patterson, an attorney, and Darrell Storms as Henry, a butler with a cloudy past.

Attempts to Transact Business

Dulcy's husband's vain attempts to transact business with Mr. Forbes were the basis of the plot. Dulcy did her best to help him, but, in her own words, "I just think I think."

When Vincent Leach, smitten with his own wonderful ability as a scenarist, consented to Dulcy's urgent request to speak his latest super-drama, while Van Dyck played appropriate music on the piano, Mr. Forbes found the climax of the worst evening he ever spent. The poetically lifted soul of the writer led him to gesture too widely and he smote the business man on the cheek.

Never to Interfere.

With everything in a mess, Gordon Smith drew from his wife a promise never again to interfere in his business affairs. She did, and then tried to straighten out the harm she had done. Of course, she made it worse. Her brother brought in the happy ending when he helped Angela to elope with the scenarist, but took the place of the groom himself.

"Dulcy" is a three-act comedy by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly. Friday evening, Saturday matinee, and Saturday evening performances will be given.

BERGE RETURNS FROM STUDENT CONFERENCE

Will Write Series of Articles on Proceedings of Meetings.

Wendell Berge returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., where he attended the Student Citizenship conference sponsored by a committee of 1000 of the law enforcement movement. The subject under discussion was "Law Enforcement" with special emphasis on the eighteenth amendment. Mr. Berge will write a series of articles on the proceedings of the conference for the Daily Nebraskan. The first will be published Sunday.

Saturday night he spoke at a banquet which was attended by 400 persons, 100 of whom were citizens of Washington and government officials. The toasts at the banquet were supplemented by college yells. Mr. Berge gave "No. 1" alone.

The following day Mr. Berge visited places of interest around the city. The Washington monument, the Concoran art gallery, the Lincoln memorial, the Congressional library, and the White House were among them. President Coolidge received the group on the steps of the White House and had his picture taken with them. The treasury vault was also visited where Mr. Berge fanned himself with two and a quarter million dollars.

At Bethlehem chapel on Mount St. Albans was found the crypt in which President Wilson was buried. A $14,000,000 Cathedral is being built over the little chapel. Arlington cemetery was next visited and there tribute was paid to the unknown soldier.

Mr. Berge represented the most western state in the group.

Weather Forecast

Friday and Saturday—Fair with moderate temperature.

A. T. O. WILL RECEIVE FIRST NORRIS CUP

Interfrat Winners to Hold Prize as Permanent Possession.

Through an error in the name on the interfraternity track score board, Kinney of Phi Delta Theta was not credited with 840 points. This places him third highest individual point winner with a total of 4,153.

Alpha Tau Omega, winner of the annual indoor interfraternity track meet, will receive the first Norris cup to be given at Nebraska. This cup is awarded by the president of the Norris Candy Company of Atlanta, Ga., through their representative in Lincoln, the Sun Drug Company. It will remain the permanent possession of the A. T. O. as a new cup will be awarded next year to the winner.

Mr. Norris has given loving cups to the fraternity winning the track meet at several schools in the south. The Universities of Kansas, Missouri and Iowa have also been put on his list. The cup is of silver and is engraved according to the wishes of the winner.

The award will be on exhibition at the Sun Drug store for several days before it is given to its owners. It will arrive from Atlanta as soon as the engraving is finished.

EDDY TELLS FIVE MAIN ESSENTIALS

Student Leader Names Fundamental Concepts of Christian Belief.

INSPIRED WORD OF GOD COMES FIRST

PROGRAM FRIDAY.

11:00—Final morning address, Welch Pogue presiding.

Afternoon—Conferences.

7:15—Closing address, Josephine Schramek presiding.

"The five great basic fundamentals that I find every Christian striving passionately to preserve, and in which he firmly believes are: First, the inspired word of God; second, Jesus' way of living; third, a living, divine Christ giving eternal life; fourth, the eternal principle of sacrifice; fifth, love, consummated in the coming of the kingdom of God," said Dr. Eddy last night in his talk on "The Faith of Honest Doubt."

"There are other questions," he continued, "considered by some to be fundamental, but I do not find them so. The test I apply for proof of their basic character is, first, whether or not Christ was concerned with the question at hand; second, whether or not it is central to my religious experience; third, whether or not the case in hand is capable of verification, for if it cannot be proved it can have no bearing on the case."

Bible Not Perfected.

"The Bible seems to me to be a gradual progressive revelation rather than a work perfected, infallible and with every word recorded accurately and exactly. That is the explanation for the fact that we find things contradictory to the teachings in the old and new Testament, and yet which have been made to serve as excuses for many evil practices."

"I do not try to reconcile the story of the creation, as it is presented in the Bible, with the theory of evolution. I come to the Bible to find spiritual truth, and to find out how I can gain eternal life, but not for facts of science. There can be no contradiction between true science and true religion, for they are on entirely different planes."

Gives Proof of God.

In answer to a question more commonly asked him than any other, in regard to his proof for the existence of a God, Dr. Eddy replied, "I know I am—I think, therefore I am. I know the difference between right and wrong, and I know that there are imperative reasons for my doing right. I know that other men testify that by doing right they can find God. I know I ought to test their statements, and see if I also can find God. Obedience is as condition of knowledge in both religious and scientific life. If any man will do, then he will know. If he will not do, he will not know."

Honesty, moral, earnestness, and purity were discussed by Dr. Eddy in his Thursday morning address at 11 o'clock at St. Paul church. The main auditorium of the church and part of the balconies were filled with students in spite of the fact that no classes were dismissed for the meeting. Kenneth Cozier, '24, introduced Dr. Eddy, and the invocation was given by Dr. Walter Aitken, pastor of St. Paul church.

Christianity will be presented by Dr. Eddy this morning at 11 o'clock and tonight at 7:15 as the solution to the problems which he has been suggesting.

Dr. Eddy began by citing the small percentage of moral leaders among the American people as indicated by the army tests. Insurance company statistics, he said, show that after 40 years, out of 100 college graduates taken at the age of 25, 36 will be dead, 54 will be financially dependent, 5 will be earning their own living, 4 will be well-to-do, and 1 will be rich.

Creighton—Creighton University Night Law School which has existed for more than twenty years is to be discontinued and no new students admitted. Owing to the ruling of the Association of Law Schools that only those schools requiring two years preliminary college work can rank in Class A division officials have decided to discontinue the night course in order to maintain their former standards.
