FINAL RELAY TRYOUTS HELD THIS AFTERNOON

Regular Schedule of Events for Tuesday Matinee Will Be Followed.
 Final tryouts for the Cornhusker track team making the trip to the Drake relays will be held this afternoon on the new quarter-cinder path in the stadium. The regular schedule of events for the Tuesday afternoon matinee will be followed, and all athletes expecting to try out must report on time.
 Several records for the Cornhusker oval may be shattered this afternoon as a result of the improvement made on the straightaway yesterday by the track men armed with rakes working over the surface of the track. All the heavier cinders were removed, and only the red surface of fine soft coal ashes remains for the top dressing.
 The Fordson tractor which will be used to keep the track in condition was being used on the track for the first time yesterday, and it worked wonders with the condition of the surface of the oval in short time. The pole vaulting, broad jumping, and high jumping pits are rapidly being prepared and the next few days will see the outdoor track equipment ready to handle the Cornhusker track team.
 Coach Schulte is now able and willing to handle any number of men who wish to report for track. During the indoor season, the lack of facilities made it impossible to handle more than a limited number of track aspirants.

LOVABLE TOM WISE.
 The Subtle Quality that Gives Greatness to a Unique Portrayal.
 Tom Wise, who is about to disclose to us the many lovable qualities of the famous Clem Hamley, hero of Don Marquis' unique comedy called "The Old Soak," is, without question, the most popular player of the time. This with reference to his personal friendships—his professional ones having to do with the public, speak for themselves.

 During all the five crowded months of the reign of "The Old Soak" in Chicago, Mr. Wise was called upon almost every day to deliver an address to some body of drama-lovers, or of dramatic-students; to lend his cheery presence to some important public luncheon; to speak to a goodly group of high-school boys and girls—or to join importantly in one of the many other functions that bespeak the greatness of a city. And because Tom Wise loves "folks" as he is beloved of myriad more "folks," he has yet to refuse to appear, regardless of the consequences to himself.

 And it is this lovable personal quality, according to producer Arthur Hopkins himself, that makes the performance of "The Old Soak" so rich and rare a treat; that gives to this hilarious play the charm and appeal and winsomeness that make it great.—adv.
