PURPOSE OF THE CONCERT.
It is the duty of every student in the University to get behind the concert that is to be given in the stadium Wednesday and do everything possible to make it a success.

A great deal depends on the measure of success with which this enterprise is received.
This concert demonstrates another use for the stadium. It shows that the structure is not for athletic purposes only. It proves that the stadium can be used for many events besides athletics.

Students are offered a rare privilege by being given an opportunity to hear the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, one of the premier organizations of its kind in the country, and at a price far below that usually charged for admission, this being made possible by the large seating capacity of the stadium.

Some friends of the University out through the state have been skeptical of the wisdom of erecting this stadium, and one of the arguments that has been advanced is that it is foolish to put so much money into a structure devoted solely to athletic purposes.

As most of the students know, many other events are held in the stadium. It is the plan of the authorities to work out a program of usefulness for the stadium, that not one cent of the money spent on it will be wanted.

Every student in the University should plan to hear this orchestra. You will hear one of the best musical organizations in the country. You will hear the University chorus, a wonderful organization with a fine history.

You are not being asked to make a contribution. You are merely being requested to go to hear a wonderful program at a rate that is far below that charged in other places. And at the same time you will be rendering a service to the school for if this first venture is a success, this May festival will be an annual event, and a standing challenge to those who have opposed the erection of the stadium on the ground that it is for athletics only.
Go to the concert.

Student Opinion.

AGAINST TEAS.

To the Editor:
The posters advertising women's teas, May breakfasts, dances, and the columns in the school paper devoted to their athletic activities that amount to nothing, to their self-government organizations, and their Christian association lead me to call for an organized crusade among the men to abandon the pernicious system of co-education.

Modern civilization and the modern method of intensive study are enough to make the coming generations effeminate without deluging the campus with "teas" and "breakfasts."

University organizations should not be permitted to give benefit dances without a worthy cause.

The so-called Christian associations spends its time and part of its money it collects from many poor students in serving ices and lollypops at "kid parties." The remainder of its funds it sends to the poor Chinese who are really better off than Nebraskans—for they have no co-education in China. (At least it is not prevalent there.)

One of the better-known philosophy professors on the Nebraska campus, remarked recently that one feature of co-education was its excellent service to the state as a matrimonial bureau. If may seem strange to some of the students that many of us come to University not to get married, but to secure an "education." (That is, the men do.)

RAG CARPET

I dare not be too long alone
Lest I awake and find me gone!

Sufficient time has elapsed; you may now dig up the clothes which were sprayed with Cornhusker lilac perfume.

She: How can you? Papa said he'd kill the first boy who kissed me!
He: And did he?

RAG CARPET APOLOGY—OR WORSE.
Short sleeves all remind us

At the University of Michigan, for example, the men have asserted their rights and refuse to take co-eds to their parties.

Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Oxford, Cambridge—none of these have co-education. Yet, they are famous. Students flock to them—because they wish to learn.

Let the women go to their boarding schools, and hold their teas there. Then they can enjoy themselves being catty and snobbish. Some mening catty and snobbish. Some men them are incited to it by the social extravagant life brought by the women.

B. C. and A. D.
A POT SHOT AT MEN'S HONORARIES.

To the Editor:
I read the scathing denunciation of the Silver Serpents, Xi Delta and Mystic Fish in the Daily Nebraskan and agree with it in part. They seem to be very unnecessary and useless organizations, but then are they any worse than the Green Goblins, Iron Sphinx and Vikings that the men kid themselves with.

I think that the whole group of honorary organizations are the bunk. The way that they are conducted here at Nebraska, they are not honorary in any sense of the word, but seem to be just interfraternity clubs. They may be useful when ushers are needed for special University events, but it seems that we could get ushers without having to put up with a group of honorary organizations, that never do anything and that serve no useful purpose.

The Iron Sphinx are noted for the atrocious initiation that they have. It is the worst remnant of old days and it is a wonder that some initiates have not received serious bodily injury before now, if all the tales one hears about this initiation are true.

I admit that the girl's organizations are rather useless, but if they should be abolished, so should the Iron Sphinx, Vikings and Green Goblins.

THE STUDY OF RADICAL CONDITIONS.
(Daily Illini)

Eighteen professors from thirteen of the largest white colleges and universities of Texas met recently in Austin, Texas to lay plans for promoting the study of race relations in the higher educational institutions of the state. It was found that such courses are now being given in a number of Texas colleges and that they are popular with the students. The educators gathered there recommended that such courses be introduced into all the colleges of the state, and that graduate students be encouraged to undertake special research in this field.

The situation between the white and negro students at the University of Illinois is wholesome but there are many problems that are far from being solved. The average student at the University is sublimely ignorant of these conditions and is quite surprised when informed of them. Ignorance is the big evil that must be fought.

There is little use of denying the presence of a race problem in America. It is here and bound to become an open sore if efforts are not constantly made in the other direction. True the general situation is touched upon in certain courses in the University but these, like many others are not practical and serve not a whit in the solution of our local problems. Some steps similar to those under way in Texas would certainly prove valuable here if they would accomplish nothing more than to shake us out of our ignorance and make us aware of the problem that is facing us.

Spring is in our midst.
Water marks remind us
To wash above the wrist.

Why do raindrops haunt me,
Taunt me, flaunt me?
Ghosts of borrowed umbrellas.

I am the voice of midnight
That utters a piercing groan
As I search for it and stumble
As I reach for the telephone.

I dare not be too long alone
Lest I awake and find me gone!
