UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, SUNDAY, MAY 25, 1924

PRICE 5 CENTS

WILL DISTRIBUTE YEARBOOK TODAY

Distribution Will Start at 10 O'Clock at Administration Building.

ASK STUDENTS TO BRING RECEIPTS

At 10 o'clock Monday morning the "Cornhusker of Progress" will be ready for distribution in the southwest corner room in the basement of the Administration building.

Students who have made their payments on the yearbook are asked to bring receipts to the office so that time will be saved and the amounts can be easily looked up. The price of the annual has been reduced to $4 so that students who paid the full first price will be refunded 50 cents. Those who made their part payment will pay $1.50 when they get the book.

About 150 extra copies have been ordered by the business manager and students wishing them should speak for them as soon as possible. No more copies will be printed.

Say Standard Is High.

The Cornhusker this year is the best that has ever been published, according to members of the staff who have seen advance issues. It is declared to be on the level with any annual in the country. Representatives of the Bureau of Engraving and the Warren Paper company who have seen all the great yearbooks in the country say that the book is high above the standard of other annuals.

The book will be entered in competition in the yearbook contest conducted by the Artcraft Guild, a group of great engravers. It will compete with such publications as the Annapolis "Lucky Bag," Wisconsin "Badger" and Minnesota "Gopher."

It gives a review of the school year at Nebraska combined with a complete history of the University and of every organization in the school, including the founding, duties and activities of each. The representative Nebraskan section containing the pictures of five senior men and five senior women elected by the student body this spring will be especially interesting. The student life section will expose shortcomings of persons on the campus.

"The book is bigger and better than ever before," says David G. Richardson, business manager of the publication. "It is a great deal larger than books of previous years and is much more beautiful."

Minnesota—The University Circus drew a crowd of 30,000 spectators to the University of Minnesota campus recently held there.

HUSKERS CAPTURE VALLEY TRACK TITLE FOURTH CONSECUTIVE TIME

Friday Morning Rain Softens Cinders and Prevents Breaking of Track Marks; Riley, Former Kansas Aggie Athlete, Equals World Record in Hurdles.

FIVE VALLEY RECORDS IN FIELD EVENTS BROKEN

Amassing a total of 48 3-4 points against a field of 264 picked athletes of the Missouri Valley, Husker men yesterday won the Missouri Valley conference track and field championship for the fourth consecutive time. Washington second with 21 1-2 points; Grinnell was third with 20; Kansas was fourth with 17 1-4 points.

Five Missouri Valley conference field event records were broken. A heavy rain Friday morning made the track soft and the expected breaking of track records was not realized. Riley, running a special exhibition 400 meter hurdle race, equalled the world record in this Olympic event.

The feature races of the meet were the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes both won by Roland Locke of Nebraska who finished each time only a few inches ahead of "Red" Erwin of Kansas Aggies. In three previous races of the two this year, Erwin was winner every time.

The Husker mile relay team which won first place in this event lowered the old Nebraska varsity record one second. The time made in the meet was 3:23 4-5.

The new Valley javelin-throw mark established in the meet by Cox of Oklahoma was the greatest record breaker of the five field events in which new conference marks were set up. The new distance of 191 feet 3 3-4 inches set by Cox is 12 feet longer than the old record.

Poor Sets New Height. Poor of Kansas bettered his Valley record mark of last year in the high jump when he cleared the bar at 6 feet 3 1-8 inches.

MANY SEE MILITARY SHOW DESPITE COLD

Spectators Fill Grandstand to View Artillery and Cavalry Exhibitions.

Although the weather was disagreeably cold and the field was damp and soggy, the military events staged at the Fair grounds Friday drew a crowd that packed the large grandstand and filled the parade in front. On account of the muddy condition of the track some of the events were not staged.

Every military unit in the city and the visiting units of cavalry and field artillery took part in the large military demonstration which passed in review before Brigadier General Dorray, Mayor Zehrung, and representatives of the military organizations of the state in the noon parade.

At 2:30 the three bands—the York National Guard, Crete and the R. O. T. C.—gave concerts in the grandstand at the Fair grounds. This was followed by a short drill by the Pershing Rifles, demonstrating the Lentz cadence system and giving an exhibition of cross-order drill. The men were handicapped by the muddy race track.

Display Fancy Riding. The field artillery, coming on the field headed by the standard bearer—gave demonstrations of fast driving with six-team carriages and an exhibition of procedure when in action.

The three-inch howitzers blazed forth with blank ammunition. The cavalry followed the field artillery with exhibits of fancy riding, hurdlng, charging, and formations. This display attracted some of the most favorable comment of the exhibit—the captain, J. White, adding that most of the men were but rookies in the cavalry service.

Before the program was completed, the grandstand proved to be too cold for the majority of the people and they were forced to leave. Company L of the cadet regiment, commanded by John Westermann, gave a demonstration of two infantry platoons in attack with the aid of the special weapons.

The squadron of plans, headed by Major Tinker, were forced to abandon their part of the program on account of the weather. They gave some exhibits of battle formations Saturday and will give other demonstrations at the flying field today.
