FRESHMAN CAPS APPEAR AGAIN

Iron Sphinx Report Large Sale of Freshman Headgear.

SLIPS NOT NECESSARY FOR THEIR PURCHASE

New-style green caps appeared on the campus Friday. The Iron Sphinx already report a large sale of tickets. The slips entitle the bearer to one cap at the Farquhar Clothing Company, 1325 O street, and may be purchased for 75 cents. Students unable to get tickets from Sphinx members can get caps directly from the clothing store.

Farquhar's reported a sale of about five hundred yesterday, and said they expected to sell that many more before October 1, the dead-line. Only 720 are on hand now, but more will be ordered as the supply runs low. Magree's last year sold 1,000 in a short time.

The Iron Sphinx, sophomore men's organization, not only is in charge of the sale, but will also enforce the wearing of the green until the Olympics in November. Raymond Swallow is chairman of the Innocents committee on green caps. Their caps by Tuesday morning and "Freshmen are requested to get wear them at the initiation at that time. This co-operation on the part of the first-year men will add to the success of the event, and will assure the proper spirit among the freshmen," said Wendell Berge, president of the Innocents.

It was organized in 1914 by Professor Alice Howell, who is now head of the department. Plays and entertainments are presented during the college year. The program for the year is as follows:

100 WOMEN ATTEND FRESHMAN WALKOUT

Visit Buildings on University Campus and Eat at Ellen Smith Hall.

One hundred freshman women attended the annual freshman walkout under the Freshman Commission Saturday morning. Every building on the campus was visited and general information concerning each was given by Ruth Carpenter. Agnes Kesler, president of the Y. W. C. A., gave a short talk.

The group met at 10 o'clock at Twelfth and R streets with members in charge. Special emphasis was by last year's Freshman Commission placed on the proper use of the library. After visiting the stadium the walkout proceeded to the Ellen Smith Hall where refreshments were served by the Senior Advisory Board. Nebraska's songs and yells closed the program.

PLAN PARTIES FOR FIRST-YEAR WOMEN

Husks and Kernels Invite All Freshman Women to Two Parties.

An afternoon "kid" party and an evening "farmers" party will be given Saturday, September 27, by the Y. W. C. A. Husk and Kernels for freshman women. Invitations were given out during registration. Freshmen may choose the party they wish to attend.

Invitations, one of which has been given to every new girl, are printed in red on small white cards with red borders. For "kid" party, the Husks issued the following invitation: "Won't you please dress up like a little girl, wear your hair in a bob or a curl then come over to my house to play. I'll show you a time quite jolly and gay."

Cards for the "farmers" party in the evening which will be given by the Kernels read as follows: "Farmer Perkins and his wife invite you to have the time of your life. At the old homestead on Saturday night, on the front gate-post you'll find a light. Wear your gingham and calicoes, checkered aprons and cotton hose."

The Husks and Kernels are organizations of the Y. W. C. A. membership body which were started last year. Plans for the future are to have every member identified with one group. Upperclasswomen are also invited to the Saturday parties. The membership committee is in charge of arrangements for Saturday. Betty Langworthy is chairman of the "kid" party and Margaret Dunlap of the "farmers party." The social committee under the direction of Marguerite Forsell will cooperate.

ANNUAL REGISTRATION INCREASE IS NORMAL

Two Hundred More Than Last Year's Total Come to Nebraska University.

An increase of 204 students over last year was shown by registration figures given out yesterday from Chancellor Avery's office. In 1923 the number registered at the same period was 4,894; this year it is 5,098, which is said to be a normal rate of increase.

This figure does not include the schools of agriculture, which are connected with the University, nor the College of Medicine at Omaha, where the number registered last year was 387. Since facilities limit students in Omaha, the number will be approximately the same this year. The Graduate College roll is not complete, because graduate students are not required to register within the regular period.

Students with previous experience on college, high school, or city newspapers are especially urged to apply.

New Course Replaces Study of "The Epic"

The course in Comparative Literature announced in the spring under the title "The Epic" has been withdrawn. In its place, and with the same calendar number, is offered a course in world literature. This will be a survey in translation of representative works of the chief European nations, from the time of the early Greeks to the present, with the double object of introducing the student to the masters of poetry and prose, and of studying the gradual development of European culture.

The work of the first semester is planned to cover the period between early Greece and Renaissance England. In brief the course aims to be a complement to the general survey of European history as given in most universities.

NEBRASKAN TO HOLD CAMPAIGN

Sorority members will begin a campaign Monday morning for subscribers to The Daily Nebraskan in an attempt to secure the prize awarded for the greatest number of subscriptions sold. The business management of The Daily Nebraskan is offering the sorority selling the largest number of subscriptions The Daily Nebraskan free for one year.

This morning, order books were sent to the sororities. Subscriptions will be taken until next Thursday and at that time the sorority standing first will be awarded the prize. Standings will be figured each evening and published in The Nebraskan the next morning. The Business Manager is requesting that sorority members check in every evening so that the standings will be complete.

A group picture of the winning sorority also will be published in The Nebraskan after the close of the contest. As The Nebraskan is sent to all the leading colleges in the country, all the high schools in Nebraska, and to a large number of alumni, the business management feels that the publicity received by the winner will also be sufficient reward.

NEBRASKAN IS LARGER.

New equipment has been installed in The Daily Nebraskan office, making it possible to publish a seven-column paper. The paper will be a column wider than last year and the additional space will be used largely for news matter.

Notwithstanding the increase in size the prices this year will be the same as in previous years. Student and local subscriptions will cost $2 a year or $1.25 a semester. Mail subscriptions will cost $3 a year.

The campaign will be directed from a central booth located between University Hall and Grant Memorial Hall. Tables will be placed in University Hall, Social Science, and the Library. Barbara Wiggenhorn is chairman of the committee that will direct the sororities in the campaign.

A year's subscription will count 10 points and a semester's subscription 3 points for the sorority securing it. The sorority having the most points Thursday evening will be awarded the prize.
