

AWARDS OPEN TO STUDENTS

Faculty Women Base Scholarship on School Activity and Self-support.

ONLY WOMEN ELIGIBLE ACCORDING TO RULES

Applications for scholarships for the year 1924-1925 will be received until October 6 by the scholarship committee of the Lincoln branch of the American Association of University Women by whom $200 is annually awarded in scholarship gifts. Sophomore, junior and senior women are eligible.

Those who applied in the spring need not make further application as their names will be considered. The award is based upon financial independence, scholarship and interest in school activities.

Because of the small number of applicants who were eligible to receive the gift when the committee met to make the award this fall it was decided to make a second call for applications. A number of women who applied in the spring are unable to be in school this year. Miss Gertrude Jones is chairman of the scholarship committee.

Rules governing the awards follow:

An applicant must be in her sophomore, junior or senior year at the date of her application.

An applicant must have been and be wholly or in part, self-supporting.

An applicant must be a regularly enrolled student in the University of Nebraska. She must be in good standing at the time of her application.

An applicant must have a high scholarship and she must have some interest in general college activities.

Each applicant must fill out one of the regular application blanks which may be obtained from Dean Amanda Heppner or from the chairman of the scholarship committee, Miss Gertrude Jones, 2427 P Street, Lincoln.

Each applicant must furnish five references. Three of these should be from persons on the campus; the other two from persons not connected with the University. The Dean of Women will always be used as reference so her name should not be given. An official transcript of grades must accompany the application. The applicant should make arrangements with the persons whose names are given as references to send their recommendations to Miss Gertrude Jones, 2427 P Street, Lincoln, by October 6, 1924. Applications will not be considered by the committee unless these requests are completed with.

Three scholarships are offered, all of which are gifts. One scholarship of $100 is offered to a sophomore or junior girl. A second scholarship of $50 is offered to a sophomore or junior girl. A third scholarship of $50 is offered to a senior girl. The scholarships will be paid in two installments, half the amount the first semester, and half the second semester.

All applications for the year 1924-25, together with the transcript of grades must reach the chairman of the committee by October 6, 1924. Each applicant should arrange for a personal conference with the chairman of the committee, Miss Gertrude Jones, 2427 P Street, telephone L7426.

Those who made application for the scholarships in June need not make application at this time as their applications are already on file and will receive consideration.

Professor Wyer has been librarian at the University of Nebraska library for eleven years. Before he came to Nebraska he was librarian at the University of Iowa, being a member of the Iowa Library Commission. He is now a member of the American Library Association and of the Bibliographical Society of America.

Professor Wyer was a member of the Temporary Library Training Board appointed two years ago by the American Library Association to investigate library training schools. He was also a member of the Permanent Library Training Board appointed at the meeting of the American Library Association held this summer.

THETA HIGH IN TUESDAY DRIVE

Reaches Second Place by Getting Most Subscriptions on Second Day.

PI PHI KEEPS LEAD FOR FIRST TWO DAYS

Kappa Alpha Theta secured the largest number of subscriptions for The Daily Nebraskan in the contest between the sororities on the campus in Tuesday's competition. Although they did not begin until noon of the first day, they landed in second place for the two days of the campaign, overtopping the Delta Gamma sales by a narrow margin. The Alpha Delta Theta sorority neared the sales of both Delta Gamma and Theta.

Pi Beta Phi retained the hold on first place, in spite of the large number of sales by the Theta's. The standings, as figured by the business management late Tuesday evening, are as follows:

- Pi Beta Phi
- Kappa Alpha Theta
- Delta Gamma
- Alpha Delta Theta
- Alpha Chi Omega
- Alpha Omicron Pi
- Phi Omega Pi
- Alpha Xi Delta
- Alpha Delta Pi and Chi Omega, tied.
- Gamma Phi Beta.
- Kappa Kappa Gamma
- Sigma Kappa.

Although more sororities checked in their books Tuesday than on Monday, there is still a great deal of money that has not been turned in. The business management requests that in order that the standings may be figured as soon as possible following the closing of the campaign, all books be turned in at the business office of The Daily Nebraskan, University Hall 10B.

The contest will close Thursday noon instead of Thursday afternoon as previously announced. All subscriptions must be tabulated at the business office Thursday afternoon. No credit will be given for money turned in later than 6 o'clock on Thursday. The sorority winning the year's subscription delivered to the house, and the group picture which is to be published in The Daily Nebraskan, will be announced as soon as possible.

Beginning this morning The Daily Nebraskan is not being distributed from the University Postoffice, Station A, University Hall, without charge. From now on it will be necessary for subscribers to present their receipts at the window in order to receive their copy.

Less Than 300 N Books are Now Left

Less than three hundred N books are left at the Y. M. C. A. in the Temple and at the Y. W. C. A. in Ellen Smith Hall where they may be obtained free by freshmen who present the cards given them at registration. The book is being sold to upperclassmen for fifty cents.

It is much larger than last year and is bound in leather. It contains such important information as a complete calendar of important events, lists of fraternities, sororities and other campus organizations, an athletic section, and many other useful facts.

Alumni of the Nebraska chapter are planning to attend the meetings. Among the men who founded the fraternity are Verne Hedge, L. W. Chase, J. B. Davidson, head of the agricultural engineering department at Iowa State College, and H. R. Edwards.

The delegates will attend the Illinois-Nebraska football game and a banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Lincoln hotel. A smoker at the headquarters in the Temple is scheduled for the first night of the convolve and all local alumni are especially invited.

Anyone playing one of these instruments is requested to interview Mr. Quick soon.

Before returning to Lincoln she made an extended trip in the southern part of the United States, visiting the more important places of geographic interest.

DR. HYDE LECTURES TO FRESHMAN CLASS

Opens First Year Course With Regulation Army Group Examination.

Winifred F. Hyde, Ph. D., professor of psychology, had charge of the first of the freshman lectures for this semester in Social Science Auditorium Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. All first-year students registered in the College of Arts and Sciences are taking the course. While a regular lecture was not given at the opening meeting, the class was organized and an intelligence test was given the students.

The test was the one formerly given as an army group examination by the Bureau of Educational Measurements and Standards. Results of the examination will be announced soon. In years past, the College of Engineering has been in the lead in the test, with the Arts and Science college a close second.

Prof. E. E. Lackey, former professor of geography at the Wayne Normal College, has been added as associate professor of geography at the University of Nebraska. In 1919 he was professor of Geography in the A. E. F. Overseas University at Beauve, France. Professor Lackey is the author of a number of articles on geography namely the "Studies in the Principles of Geography" published by Rand McNally of Chicago, and is just completing with Professor Dodge of Connecticut a revision of a set of public school geographies used in this country.

He will have charge of the introductory courses in the Department and will give advanced courses in educational geography in which he has a national reputation.

Need Military Men To Usher at Games

More than two hundred upperclassmen are still needed to usher during the football games this fall. Men enrolled in the advanced courses of the military department will be given charge of sections of the Stadium. Sophomores will be given preference over freshmen in the other positions as ushers. No applications are being accepted from freshmen at the present time, but will be if a sufficient number of upperclassmen have not made application by Thursday at the office of the military department, Nebraska Hall 202.

But few more than eighty men have applied so far, although they will be given free athletic tickets selling for $7.50 to other students, besides having seats in the best parts of the structure.

Receive Applications at Cornhusker Office

Applications for editorial and business staff positions on the 1925 Cornhusker will be received after Wednesday noon. Students desiring work are requested to call at the office in University Hall 10 and fill out application blanks stating qualifications. All of the positions open do not require journalistic experience.

Those needed on the editorial staff are: Five associate editors, three assistant managing editors, office manager, art editor, photography editor, and editors and staff members for forty-five different sections of the book.

Applications for positions on the editorial staff of the year 1924-1925 will be received until October 6 by the scholarship committee of the Lincoln branch of the American Association of University Women by whom $200 is annually awarded in scholarship gifts.

MAKE PLANS FOR HEAVY SEAT SALE

Sales Open Monday Morning; Buyers Must Line Up for Choice Seats.

All organizations which wish to secure blocks of seats in the stadium for the football season must turn in the lists of their purchasers at the Student Activities office no later than 5 o'clock Friday so that the checking will not delay the sales Monday morning.

Student Athletic Ticket Sales This Year are Expected to be Heavier than Ever before.

Three thousand seats have been reserved for students in the best section of the Stadium from the 20-yard line to the 20-yard line and from the first to the twenty-second rows.

Sale will start Monday morning, Monroe D. Gleason, chairman of the committee in charge, stated. The only place the tickets may be obtained is at the booth east of University Hall. There will be no solicitors.

Reservations for fraternities or sororities, or other campus organizations, where the members wish to sit together, will be made. The best reservations can be made by those who get there first next Monday morning. Absolutely no reserving of tickets will be made until then.

Checks for the amount of the tickets must be presented. A long line of representatives of campus organizations is expected to be at the booth when selling begins.

As before, the N buttons, with the year, 1924, will be given out to the purchasers.

The tickets will not only admit students to the Nebraska games with Illinois, Colgate, Missouri and Oregon State College, but will also be good for the Wesleyan-Simpson game, the homecoming celebration of the Methodist school. Arrangements were recently made to play this game in the Nebraska Stadium.

The price this year is $7.50. This covers admission to all University athletic events and includes the use of the tennis courts for the fall and spring seasons. If these tickets were purchased separately they would cost more than $26. Even tickets to all football games, purchased separately, would cost more than the student ticket.

Have Few Cornhuskers Uncalled for in Spring

A few 1924 Cornhuskers ordered and not called for last spring are still uncalled for. Any student who failed to claim his book or make his later payments can get it by paying the remainder of the price at the Student Activities office in the Armory Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon.

Awgwan Asks for Staff Applicants

Applications for positions on the editorial staff of the Awgwan, monthly humorous magazine, should be handed in before Thursday in the Awgwan office in University Hall 10. Cartoonists, illustrators and writers having had experience in humorous work are especially desired.

The Awgwan is published by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, under the direction of the Student Publication Board. The first number will probably be published about the middle of October. Paul C. Richardson, '25, Olney, Illinois, is editor and Clayton Snow, '27, Chadron, is business manager.

Iron Sphinx Prepare Plans for Barbecue

Preliminary plans for the annual Freshman Barbecue, to be held in the Stadium Wednesday evening, October 1, were made at a meeting of the Iron Sphinx, sophomore men's organization, held at the Silver Lynx house last night.

The barbecue is an annual affair sponsored by the Sphinx in order that freshmen men may get acquainted with each other and with upperclassmen and absorb a little of the famous Nebraska spirit. A program of music and speeches is being planned.

Tickets for the barbecue and further details will be announced at an Iron Sphinx meeting to be held at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the Zeta Beta Tau house.

Band Members to Be Announced Wednesday

Over eighty men turned out for band tryouts which were held in the east end of the Armory last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock. Only sixty can be used and the list of those selected will be read by Professor Quick on Wednesday night at 5 o'clock.

The men will be chosen according to their ability as shown at tryouts and the number of instruments they play. Freshmen may apply for band only as an extra subject. It does not take the place of drill for first-year men.

WOMEN INVITED TO TWO PARTIES

Y. W. C. A. Will Entertain Saturday at "Kid" and "Hard-Times" Affairs.

Every woman in the University is invited to attend the first Y. W. C. A. party of the year which will be given Saturday by the Husks and Kernels, membership organizations, in Ellen Smith Hall. A "kid" party at 2:30 o'clock will be followed by an evening "hard-times" party at 8 o'clock.

Upperclasswomen as well as freshmen who received invitations during registration may choose the party they wish to attend. Guests are asked to wear costumes appropriate for each occasion. Cars will be provided so that women living long distances from the campus may be taken to their homes after the evening party.

An informal program made up of singing, dancing and readings, combined with a novel get-acquainted game will make up the entertainment for the "kid" party. Music will be provided for dancing and singing. Favors and refreshments will be in keeping with the scheme of the party.

For the "hard-times" party Ellen Smith Hall will be transformed into the homestead of Farmer Perkins and his wife who are to be the host and hostess. Old-fashioned quadrilles and a program of songs reputed to be popular songs among farmers will help to amuse the guests.

The parties are being given under the direction of the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A. of which Doris Trotter is chairman. In charge of the "kid" party will be Betty Langworthy, Rosanne Milenz, Dorothy Olmstead and Eloise Mc-Ahan. The hard-times party is being arranged by Margaret Dunlap, Wilhelmina Schellak, Freda Lau, and Evelyn Towle.

Hinman Addresses Cosmopolitan Club

Prof. A. G. Hinman of the College of Business Administration gave an address on retail advertising at the weekly luncheon of the Cosmopolitan club held Tuesday at the Hotel Lincoln. A musical program concluded the meeting.

Professor Hinman spoke on the theories of advertising as applied to practical business, and described the easy manner in which a misapplication of the theories might ruin enterprise. He told of the beginning of advertising and its first practical use in the business world, and of its rapid growth during the past few years.

Freshmen Will Have Caps by End of Week

Only 720 Nebraska freshmen have caps, but others will be supplied by the end of the week, according to an announcement made at Farquhar's yesterday. The stock has run out, but it will be replenished immediately. Although freshmen should be wearing the cap now, the deadline has been set at October 1, and the rule will not be rigidly enforced by the Iron Sphinx until the Olympics in November. A majority of the first-year men at the initiation Tuesday morning wore the conventional green.

One Green Button Is Yet to Be Given Out

One green button remains at Rudge and Guenzel's hosiery department. The rest of the 800 have gone their way. Five hundred have been distributed from there and the others were distributed at freshman convocation Tuesday morning. Freshman girls may be able to get buttons from Louise VanSickle or from Pauline Gellatley.

The green-button custom was established last year to correspond with the green caps worn by the boys.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE—The extreme poverty and misery of all classes in Russia is described by Prof. L. T. Silverman of the mathematics department, who spent fifteen months in that country, in a series of articles he is contributing to The Dartmouth, the student daily.

2500 FRESHMEN GO TO INITIATION

Hear of Traditions, Ideals and Opportunities of Nebraska University.

CHANCELLOR AVERY WELCOMES STUDENTS

More than 2,500 freshmen attended the freshman initiation Tuesday morning from 10 until 12 o'clock in the Armory. The opportunities offered by the University were explained, the ideals of the institution presented, and many of the traditions explained to the new students by the speakers.

The University Band played the University songs, familiarizing the new students with them. Cheerleaders led the freshmen in the University yell. Following a yell-and-song period, Wendell Berge, '25, of Lincoln, president of the Innocents, senior men's honorary society, introduced the speakers—Dr. G. E. Condra, Chancellor Samuel Avery, Prof. R. D. Scott, Dean Amanda Heppner, Dean C. C. Engberg, Miss Kathryn Warner, '25, of Dakota City, president of Mortarboard, senior women's society, and Coach Fred T. Dawson.

Chancellor Speaks. In welcoming the class to the freshman initiation Chancellor Avery said in part:

"I regret that I cannot know you all personally. It would give me great pleasure to enjoy personal relations with every one of this fine class. I wish I might have some personal touch with every student, evinced by the University. This, however, is physically impossible. In round numbers the school year is forty-eight weeks, including the summer session. Placing office hours at forty-four hours per week, if I were to devote half of my time to students' individual problems, giving the other half to the routine business of the office, I would have just about six months a year to devote to every one of the ten or eleven thousand students who are registered in all of the University's activities. If each student whose name goes through the registrar's office during the year were to see me for one moment, this alone would consume twenty days of eight hours each. The freshmen alone would consume a very considerable part of this time. So you see I have to meet you on such an occasion as this en masse rather than personally. The task does not get easier year by year. The latest figures show that there are 230 more students registered than there were a year ago. The great growth of the University, however, does not mean that you will not get personal attention. Universities are wonderful organizations. With regents, presidents, deans, directors, registrars and finance secretaries on the executive side, with professors, associate professors, assistant professors, instructors, assistant instructors and assistants on the instructional side, you will be just as well and competently cared for as in smaller organizations. But I feel a personal loss in the lack of contact with young people and the necessity of meeting you in large groups rather than as individuals. I welcome you to one of the great institutions of the country, not primarily because it is great but because of the opportunities you will find here."

Explains Opportunities. The Chancellor went on to explain briefly some of the opportunities that the University offers. He urged the

TO ELECT HONORARY COLONEL OCTOBER 7

Head of Regiment Will Not be Announced Until After Class Elections.

The Honorary Colonel of the R. O. T. C. regiment will be elected October 7 at the class elections. The name of the colonel of the regiment will not be announced until after the election. This is an innovation in the election of the honorary colonel. In previous years the colonel has been selected first and the Honorary Colonel elected later.

Any junior or senior woman may be elected to this position. This year women must file for the position or have their friends file for them. The name of the Honorary Colonel will be announced immediately after the election. It has been customary in previous years to keep the name of the winner of this election secret until the Military Ball in November.

The woman who is elected to the position will lead the grand march with the Colonel at the Military Ball which will open the formal season in November. A review of the regiment will be held in her honor in the spring.
