ILLINOIS IS COMING.

Tomorrow, when the opening whistle sounds for the Illinois-Nebraska game in the Memorial Stadium, the "Fighting Cornhuskers" will face their foe handicapped by the giant of inexperience.

The Illini, a smooth, well-polished veteran gridiron machine, will line up on one side of the 50-yard line, while Nebraska's new and untried eleven will assemble on the other.

Illinois is expecting victory. "Red" Grange, hailed as the greatest football player of gridiron history last year, is in the "Fighting Illini" backfield.

The Husker moleskin warriors, many of them playing their first college football game, will fight against America's greatest. The great Noble, who alone scored more points against Notre Dame in two years than any other team has in six years, is gone.

Nebraska will fight! A fighting student body backing the "fighting Cornhuskers" will swing the fortunes of the game toward Nebraska as much as would the presence of the great stars of the Scarlet and Cream of other years.

Nebraska spirit can beat Illinois. A veteran eleven is sometimes easier to defeat than an inexperienced one—because of that intangible factor that acquired the name "morale" during the World war.

The will of Nebraska students may determine the direction of victory. That will must be apparent at the rally tonight and dominant in the Stadium tomorrow.

Singing in classes today has been authorized. Representatives of the students asked for the privilege in order that the enthusiasm acquired might be the success of the rally tonight and the cheering at the game tomorrow.

It is not intended that the singing is to be a means of evading recitation or omitting preparation. University officials, interested in the advancement of the institution, rightly request that in return for the five minutes of singing the students make a special effort to help the instructors by having their assignments well in mind.

CHOOSE. Filings for the first semester elections close today. It is probable that there will be several candidates for each office.

Before the balloting Tuesday every student must for a judgment of each man or woman nominated. And that judgment should not be made hastily.

The first step in forming such a judgment is to make sure of the identity of the candidate. The next is to meet him, if that is possible by ordinary means. Finally, before a definite decision is made, the candidate's record should be investigated.

If the candidate has not been particularly active before, that is nothing against him. If he has been active, and in his activities has shown that he has caught the Cornhusker spirit, if he is a willing supporter of worthwhile causes advanced by others, there is much to be said in his favor.

On the other hand, if he has held many offices secured through "political" influence—it is not difficult to detect such influence—he is not worthy to hold office at Nebraska.

KOSMET KLUB. The announcement by Kosmet Klub that the production of a play with an all-male cast is being considered for this winter presages another step in the direction indicated by the leading universities of America.

Wholesome, distinctively college entertainment of this sort will do much toward increasing the goodwill of the taxpayers of the state toward the University, while the productions of the best American plays with their vampires and flippant flappers, might injure the cause of the institution.

TWENTIETH CENTURY STUDENT

College life is often criticized because of its complexity. It is a common occurrence to overhear students bewailing the fact that they are inordinately busy; so very busy that it seems impossible for them to crowd all their activities in the hours not allotted to sleep.

Sweet meditation in one's chamber, silent and apart from the outside, is no more. Now we study to the tune of the piano next door as it jangles "music in the air."

The upshot of the whole matter is that the world has changed. And along with the world have gone the conditions of student life.

The University is preparing its children to go forth to tilt their lances at the windmills of the twentieth century. They must learn to concentrate; to make their mental natures oblivious to the noise and confusion without.

And in regard to being busy. The successful man of our modern communities is the type who can shoulder the work and responsibility of two ordinary men and walk off with them.

It is good for students to be busy. They must learn to watch after the spare moments. Experience teaches them to avoid waste energy, and to strike hard where their blows will count.

Twenty Years Ago

Grinnell was defeated in the first game of the football season by a 46-0 score. The Collegians could not stop the Cornhuskers and the first touchdown was made within three minutes after the start of the game.

Chancellor Andrews spoke at a convocation to an unusually large audience. He urged greater promptness on the part of the students and entered a plea for greater cleanliness on the campus.

The Athletic board met with Dr. Clapp and elected managers for baseball, track, and basketball. J. H. Allen was chosen for the baseball team, John K. Morrison for track, and Frank R. Beers for basketball.

Ten Years Ago

The Cornhusker gridsters defeated Washburn by the score of 14 to 7 in the first game of the season. Nebraska, however, lacked team work and many fumbles marred the contest.

Filing for offices of the various classes closed with a list of eight candidates in the race for class officers. The office which was causing the most comment was that of senior president. Although only two candidates were listed two factions had been formed, favoring one or the other, and the race seemed very close.

DARTMOUTH—The annual football rush between the freshmen and sophomore classes resulted in a tie. After ten minutes of battle two footballs were found in possession of the freshmen and as the sophomores also had two there was no decision.

SYRACUSE—Worldly wise sophomores are reaping a fortune by selling chapel tickets. One freshman has already purchased one to witness the beauties of the chapel. The beauties of the chapel may be worth the $1.50 paid for the ticket but the experience is worth much more.

This booklet is for the purpose of giving the freshmen a clear idea of what each publication is, what it loads, and the experience to be gained from the work. For Young Men There is nothing like a STETSON
MOST young men today know the importance of looking fit. Good appearance counts much in the game of life. The young man who dresses with taste has a decided advantage. But—it is surprising how little thought the average man gives to his hat. It is his crown, yet he seems to stop dressing at the neck. Be careful in your selection of your headwear. When you buy a hat, select a Stetson. Its style is right, its quality means long wear.

Roosevelt Said: "In this actual world a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned or scoffed at or ignored their religious needs is a community on the rapid down grade. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his work. Church work and church attendance mean the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others. Yes, I know all the excuses, I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or in his own house. But I also know as a matter of cold fact that the average man does not thus worship."
