and then still farther, the new light tan oxford for men is taking the country by storm.

And why shouldn't it? For when made in the new broad toe, it goes so well with the loose fitting clothes the college men wear.

FRESHMEN PRACTICE AT PUNTS AND KICKS

Stephens, Brown, and Karr Show Up as Varsity Possibilities in Back Field.

Freshman football practice Thursday evening was of no real importance. With the Varsity team on its way to Oklahoma, the sawdust field was left for the use of the freshmen, who spent most of the time in punting and drop-kicking. About half of the squad reported.

Although no special stars are developing in the freshman lineup, several are showing the stuff that it takes for a Varsity man. Three have shown up exceedingly well in the backfield. Stephens who comes from Hastings is the freshman bet for quarterback. Stephens runs the team in fine shape and also is on the hurling end of most passes.

John "Jug" Brown of Lincoln, who will be remembered as the one who made the seventy-yard run against the Varsity is showing up in good shape. Although Brown is no heavy-weight his ability in drop-kicking, punting, and open-field running makes him a valuable asset to any team. Karr, sturdy little half of Gothenburg, is opening the eyes of the coaches by his ability to catch passes and his off-tackle smashes. Randels, another backfield man, has plenty of weight and speed. Due to the many candidates for backfield positions, Randels is used some in the line.

Of the line candidates, Stiner of Hastings is showing up the best. Having played with Lombard last year, he is not eligible for Varsity football until next year. Many times during the Freshman-Varsity scrimmage, Stiner breaks through and stops the play before it is well under way. Raish and Durish, both men of high-school fame, are showing up well at tackle. Conklin at end is doing good work. He has an uncanny ability to snare passes and break up end runs.

At the guard positions, Harbaugh, Stribling and Fisher are showing up in good shape. All these men have plenty of weight and are fast on their feet. Harbaugh and Stribling are from Nebraska schools but Fisher comes from Colorado. McIntyre is another promising prospect for a wing position. Oelrich, all-state backfield man from Columbus, is showing much promise. James of Greeley is the brightest prospect for center. He has the size and ability that should develop into a good center.

With this formidable material coming in next year Cornhusker coaches should have little to worry about and it will probably cause Nebraska opponents some little worry.

College Engraver Helps Plan Annual

J. C. Cannicott, assistant manager of the college department of the Bureau of Engraving, spent Saturday and Sunday in Lincoln with Wendell Berger, editor of the 1925 Cornhusker, for the purpose of completing the general plan for this year's annual. He complimented the staff on its early start, saying that they were much farther progressed than any previous Cornhusker staff had been at this time of the year. He also said that all designs for the opening section have been completed. Mr. Sher, manager of the college department, will be in Lincoln on October 15 to further assist in completing plans for the book.

Tassels Sponsor Tea For Underclasswomen

Tassel, women's "pep" organization, will hold a tea for freshmen and sophomore women today from 4 to 6 in Ellen Smith Hall. There will be dancing and a program of entertainment. Through the tea the Tassels hope to promote a closer acquaintanceship between underclasswomen. There will be a Tassel meeting immediately following the tea.

DeBaufre To Confer With Mine Officials

Prof. W. L. DeBaufre, chairman of the mechanical engineering department, will leave Saturday for a week's trip to New York and Washington, where he will confer with officials of the United States Bureau of Mines. Dr. DeBaufre has spent considerable time experimenting on heat-insulating materials and it is in regard to this that he is going East.

All Valley Eyes Center on Kansas-Ames and Nebraska Oklahoma Games

College football this week end will command considerable interest among followers of this sport, as many teams are meeting worthy opponents for the first time this season. In the Valley, the Nebraska-Oklahoma game at Norman and the Kansas U.-Ames game at Lawrence will be closely watched. While the Huskers are doped to win over the Sooners, the Kansas-Ames affair should provide plenty of thrills the teams are about evenly matched.

The Missouri eleven, fresh from their 3-0 victory over Chicago, will take things easy this week end, playing Missouri Wesleyan at Columbia. The defeat of the Chicago team by the Benegals is characterized as one of the biggest upsets of last Saturday's contest. A writer in the New York Times has this to say about the Missouri eleven: "When Missouri held Nebraska to a 7-7 tie last year, it is not a set-up for any team."

Referring to the Illinois-Nebraska game, the same writer said, "Either the Cornhuskers have another powerful eleven this year, or the Illini are not as strong as was expected. Nebraska followers who saw the Huskers wage their splendid uphill fight last Saturday will be rather prone to believe that the first remark of the 'Times' writer is correct."

Colgate, Nebraska's opponent on Home-coming day, had a comparatively easy time in winning from Alfred last Saturday, scoring five touchdowns. Tyron, star half of the Colgate team last year is reported to be in excellent condition, making three of the touchdowns last Saturday and throwing the pass which resulted in another. He is rated as one of the best halfbacks in the game this year.

Notre Dame is still being instructed in the fundamentals of the game. Rockne is not much concerned over next Saturday's game with Wabash and is pointing his team toward the Army game.

The Oregon Aggies, Nebraska's Thanksgiving day opponents did not get into action last Saturday, and there is very little advance dope on them. They play their first game October 18 against Southern California.

After the Party

A bit of sweetness You'll like combined with a service that will please at

In Big Ten circles, Ohio State and Iowa University meet in the only conference game. Both teams looked good in last weeks games and a real battle is expected. Chicago will attempt to raise her fallen fortunes by trouncing Brown University at Stagg field, while other conference schools have no-conference opponents.

The popularity of football is again apparent, large crowds having seen the games last week in all parts of the country. At Princeton a seating arrangement according to the year of graduation and a student is limited in the numbers of tickets he may purchase, because of the large crowds that have packed the Stadium there.
