

PLAN CARAVAN TO MANHATTAN

Nebraska Rooters Will Drive to Kansas for Aggie Game.

AUTO AMBULANCE TO BRING UP THE REAR

Tickets for the Kansas Aggie football game are now on sale at Latsch Bros. at $2.00 each. All students who intend to buy tickets should get them as soon as possible so that more can be ordered if necessary. The 400 tickets on sale now are all in one block, but those bought later in the week may not be in the Nebraska section.

The "Cornhusker Caravan" will leave for Manhattan at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, by way of the Cornhusker highway. The caravan will be made up of at least one hundred cars and all of these will be expected to maintain a steady pace and keep their place in line. The roads are good and the distance is only 135 miles, so the caravan is expected to reach Manhattan by 11 o'clock.

The caravan will stop in all of the larger towns and the students will give a series of songs and cheers. The cars will be decorated with Nebraska colors and various signs that the owners care to put on them. An auto-ambulance will follow the caravan to repair the broken cars and to keep them going.

Everyone wishing to go in the caravan will be required to register and their place in line will be assigned to them at this time. The place of registration will be announced in The Daily Nebraskan Wednesday.

The game will probably be one of the best of the season as Kansas Aggies have only lost two games. They held Drake, the champions of the Valley, to a 7-to-6 score, which is quite an extraordinary performance. Bachman, the Kansas Aggie coach, is a Notre Dame graduate and their style of playing is much the same as that of the Irish. The Aggies always have one of the best teams in the valley and are always feared by any other valley team.

Freshmen to Stage Olympic Tryouts

Tryouts for the freshman boxing team to represent the class in the Olympics will be held at the Armory Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The tryouts will be for all classes including any weight. The regular tryouts scheduled for last Wednesday were not held because of the rally that evening.

Freshmen Have Often Been Victors In Olympic Contests of the Past

Much of the interest in the coming Olympics between the freshmen and sophomores centers around the list of events which has not been announced yet. Athletic events throughout the contests have run generally the same but the free-for-all and special contests have run the gamut from the class scrap and medicine ball to the pole rush and push ball.

The cross country run featured the contest of 1911. In addition to this the regular boxing and wrestling contests and a flag rush composed the program. In the latter a flag was placed at the top of a pole and the ambitious freshmen were told that they now were possessed of the privilege of attempting to get it down. They entered into this new idea with zeal and easily overcame the second yearmen trying feebly to defend the pole.

The sophomores always have been handicapped by small numbers. Their troubles come not in the athletic events but in the contests where might is right. These scraps or rushes are usually scored with more points than all the contests of "skill" combined, which naturally puts the smaller side to a disadvantage. Second-year men this year declare that their class is "different" and all of their men will be on hand to insure the wearing of the green by the freshmen until long after Christmas.

In 1913, the sixth Olympiad, one of the most interesting scraps in class history was recorded. The freshmen were the winners by virtue of their victory in the free-for-all. They received thirty-five points out of a possible seventy-five, and this with their scores won in the athletic events gave them the right to declare their superiority.

The medicine ball event, a popular one then was won by the sophomores. Twenty men picked from each class, not because of their amazing skill in handling the elusive

TO EXHIBIT OIL PAINTINGS

Students Can View Work of Patterson at Art Gallery.

Howard Ashman Patterson's exhibition of his oil paintings of the Southwest will open in the Art Gallery, Library Hall, Friday, November 21. The exhibit which will be here for two weeks, will be open to the public from 3 to 5 o'clock Sundays, all day Saturdays, and from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning on other days.

These paintings are being exhibited now in Chappell House at Denver, Colorado, and are declared to be of the first importance, according to an article in the Rocky Mountain News, for Mr. Patterson is winning fame by his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are expected here next week.

PRESENT MOLIERE'S PLAY 'THE MISER'

Coffer-Miller Company Gives Five-Act Comedy at Temple Theater.

Jess Coffer's characterization of "The Miser" last night was the outstanding feature of the play of that name presented by the Coffer-Miller players at the Temple theater. Moliere's five-act comedy deals with the trials of an old skinflint who is trying to match his son and daughter in marriage in the most economical and profitable manner.

Miss Martha Miller's portrayal of Frosine was almost equal to Mr. Coffer's work. Frosine was an intriguing woman bent on extracting a sum from Harpagon, the miser, either by flattery or successful match-making between the old miser and Marianne, who it happens is also loved by Harpagon's son Cleante.

Complications develop when it is found that Elsie, daughter of the miser, is loved by Valere, his aide. Harpagon of course is concerned primarily with his hoarded money and developments finally force him to choose between his money and marriage with Marianne.

All of the leading parts were said to have been handled well and the reception of the play probably proves this. Valere, the flattering aide to the miser, was worked out to good advantage by Ulmont Healy. Miner Coburn took the part of the son of the miser, Cleante. His work was good and played in the right manner. Maitre Jacques, cook and coachman to Harpagon was amusing to a certain extent but his characterization may be said to be a little exaggerated. Charles Booth played this part. Helen McIntyre as Marianne displayed good work in her sweet gentle air and coquettishness.

Missionary Will Speak at Vespers

Miss Ethel Hartley, a graduate of this University who is home on furlough from her duties as a Y. W. C. A. missionary in China, will be the speaker at Vespers in Ellen Smith Hall at 5 o'clock this evening. In her work in China, Miss Hartley was closely associated with the late Grace Coppock and with Vera Barger, the missionary to whom the University Y. W. C. A. has given financial support since the death of Miss Coppock. The speaker's subject will be "Y. W. C. A. Work in China." The special musical number at the services will be a harp and mandolin duet by Lucille Wright and Janet Mathews.

GREEKS PLAN CONFERENCE

Fraternity Representatives to Gather in New York Next Week.

PROMINENT EDUCATORS APPEAR ON PROGRAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Interfraternity Conference, annual gathering of Greek-letter fraternities from American colleges and universities, will be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania here November 27 and 28. More than fifty fraternities, a hundred institutions of learning and 500,000 fraternity men will be represented. About 300 delegates will attend.

A number of prominent educators, including several college presidents, will be present at the conference to confer on college problems with the officials of American fraternities and, as well, with fifty undergraduates representing as many college councils. Every angle—student, alumni and faculty—will be available.

As the result of the success of an experiment tried last year, a new fraternity will probably be formed at the conference. The number of college students desirous of fraternity affiliations is increasing so rapidly that they cannot be accommodated, with the result that the Interfraternity Conference is aiding groups of locals to band together. Nearly a score of locals from all parts of the country want to start a new fraternity.

The Interfraternity Conference was established at Chicago in 1909 through the efforts of Pres. W. H. P. Faunce of Brown, Hamilton Wright Mabie and others, to make fraternities appreciative of their common ideals and tasks. Through the efforts of the conference jealousies and rivalries have been diminished and a conception fostered of the modern fraternity as an adjunct of self-government at American colleges and universities.

A. Bruce Bielaski, a graduate of George Washington University and President of Delta Tau Delta, is chairman of the conference. He is an internationally known lawyer with offices at 120 Broadway.

GAMUT CLUB HOLDS BUSINESS MEETING

Dr. Lida B. Earhart Speaks at First Gathering of Year.

The first meeting of the Gamut Club was held Thursday evening at the Grand Hotel. Following a dinner a program was given and a short business session held with Elsie Freriches, the president of the club, presiding.

Dr. Lida B. Earhart, sponsor of the club, spoke on the purposes and activities of the organization, saying it was a group of upper classwomen interested in elementary education, brought together for social and intellectual contact. She predicted a prosperous year for the club. Mrs. A. L. Burnham spoke briefly on the value of the organization. Several excellent musical numbers were given by Alice Kress and Helen Cowen. Katherine Goodson, '27, Ravenwood, Mo., was elected treasurer, Marie Benjanni, '27, Superior, was made chairman of the refreshment committee, and Ester Evans, '25, Kenesaw, chairman of the publicity committee, at the business meeting, to fill vacancies.

Thirty new members have been elected and a drive for more is being inaugurated.

DIRECTORY TO GO ON SALE

Will Open Booth at Corner of Campus Thursday Morning.

800 CORRECTIONS MADE IN PROOFS

The Student Directory will be placed on sale at 8 o'clock Thursday morning at a booth at Twelfth and R streets on the main campus, and in another booth at the campus of the College of Agriculture.

The booths will be open until late Friday afternoon. There will be no solicitation of the student body. Only a limited number of the books have been ordered, and those who wish to secure them should do so at their earliest opportunity, according to Bennett S. Martin, '25, Oregon, Mo., in charge of the sale.

Fifty cents will be charged for the books—the same price that has been asked in former years.

A few remaining "N" books will be placed on sale at the same time, for fifty cents each.

Constant checking, carried on until the last possible minute has made this year's directory the most accurate ever issued.

More than eight hundred errors in address, telephone numbers, and names, were corrected by means of the cards turned in during the time the proofs were posted for general inspection. Every name was checked with the original card turned in by the students, in addition to other proof-reading.

A list of organizations and their presidents, and of fraternity and sorority addresses and telephone numbers precedes the faculty list. Following the faculty list is the general student section, containing approximately nine thousand names. Organization lists follow this section, and separate lists from the Omaha Medical College division which contains the Omaha faculty list, the Omaha students by classes, and fraternity lists.

LIST GRADUATES IN BLUE PRINT

Distribute Engineering Publication to November This Week.

Featured by a directory of all engineering alumni and former students of the College of Engineering the November issue of the Nebraska Blue Print, publication of Nebraska Engineering Society, is being distributed this week.

Over 1,300 names are included in the directory. In most cases the name, department in which he was enrolled, degree, and present address are given. "Every effort has been made to make the directory as accurate as possible," say the staff. "The directory is the result of a large amount of work and careful compilation."

The magazine this month contains forty-four pages with a light cream cover. The cover design shows the construction of the entrance to the state capitol. Several articles by alumni and staff members, together with editorial comment, make up the magazine.

"Listening in on the Bell Lines," by H. S. Kinney, '13, is the feature article. Mr. Kinney graduated from the electrical department in 1913 and from the civil department in 1922. He received the degree of Bachelor of Science in each department and is now instructor in mechanical drawing and electrical engineering in the College of Engineering. His article describes the telephone systems and is illustrated.

The "Hall of Fame" a regular department conducted for the purpose of telling about Nebraska alumni who have become well-known in engineering circles, contains a sketch of Bion J. Arnold, '27, who has gained prominence in the building of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad system.

James D. Marshall, '25, Fremont, is general manager of the Blue Print. The staff includes H. B. Kinsinger, '26, Millard, editor; Forest R. Hall, '26, Neligh, associate editor; Harold E. Edgerton, '25, Aurora, business manager; and Arthur M. Ekstrom, '25, Omaha, circulation manager.

Engineering Dean to Address Society

Aitken to Speak at Forum Meeting

Rev. Walter Aitken, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church of Lincoln who recently returned from a three-and-one-half months' trip in Europe, will speak at the World Forum luncheon at the Grand Hotel Wednesday noon. He will discuss some phase of his trip.

Tickets for the luncheon are twenty-five cents and may be purchased at the Y. W. C. A. or Y. M. C. A. offices until 6 o'clock this evening. Tickets at the door Wednesday will be thirty-five cents.

Rev. Mr. Aitken was a member of the American Fellowship Group which studied social, economic, educational, and religious conditions in Great Britain, France, Holland, Germany, and Switzerland.

SET DATE FOR MILITARY BALL

Will Officially Open Winter Formal Season on December 5.

ANNOUNCE PATRONS AND PATRONESSES

The annual Military ball will not be held December 13 but will be held December 5 as is announced in the "N" books. The ball will officially open the winter formal season and will usher in the series of winter parties with a bit more of the picturesque array typical of a military function, according to the senior cadet officers who are in charge.

But three hundred tickets will be validated so that there will be plenty of room to dance and so that at the same time there will be no financial loss. One hundred and fifty of the tickets will be reserved for cadet officers and the remainder will be released for student sale. Tickets will go on sale November 24. Cadet officers will not be able to purchase tickets after December 2 according to plans now drawn up.

A list of patrons and patronesses will include Major-General George B. Duncan, Gov. and Mrs. Charles Bryan, Major and Mrs. Sidney Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zehring, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Frankforter, and Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Kidwell. Cadet Colonels from all of the schools in the Seventh Corps area will be invited.

This will be the first appearance of Miss Dorothy Brown as honorary colonel of the cadet regiment. She will appear in the French blue uniform with a cape lined with scarlet silk, an overseas cap bearing the three diamonds and trimmed in silk, a black Sam Brown belt, and black boots. She will lead the grand march with the cadet colonel.

Elaborate plans for decoration are being worked out by Harold Gish. Favors for every couple have been ordered and a special twelve-piece orchestra under the supervision of the Kandy Kids will play special music for the occasion.

Following is the list of cadet officers in charge of the ball:

Decorations.
J. Raymond Tottenhoff, chairman, Willard Dover, Ben Greenberg, C. Henry Johnson, Harold W. Koehler, Edward C. Richardson, I. R. Ross, Morris M. Shapiro, Paul B. Zimmerman, Beryl Ilgen, Raymond Hall, Forrest Hall, Jack Whalen, Lloyd Wagner, George M. Hill, John Sheldon, R. N. Serr, John Gemmill.

Music.
David G. Richardson, chairman, Allen W. Tiltonson, Ray Swallow, Kenneth McGregor, Leo Black, Orr Goodson.

Refreshments.
Harold E. Warren, chairman, John Kellogg, Robert Stephens, Cleo Rumsey, Vic Hackler, Oscar Keuhn, Loren W. Nelson.

Invitations.
Roland L. Eastabrooks, chairman, John Ricker, Mark Fair, Walter Key.

Plans.
James D. Marshall, chairman, Glen Dunkle, Ray Randolph, Milton Tappan, Harold Stebbins, Robert Scoular, R. D. Tutty.

Checking.
Nathaniel Foote, chairman, Mathias Voiz, J. W. Ross, Charles Hrdlicka, E. A. Raun, Monte Kiffin.

Barker Speaks to Staff of Hospital

Dr. F. D. Barker, Professor of Medical Zoology and Parasitology, was the principal speaker at a dinner Monday night for the staff of St. Elizabeth's Hospital. He discussed the relation of parasites to disease.

WILL STAGE THIRD PARTY

Spirit of Thanksgiving To Prevail at All-University Party.

The third All-University party of the year will be held Saturday night at 8:15 in the armory. The last All-University party was held October 18, Homecoming day, as a part of the entertainment for the old grads.

The spirit of Thanksgiving will prevail during the party Saturday evening. Cornstalks, pumpkins, and other Thanksgiving decorations will help put the proper spirit into the party.

Music will be furnished by the Candy Kids eight-piece orchestra, starting promptly at 8:15. Refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie and apple cider will be served.

ANNOUNCE CAST FOR PLAY SOON

Assert "Whispering Wires" Is One of Greatest Mystery Shows.

The cast for "Whispering Wires" which the University Players will present at the Temple theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week, with a matinee on Saturday, will be announced in The Daily Nebraskan Wednesday morning.

"Whispering Wires" is an intense mystery play said to exceed "The Bat" and "The Cat and the Canary" in thrills and action. It was adapted by Kate McLaurin from the Saturday Evening Post story of the same name by Henry Leverage.

One of the most baffling problems ever presented in a play is said to be the basis of the plot. A millionaire is warned that he is going to be killed. He shuts himself in his room; the doors and windows are locked and barred. Yet he is killed by a revolver bullet, fired from within the room.

BASKETBALL MEN START PRACTICE

Six Veterans Report for Season's First Workout Monday Evening.

Six veterans reported at the first basketball practice of the season at the Armory Monday evening. Captain Volz, Usher, Goodson, Black, Tipton, and Eckstrom were the regulars who were on the floor. Practice will be held from 4 to 6 o'clock every day except Wednesday when it will be from 7:45 to 9:30.

The real work of the season will not begin until the close of the football season when Coach Kline will be able to give his full attention to the cage work.

Nebraska opens the season with a road trip, playing the first game with the Kansas Aggies at Manhattan January 11.

Truth Finally Brought to Bear On Kansas Mystery of 1899

The mystery surrounding the defeat of Nebraska's football team by Kansas in 1899 has been solved. How Coach Fielding H. Yost, now coach at the University of Michigan and coach of the Jayhawkers in 1899 worked a hoax on Nebraska which resulted in a victory for Kansas is told in the November issue of The Nebraska Alumnus.

It is the story of how a tall, raw youth stepped out of the timbers into a football suit and with only a few days' practice was started in the game with the Cornhuskers. According to The Alumnus he "knocked the Nebraska Cornhuskers silly by smashing the line like a veteran, tearing great gaps in the defense and practically winning the game single handed."

The mystery part of the tale was developed when the hero of the game, instead of returning to the campus with his team to receive the praise he justly deserved mysteriously disappeared. An account appearing in the Wheeling (W. Va.) Telegraph throws some light on the question.

In the Kansas camp that fall appeared a backward recruit who had been induced by a Doctor Naimsmith, now head of the physical education department, to don a uniform and try out for the squad. Coach Yost hardly noticed the youth and almost laughed out loud when the idea of taking him to Nebraska was mentioned. Presumably under urging on the part of Doctor Naimsmith Yost took the recruit, named Krebs, to Lincoln "to see the game."

CORNHUSKER DRIVE STARTS

Six Sororities Tied For First Place in Race for Subscriptions.

WINNER TO GET $50 WORTH OF FURNITURE

Six sororities are leading in the race for subscriptions to the 1925 Cornhusker at the end of the first day. The leading organizations are Alpha Omicron Pi; Delta Delta Delta; Kappa Alpha Theta; Gamma Phi Beta; Alpha Phi; and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The organization that sells the most subscriptions will receive fifty dollars worth of furniture now on display in Rudge & Guenzel's window. Second prize will be a special leather bound book with the organization's name lettered in gold on the cover.

The highest individuals at the end of the first day were: Joyce Adair, Merle Danielson, Dorothy O'Shea, Verona Hall, Irene Lavelly, Adeline Howland, Blanche Strader, Inez Lempke, Jo Bishop, Fern Staats, Ailyer Wiecek, Barbara Morris.

The six highest individuals at the end of the drive will receive a free copy of the Cornhusker with their name stenciled in gold on the cover. The management of the Cornhusker is asking the students to notice that this is the week set aside for all subscriptions to be made. There must be so many Cornhuskers sold and if the quota is not reached it may mean a raise in price on the Cornhusker, so it behooves everyone to subscribe this week.

All organizations must check in their books each day from four till six or they will be penalized.

Mr. Lang wished to emphasize that the 1925 Cornhusker will be filled with "human interest" photographs and sketches. The style will be less rigid than in former years and there will be more informal pictures of everyday happenings on the campus. The student life section this year will be entitled "Mirrors of Nebraska" and the staff promises an unusually spicy section of campus satire and humor. Work on this section was started last summer and many writeups have been submitted now. The editors are working on the theory that a successful student life section must be commenced early. The section will be much larger than last year.

A large autographed picture of President Coolidge will appear at the front of the Military section and also a personal greeting from the President to the students of the University of Nebraska. This will appear in the military section because the President is the Commander-in-Chief of the American Army. There will probably be a picture and greeting from the Secretary of War and the Chief of Staff.

J. J. Sher, manager of the College Annual Division of the Bureau of Engraving, made the prediction recently that "the 1925 'Cornhusker Service' will be the biggest and most striking annual ever featured at the University of Nebraska."

Truth Finally Brought to Bear On Kansas Mystery of 1899

Consequently when the Kansas coach announced Krebs as a starter in the backfield fans began to wonder—whether Yost was crazy or whether he had found the eighth wonder of the world. Their wonderment did not cease when the youngster tore through Nebraska on every play and hung up a victory for the Jayhawkers.

After Krebs' disappearance Kansas men commented long and loud and though Yost joined them to a certain extent he did not elaborate on any theories he may have had. The mystery remained unsolved until a letter from C. E. Krebs, brother of G. R. Krebs the mystery man came to light. It said:

"In regard to playing football at the University of Kansas I want to advise that my brother, G. R. Krebs was graduated from West Virginia University in 1899. During his college course he was a member of the West Virginia football team and played for five years with that team, two years of which he spent with Coach Fielding H. Yost, playing side by side with him before he became famous.

"During the fall term of 1899 he entered university as a law student and acted in the capacity, as I was informed he did, as he was a personal friend of Yost before going to Kansas."

That Krebs was a "ringer" brought to Kansas by his friend, Yost, for the specific purpose of defeating Nebraska had never been thought of by either side. "Yost certainly played his part well," says the letter from Krebs' brother.
