

ELEVEN ENTER RIFLE MATCH

Fraternity Teams Will Compete in Annual Meet This Week.

GUNMEN WILL SHOOT ALL FOUR POSITIONS

Eleven teams have entered in the annual interfraternity rifle match to be held this week. The winners of first and second places will be awarded a skin as a trophy. Those teams which are not entered as yet may do so any time, either to Captain Eggers on the range, or Sargent French in the office of Major Erickson. All four positions will be fired, and the complete score must be finished by Saturday.

The four positions: prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing, will be fired. Each man will be allowed a number of sighting shots but no practice will be allowed this week. The scores must be completed by Saturday. Each team will be composed of five men.

Last year there were nineteen teams entered in the match with the Phi Delta Chi team coming out winner. Their score was fifteen points above the second place score, being a total of 806 points. Phi Gamma Delta and Kappa Psi tied for second place with a grand total of 791 points. Alpha Sigma Phi placed fourth with a total of 778.

The eleven teams entered are: Kappa Sigma, Nu Alpha, Mu Sigma, Delta Chi, Alpha Delta, Phi Tau, Epsilon, Delta Upsilon, Alpha Sigma Phi, Sigma Chi, Phi Gamma Delta.

Valley Sports

There is going to be a lot of action when the Kansas Jayhawks meet the Cornhuskers at Lincoln January 31 in a cage battle that looms up as one of the stellar attractions of the home schedule. Already the conference race looks like a nip-and-tuck affair, between Nebraska and Kansas. Unless Cornhusker form falls off a lot the Kansas-Nebraska games will be the deciding factors in the championship battle.

Kansas is showing some of its form of the last two years when the Jayhawks finished on top of the scuffle. Her defense, however, seemed to fall down in the Grinnell game last Thursday. The Pioneers scored twenty-six points against the Lawrence crew, more than any team counted against the champions of 1924. If there is a weak spot in that defense the Huskers can be counted upon to find it and pound on it. The 1925 quintet has proved itself ready to take advantage of every opportunity and to make the most of every error.

Washington University is bidding high for a football coach for the 1925 season. The Piker's inability to land a Missouri Valley championship has led Washington authorities to look far and wide for a chief mentor. First it was Bill Roper, successful Princeton coach, who was whispered to be the Washington tutor. They were unable to land him. Now Lud Wray, head line coach at the University of Pennsylvania, has just declined an offer to coach at Washington next year.

The Missouri Valley ruling that the football coach must remain at the school all year has stood in the way both times that Washington has had a chance to land a coach. The Eastern men seem to desire the nine months of the year they are not coaching for their own purposes, while the Valley ruling specifies that a head coach must remain at the institution during all of the college year.

Dr. R. G. Clapp, wrestling coach, is gaining a name for himself and Nebraska in the collegiate wrestling world. His proficiency as a wrestling tutor has been reflected in the character of his teams and is recognized all over the country. Dr. Clapp was recently placed on the national committee of the National Intercollegiate Wrestling Association. There are only three members on this committee, the others being Peterson of Columbia and Rieter of Lehigh. Last year Dr. Clapp held a position on the advisory committee of this association.

In the Kansas Aggie game one player missed sixteen free throws alone, and another bagged three out of nine. As long as the opposing teams give the Nebraskans chances

The Cornhusker coach is also president of the Missouri Valley Wrestling Coaches Association, newly organized this year. He was reelected president of the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastic Wrestling and Fencing Association at its meeting in November. The latter organization includes most of the Big Ten Schools as well as Nebraska.

Coach Bill Kline last night put the Varsity through a strenuous free-throw drill. The free-throw proposition was found to have been badly neglected on the southern trip last week and Coach Kline is perfecting that branch of the game along with the regular work.

Good news for all lovers of graphic pie

Graphic pie enough to satisfy the hunger of a life-time; no end of graphic mountains to scale and toboggan down. That's what the man who loves to analyze graphs and statistical symbols can look forward to when he comes with the electrical industry.

Economic study is one of many branches in this broad field. If you have thought of electricity as limited to engineers, this other side of the picture will interest you.

The commercial organization with its problems of distributing, selling, advertising; the manufacturing end with its opportunity for trained technical men; the legal and accounting branches—all this and more totals electrical industry.

It may pay you to keep this in mind against graduation.
