Twenty Years Ago
At a meeting of the board of directors of The Daily Nebraskan a vigorous protest was made against the action of the Junior Law class in deciding to resurrect the Senior Law book. The members of the board were unanimous in their disapproval of the entrance of the Law book upon the field of University publications because it detracted from the other publications, the Sombroso, Senior Book and The Daily Nebraskan. Representatives of the most of the fraternities in the University met at the Sigma Chi house and laid plans for an interfraternity baseball league. The committee decided to divide the fraternities into two groups. The winners of the two divisions would play for the interfraternity championship. The Temple Fund committee appointed John Latenser, of Omaha, as the architect for the University Temple. Mr. Latenser drew the plans for the Omaha high school and M. E. church in Lincoln. Work on the administration building had started. It was expected to complete it in the fall.

Ten Years Ago
Lincoln High School won the interscholastic basketball championship for the second consecutive time by defeating Omaha in the final contest of class A at the Auditorium. Hebron won class B, and Nebraska City won the consolation tournament. It was the largest basketball tournament in the world. Seventy schools were represented. Cups were donated by Miller and Paine, Armstrong Clothing company, and Tucker and Shean. An annual feature of the work of the University Y. M. C. A. was the sending of Gospel Teams into the state to conduct religious campaigns. In all cases the teams were able to accomplish definite good. Two teams were in action during Christmas vacation at Seward and Wahoo and in the first week of February a special team of ten was sent to Beatrice where it worked in cooperation with the local Y. M. C. A. Much interest was shown in the Interfraternity Bowling meet which was held at the Y. M. C. A. The Betas and the Kappa Sigs were leading by

The College Press
PUTTING COLLEGES ON THE MAP
The regents of Reed College, Portland, Ore., in choosing a president to take the place vacated by the death of President Richard Scholz, have a man not known in the educational field. They chose a Norman Coleman, who, during the World war was the leader of a movement to supplant the I. W. W. in the mines and lumber camps. President Scholz, during his term as head of that institution, revolutionized the curriculum. But because his idea was new, it met with disfavor, and even before his death the regents threatened the policy by listening to the Portland gossip against the "dangerous ideas" as they termed President Scholz's activities. Now a man of a different type has been placed as head of a college that had brilliant promise of their victories over the Farm House and Bushnell Guild. The University wrestling team turned in a victory over Doane college by winning five of the six matches.

becoming a nationally known college. The student paper lamented the fact that the man was chosen without the aid or advice of the faculty or students. But the selection goes farther than this. The regents have followed in the path of other institutions who desire a younger man at the head, who can put the school "on the map" literally, by putting out athletic teams, at the expense of the highest type of education. There is no doubt but that the new head is a powerful man in his line. He may turn the coaching system (Continued on Page Four.)

Wear Flowers!
Fashion Says So

Flowers are important to the mode this spring. Up and down Fifth Avenue brightly dressed women wear the boutonniere in the lapel of their coats. New boutonnières on the Street Floor at Rudge & Guenzel's.

Flowers appear on brilliant toned handkerchiefs. Some are petal shaped to make the effects more real. See them on the Street Floor at Rudge & Guenzel's.

Flowers of springtime bloom on the latest fashion spring hats. They look fragrant against their straw satin or felt crowns. See them on Floor two at Rudge & Guenzel's.

Handbags reveal flowered motifs on tapestry, exquisitely lined and fitted with purse and mirror. See them on the Center Aisle at Rudge & Guenzel's.

Three Flowers, by Richard Hudnut, means perfumes, face powders, cleansing creams, skin and tissue cream and vanishing cream. Just the face beautifiers women need now after the smoky winter season.

With each purchase of any of the above Three Flowers creams Rudge & Guenzel's will give FREE a trial box of Richard Hudnut's Three Flowers Face Powders. 50c and $1.00.

Flowers are a fashion this spring. You can say it with flowers in so many helpful ways.

WHICH POINT WILL YOU HAVE?

1. Extra fine like this
2. Fine like this
3. Medium like this
4. Broad like this
5. Stub like this

You can get all five degrees in the Classic Duofold Pens
And All Points Guaranteed for 25 Years' Wear

FOR what kind of writing do you use a pen? How do you hold it? And what style of writing is entirely natural to your hand? Close figure work or fine memoranda, for example, call for a fine or an extra-fine point. But the medium point, the broad, or the stub—these give one's penmanship a personality and character that make mighty valuable impressions in a letter or a signature.

These are reasons why, in the classic Duofold Pens, Geo. S. Parker gives the world the whole five degrees of points that the five degrees of writing require.

Points you can lend without a tremor, for no style of writing can distort them. Points that are tipped with super-smooth Iridium, for which we pay a premium of 200%. Points that we guarantee, if not mistreated, for 25 years' WEAR.

And every point set in a shapely, hand-balanced barrel that feels so inspiring you hate to lay it down.

Any good pen counter will sell you this beauty on 30 days' approval. Flashing black or black-tipped lacquer-red, the color that's handsomer than gold and makes this a hard pen to mislay.
