

INSTALL PHI SIG CHAPTER

Silver Lynx Fraternity Becomes Sigma Deuteron Chapter of Society.

NATIONAL OFFICERS ATTEND CEREMONIES

Phi Sigma Kappa, national social fraternity, installed the Silver Lynx fraternity of the University of Nebraska as its Sigma Deuteron chapter Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11, at the fraternity home, 348 North Fourteenth Street.

Seventy members, active and dormant, were installed as members in the two-day ceremony. The first annual banquet of the fraternity was held at the University Club Saturday evening. Arnold C. Otto of Milwaukee, national inductor of Phi Sigma Kappa, was toastmaster. The toast list was as follows:

"Sig-Nificance," Alvin T. R. Burrows, national president of the fraternity, and editor of The Daily Courier of Urbana, Illinois; "Signals," Edgar M. Allen, Minneapolis, Minn., regional vice-president; "Sig-Net," Charles H. Ruedi, Chicago, recorder; "Sig-N Posts," Robert Van Pelt, Lincoln; "Sig-Ma Deuteron," Charles W. Phillips, Exeter, president of the new chapter.

The new Phi Sigma Kappa sweetheart song, composed by Charles W. Phillips and Sidney B. Maynard, was introduced at the banquet by Harriet Cruise and an orchestra.

Phi Sigma Kappa was founded at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, at Amherst, April 15, 1873. There are now forty-one chapters located in institutions of higher learning in the United States and Canada. Organization was local for a number of years, under an esoteric name commonly referred to as "The Three T's." The first president of the Grand Chapter of the fraternity was Charles Sumner Howe, now president of the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, Ohio.

Fraternity records show that there were 2600 members of Phi Sigma Kappa in military service during the world war. Of these 1114 held commissions, 73 were decorated for bravery, and 60 were killed.

Silver Lynx fraternity was organized in October, 1911, by a group of Omaha men. The first annual banquet was held in 1912, when final plans for organization were completed. Many men prominent on the campus have been members of Silver Lynx during the fourteen years of its existence.

Third Chapter in Valley
With the establishment of Nebraska chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa, a triumvirate will be established in the Missouri Valley, with chapters at the Iowa State Agricultural College at Ames, and the Kansas Agricultural College at Manhattan. Chapters at Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois are almost equidistant from the newly established chapter.

Nbraska members of Phi Sigma Kappa who attended the installation and banquet are: B. C. Woodbury, Clarkson; Colonel Seaton, G. S. C. Omaha; Frank Giles, Norfolk; John Gellart, York; and Lester M. Anderson, Thomas Granfield, Donald Minard, Ernest Parmelee and Elmer S. Reddick, all of Omaha.

Phi Tau Theta Organized Here

National Methodist Student Fraternity Started at Recent Convention

A national Methodist student fraternity, Phi Tau Theta, was organized in Lincoln at a convention held Monday and Tuesday of last week. The following schools were represented: University of Oklahoma, University of South Dakota, Iowa State College, Pennsylvania State College, and the University of Nebraska. Joseph C. Brown of the University of Nebraska was chosen to act as chairman of the convention.

The purpose of the organization as stated in the preamble was to form a closer spiritual connection among the students of Methodist preference in attendance at state universities and colleges. Dr. Warren F. Sheldon of Chicago, national secretary of the Wesley Foundation, and Dr. Harry F. Huntington, Methodist student pastor at the University of Nebraska were in attendance at the meetings.

The Nebraska chapter of the national religious fraternity of Phi Tau Theta will be called the Wesley chapter. Joseph C. Brown, '26, Griswold, Iowa, is the president of the local chapter; Clarence Wallen, '25, Unadilla, is vice-president; V. Royce West, '27, Cozad, secretary; John Otley, '25, Waverly, treasurer; and Elmer C. Bratt, '25, of Arapahoe, is chaplain.

The other active members are: Robert Shields, Orville Bosley, George Bowers, Dean Krotter, Russell Richmond, Jacob Friedli, Loren Graham, James Lowther, Archibald Weaver, Frank Starr, Fay Starr, Milford Noragor, Ralph Wagner, Theodore King, Bennie Nelson, Beresford, Lester Shoemaker, Orin Bratt, Harold Schermerhorn, Whitney Borland, Kenneth Woods, Cecil Emory, Russell Weingartner, Elton Drake, S. E. Lingo, Emmett Ritter, Wallace Runnell, Weldon Melick, and Harland Taylor.

Dr. Stuff of the English Department of the University and Maurice Smith of the Economics and Commerce Department are honorary members of the organization and Dr. Harry F. Huntington, Methodist Student Pastor of the University is the advisor of the fraternity.

START WORK ON FARMERS' FAIR

More Than Five Hundred Agricultural Students Will Take Part in Annual Event.

Public Entertained This Year on May 2

The efforts of more than five hundred students in the College of Agriculture will be united May 2 to provide entertainment for the public at the seventh annual Farmers' Fair. Work on all of the various committees has begun and the plans for the fair are taking a definite form.

The "Cornfield Follies," which promises something entirely new this year, have been rehearsed for more than a month. Virginia West, '27, has charge of the "Follies" this year. Alfred H. Engel, '25, chairman of the "Snorpeum" committee and has been busy for several weeks training the chorus girls.

One of the most beautiful and impressive features of this year's fair will be a Pageant play, "The Sun Goddess," to be presented by the home economics girls. The costumes for the pageant are designed by home economics students under the supervision of Esther Eisenbarth, '25, chairman of the pageant committee.

Hugh J. McLaughlin, '25, chairman of the parade committee, has promised a more attractive parade than usual this year and more money is being spent on the floats. The parade will be composed of more than thirty beautiful floats representing the different departments of the college, a "rube" band, and a number of comic features that are being planned.

Russell Kendall, '26, chairman of the Wild West committee, has arranged for the importation of wild horses, mules, and steers from the western part of the state. Prizes will be offered for the best riders in the contests that are to be staged.

Each department of the college will have educational exhibits at which demonstrations and lectures will be given. The entire herd of livestock at the college will be fitted and groomed for exhibition.

Three Lincoln orchestras have been secured to play at the dances which will run all afternoon and evening. The floor of the coliseum at the State Fair grounds will be set up on the Ag campus and covered with a huge tent. The other dance will be held in the Agricultural building, one of the finest buildings of its kind in the country. James Barnes, '25, is chairman of the dance committee.

The Farmers' Fair was established for the purpose of advertising the College and creating a greater college spirit among the students. Almost 15,000 people attended last year's fair and arrangements have been made to accommodate an equally large crowd May 2. The cost of the fair alone is several thousand dollars and all of the work is done entirely by the students.

Invitations May Be Ordered Soon

Announcements of the Senior Class Also on Display at College Book Store.

Announcements of the senior class, invitations to graduation exercises, and caps and gowns may be ordered from the College Book Store beginning Monday, April 13, according to announcement by Raymond Tottenhoff, chairman of the invitation committee.

Sample copies of the announcements and invitations are on display. The announcements are of folder design, engraved, with two envelopes, and are priced at fifteen cents each or two for twenty-five cents. Invitations are available in two bindings, one of leather at fifty cents, the other of cardboard at thirty cents. A picture of the Social Science building is embossed on the binding, and set off by a background of gold leaf. Cap and gown measurements will not be taken, but the garments will not be available until a later announcement so indicates. Rent for these will be $2.50.

Douglas Fairbanks Stops Work on Picture to Entertain Cornhuskers

Nebraska Track Men Are Royally Entertained During Los Angeles Visit.

Douglas Fairbanks held up a sword battle for some time in order that the Husker track team, guests at his studio, might see his picture "Don Quixote" in the making. He stopped activities entirely for an hour to entertain the Nebraska stars as honored guests. The group was "snapped" with Fairbanks as well as with Mary Pickford. This ended a two day visit of the Nebraska team at Los Angeles, following their defeat at the hands of Stanford Saturday on a track of mud, with a score of 80, 1-3 to 50, 2-3.

Following the meet Saturday, the team journeyed to the Catalina Island for a Sunday outing. The unusual rough sea caused some seasickness among the men. The team took a ride on the glass bottomed boat, and a trip around the island to the seal rocks. After the trip to Hollywood, the Cornhusker tracksters were entertained by the alumni association of Los Angeles. Coach Schulte, Herbert Glah, Dr. McLean, and Captain Crites

GARNER GIVES ADDRESS MAY 1

Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi Members Will Hear Illinois Professor.

IS AUTHOR OF MANY BOOKS AND ARTICLES

Dr. James Wilford Garner, professor of political science at the University of Illinois, will deliver the annual Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi address Friday, May 1, at the Temple theater on "Education and International Affairs." Doctor Garner is an internationally-known authority on political science and is said to be a very effective speaker.

He is the author of a number of works on history and political science and has lectured at the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University.

Professor Garner was American collaborator for the French Revue Politique et Parlementaire; he contributed more than 200 articles on political and legal subjects to the New International Encyclopedia, also many articles to the Encyclopedia Americana and the Encyclopedia of American Government; he has been a frequent contributor to various magazines and reviews; and he served as editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology.

Among the books of which he is author are: Reconstruction in Mississippi, 1901; History of the United States (with the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge), 4 volumes, 1906; Introduction to Political Science, 1910; American Government, 1911. He was also editor of Essays on Southern History and Politics, 1914; and translator (from the French) of Brissaud's History of French Public Law.

Doctor Garner received the degree of Bachelor of Science from the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1892; Ph. M. from the University of Chicago in 1900, and Ph. D. from Columbia University in 1902.

Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholarship fraternity, and Sigma Xi, honorary scholarship fraternity for students of science, held a joint meeting each year at which some man prominent in the educational world delivers an address.

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, then president of Amherst College, was the speaker two years ago.

ORR GOODSON WILL LEAD 1926 CAGERS

Teammates Elect Captain; George Highley Chosen Wrestling Pilot.

Orr Goodson of Lincoln was elected by his teammates to head Nebraska's 1926 basketball squad and George "Red" Highley of Edgemont, S. D. was chosen to captain the wrestling team at the election held the last day before the spring recess.

The election was the first to be held under the new plan selected recently by the athletic board of control. The basketball and wrestling letter men were notified Friday morning of the election and voted their ballots that day. The votes were canvassed by the athletic board Friday evening.

Goodson has completed a little over two years of Valley competition and will be eligible to play only during the first semester. Whether another leader will be selected or a captain appointed for each game is not known. Goodson was rated by coaches as the best center in the conference during the past season.

Highley, selected to lead the wrestlers, is a 175-pound man and was one of the few grapplers who was not downed by injuries or ineligibility. He finished second in his class on the Missouri Valley meet held at Lincoln, receiving a broken finger which cost him the final match and prevented his entering the Western Intercollegiate meet a week later.

About 1,000 students at the University of Wisconsin are busy preparing the huge Exposition to be held in Madison on April 16 to 18.

STUDENTS MUST PAY UP PLEDGES

Clean-up Week to Get in Back Payments Starts Tomorrow Morning.

EIGHTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS IS NEEDED

To bring the amount of paid stadium pledges up to where it should be, Nebraska students must pay over eighteen thousand dollars at the Alumni office this month. The week of April 13 to 17 has been set aside as clean-up week, and pledges are expected to come in strong.

Students who signed pledges at the first campaign will have their last payment made this month if they have kept back payments up. At present there are nine hundred students in school who are behind, but a good number of them will probably be turned in next week, according to the opinion of those in the Alumni office.

When the first pledges were signed, 12,000 persons pledged $486,717, of which twenty per cent was paid at once. The remainder was issued in bonds so that the building of the Stadium might be started. The following is a paragraph taken from the contract with The First Trust Company:

"In the event default be made by the Nebraska Memorial Association in the payment of any installment of interest or in payment on principal of any of said bonds that trustee hereunder, personally or by its agents or attorneys, may enter into or upon all or any part of the said trust estate and use, operate, manage and control the same for the benefit of the owners of the bonds secured hereby."

The stadium does not belong to Nebraska unless all pledges are paid, because bonds cannot be paid with mere signatures of students with good intentions. If true Cornhusker spirit is to prevail at Nebraska the pledges will be paid, according to the management.

A committee has been appointed by the Innocents, made up of students from all the organizations on the campus, to assist in the collection of pledges.

STUDENT COUNCIL WILL MEET MONDAY

To Set Date For Election of Various Officers in Near Future.

Emmett V. Maun, chairman of the Student Council, announced yesterday that a meeting of that organization would be held in University Hall 102, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

At the meeting a date will be set for the election of new members and student members to the Publication Board. Two delegates will be elected to attend the Mid-west Conference at Manhattan, Kansas, April 30, May 1 and 2.

Maun announced that organizations wishing to schedule dates for drives during the year 1925-26 should leave their choice with the editor of the Cornhusker before April 25. If no choice in the matter is left at the office by that time, the date will be set by the Student Council.

Farmers' Program Broadcast by WFAV

A ten-minute program for farmers was broadcast by the College of Agriculture each noon during the past week from University station WFAV. The programs, which began at 12:15, included addresses by Prof. F. D. Keim, Prof. F. E. Mussell, Dr. L. Van Es, and Miss Ruth Staples, and a concert by the College of Agriculture glee club.

Language Professor Attends Convention

Prof. John A. Rice, jr., of the department of ancient languages, attended the meeting of the Classical Association of the Middle-West and the South, held at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Miss Jessie Jury and Miss Ethel Beattie, instructors at Lincoln high school and graduates of the University, also attended.
