FIRST ROUND ALMOST OVER

Fraternity Baseball Teams
Play Three More Games;

SECOND ROUND WILL BE RUN NEXT WEEK

Competition in the annual interfraternity baseball tournament advanced one more step with the playing of three games yesterday afternoon, and but four contests are left on the first round card. With the playing of the last games of the initial bracket Saturday the Greeks will start in on the second round next week.

The prize contest of yesterday was the Delta Alpha Sig game. Delta Tau Delta won out in the last inning with a one-run margin, 10 to 9. The Alpha Sigma Phi team threw a wrench into the cogs of the Delta machine in the fourth inning, and tied the score in the sixth after a Delta Tau Delta four-run rally.

Howell and Tipton were the opposing pitchers. The Alpha Sigs started out by bumping Howell for three runs, in the first frame, while Tipton held his opponents without a score. The Deltas scored a pair in both the second and third frames. With the score tied, 9 and 9, the Delta team scored the winning run in the last inning.

Sigma Nu won easily from Phi Tau Epsilon, 12 to 7. Stemen, hurling for the Sig Nus, held the locals without a run for four innings. The Phi Taus scored two in the fifth and five in the seventh. Meanwhile, Sigma Nu counted in every inning in the sixth. Anderson and Baird pitched for the losers.

Farm House won a sweeping victory from the Sigma Chi team with the one-sided score of 27 to 10. Beardsley and Dosak of Sigma Chi were unable to stop the scoring avalanche of the Ag team. Seibold pitched for Farm House.

One game is slated for today. The Sig Eps, winners of last year's tournament will play Phi Alpha Delta this afternoon at Rock Island Park. The remaining three contests will be run off Saturday. Acacia meets Kappa Psi in the morning and the two afternoon games pit Delta Chi against Pi Kappa Alpha and Phi Gamma Delta against Delta Sigma Delta.

Pi Kappa Delta won a technical victory, 1 to 0, when the A. T. O. team forfeited its game.

Give More Opinions on Value Of Class Honorary Societies

Much discussion is still evident around the campus on the question of class honorary societies since the personal interviews were published in yesterday's issue. Because of the interest in this question which has arisen more interviews have been secured.

The Nebraskan is attempting to be perfectly fair in its choice of the faculty and student members to be interviewed, and it is attempting to choose as many in class organizations as out of them. Some of the students and faculty members refuse to give interviews because they profess lack of knowledge on the subject. As nearly as possible, both sides of the question are discussed in the interviews which have been secured.

Dr. Condra — Innocent Advisory Board

According to my observations the honorary societies have done some very good work at the University of Nebraska. Especially those which have taken charge of the traditional

FEW ASKING FOR OFFICES

Only Seven Filings for Student Council and None for Publication Board.

LAST TIME TO FILE
TODAY AT 5 O'CLOCK

Only seven filings were made up to last evening for the vacancies on the Student Council and no filings for the Student Publication Board had been received. All filings must be made at the Student Activities office before 5 o'clock this evening and the names of the candidates will be announced in the Sunday Daily Nebraskan.

Eleven vacancies are open for students of sophomore standing in the University, on the Student Council, and four for students of junior standing. One sophomore man must be elected from the following colleges: Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Business Administration, Engineering and Law. One sophomore woman must be elected from the following colleges: School of Fine Arts, Teachers College and the Colleges of Agriculture and Arts and Sciences.

Two men of junior standing and two women of junior standing will be elected from the class at large for the Student Council. Four members of the present council will continue in their membership for next year, these being chosen by the organization.

The three student members of the Publication Board are also to be chosen at the election on April 28 and candidates must be filed by this evening. One member must be of freshman standing at the present time, one must be a sophomore and one a junior.

Candidates for the Council must have made a scholastic average for the first semester of seventy-five per cent and must be from the specific college and class mentioned. There are no qualifications for the Student Publication Board other than that of class.

WALKER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Instructor in Journalism Stricken
With Anthrax

Gayle C. Walker '24, instructor in journalism, is seriously ill at the general hospital from acute anthrax complicated by streptococcus infection. Doctors reported that he seemed to be somewhat improved Thursday afternoon although he had taken a turn for the worse the preceding night.

Mr. Walker was taken ill two weeks ago and has been confined at home since. For several days after his first attack he improved steadily, but streptococcus infection was discovered Wednesday evening and he was ordered removed to the general hospital.

Students in the School of Journalism took up a collection Thursday morning and sent Mr. Walker a basket of flowers with their best wishes.

R. O. T. C. Parade To Be Held Today

The R. O. T. C. will give a regimental parade and review this evening at 5 o'clock. The parade will be in honor of the deeds of the various colleges. First call will be at 5 o'clock and final assembly at 5:10. This is the second regimental parade of the year.

features of the campus. Having been a member of the Innocent of this society for a number of years, I have had full opportunity to observe and judge its workings.

Mary Doremus — Y. W. C. A. Treasurer

I feel that a scholastic requirement is important in any honorary organization. The present method is not adequate for the kind of organizations we have. I am not especially in sympathy with them, because they don't accomplish anything as far as I can see.

Prof. Senning — Political Science
In my judgment no organization should exist unless it has some particular function to perform in life. In so far as my information goes, I have not been able to discover any very useful purpose of the honorary societies in school life. If they have any mission they fail to make it obvious.

Prof. Hicks — U. S. History
In my two years here, I have heard little or nothing about the honorary societies which would tend to indicate that they are not among the best college organizations.

Frances Wientz — Black Mask

I think it would be well to consider the honorary organizations as purely social ones, unless the scholastic requirement is put into effect. At present you have a hard time to tell just what they are for. It would be well to change their purpose and make them more specialized, or have them as I think they were supposed to be.

Elaine McMonies — Y. W. C. A. Cabinet

I personally favor the honorary organizations very much. Every other school has them and we are not to be left out. As for the scholastic requirement for entrance, I think that people that are chosen for these organizations are selected partially on scholastic as well as social activities.

Florence Frahm
I think that honorary organizations should have more of a definite purpose and program in view. However, an honorary organization is partly reward for what a person has done in the past. A scholastic requirement for entrance would be an asset without a doubt.

WILL HOLD FIRST ACADEMIC TESTS

District Contests Saturday for Third Annual State Meet
Here in May.

Preliminary contests for the third annual interscholastic academic contests of Nebraska high schools will be held Saturday, April 25, at Wayne Hastings, Kearney, Alma, Holdrege, McCook, Chadron and Bridgeport. Every accredited school not participating in a district contest, as well as the winners of these contests, may send two representatives to the state contest which will be held at the University May 9.

The first contest of this kind was held in 1923 for eight different subjects and was won by Omaha Central. The next year the number of subjects was increased to eighteen and this year three more subjects are added. Omaha Central again won first place last year with Lincoln and York winning second and third places. Awards are also to be made for individual merits so that the smallest high schools will have an equal chance with the largest.

The questions in this contest are to be prepared by members of the University faculty and are to be of such a nature that only good general school work will help in preparation. The contest this year will be in the following subjects: spelling, elementary and advanced English composition, English literature, first and third year algebra, plane and solid geometry, trigonometry, American history, ancient history, modern European history, civics, second, third and fourth year Latin, French, chemistry, physics, botany, and Spanish.

Colorado University soon will enter into another branch of sports if present plans materialize. Construction of a $1,000,000 lake, four miles east of Boulder, by the Public Service Bureau of Boulder will provide an ideal place for rowing. If opponents can be obtained and the cost is no prohibitive, this sport will become a reality in Colorado. The lake is two miles long and one mile wide.

A ten-piece jazz band is a feature of the California Glee Club concerts. The program on tours includes the jazz numbers, comic acts and monologues, dancing acts, and college and operatic selections by the club. This same group made a tour of Europe and the United States last summer.

ENGINEERS TO HOLD EXHIBIT

Committees Are Appointed to Have Charge of Various Activities.

The week will open Monday morning, May 11, with a pep meeting for all engineering students in the Temple at 11 o'clock. Music and cheers will supplement the program of talks by members of the engineering faculty.

Field Day will be Tuesday, with observation of the exercises at Antelope Park. Horse-shoe pitching, chain races, surveying races, and a baseball game in which the faculty of the College of Engineering will probably compete with the students, are included in the Field Day plans. The civil engineers, in addition to opening the cement testing, road material testing, and construction materials testing laboratories to the public, will display models of bridges and other structures. Guessing contests as to the ultimate loads that will be borne by the bridges will be conducted. Prizes will be awarded when the bridges are tested to destruction.

Models of farm machinery and farm buildings will be displayed in the Armory by the agricultural engineering students. The architectural engineers will hold a special display of drawings.

The electrical engineering laboratories will be open to public inspection. "Diving ducks," operated by magnetic action, may be included in the spectacles arranged by the "E. E." Equipment in the radio laboratory will be explained to interested visitors. Dynamos, motors, and spark coils in operation, will be on inspection.

At a College of Engineering convocation held Friday at 10 o'clock, Chancellor Avery will probably award the scholarship medal bestowed annually upon the freshman in any department of the college who has achieved the highest average in the past year. Prof. Clark E. Mickey, chairman of the department of civil engineering, will present the prize awarded annually to the civil engineer who has raised his grade most

Design Scholarship Medal

The Department of Fine Arts has designed medals to be given the winners of third annual High School interscholastic academic contests. The design on one side is typical of the state of Nebraska and on the other side it represents scholastic endeavor. The design to represent the state is a conventionalized dome of the new capitol, upholding the torch of learning and this is surrounded by a wreath of laurel. On the other side of the medal the design to represent scholastic endeavor is of the cupola of University Hall. The medals are in gold, silver and bronze.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS
Help make the campus of the University more attractive. Keep on the walks and off the grass—each student should aid the University authorities in keeping the campus beautiful.

ORCHESTRA IN FINE CONCERT

Minneapolis Organization
Pleases Big Audience at City Auditorium.

MANY UNIVERSITY
STUDENTS ATTEND

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, with Henri Verbrugghen, conductor, Marie Tiffany, soprano, as soloist at the evening concert, and Henry J. Williams, harpist, matinee soloist, played at the city auditorium yesterday. Of the approximately 2,500 seats in the auditorium, fully three-fourths were occupied, much of the audience being composed of University students, high school and grade school pupils.

Members of Corncocks and Tassels, men's and women's pep organizations respectively, served as ushers in their scarlet and cream uniforms. Remarkable harmony and melody was evidenced in the playing of the orchestra. So perfect was the unity of the great orchestra that the music seemed to come forth from asingle instrument. The delightfully varied program gave excellent display to the versatility of its technique and interpretations. The climax to the evening performance was reached in the stirring rendition of the Prelude to Act III of "Lohengrin." Outstandingly vivid was the interpretation of "March of the Sarda" from "Caucasian Sketches" by Ippolitoff-Ivanoff in the matinee program.

Henri Verbrugghen, Belgian conductor with a wide orchestra experience in European cities and in Australia, showed himself deserving of the enviable reputation which he has made for himself in the two years in which he has led the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. He conducts with sympathy, with unaffected fervor and earnestness, and with delicacy of interpretation.

Clear melody and youthful joy are embodied in the lovely soprano voice of Marie Tiffany, soloist at the evening concert, who is completing her ninth season with the Metropolitan Opera Company and on the concert stage. But the freshness and youth in Miss Tiffany's singing do not bar from it a rare sympathy and depth of emotional understanding. Her flexible technique and beauty of tone were particularly evident in "The Jewel Song" from Faust.

The convention will open with registration of the members and guests at the desk of the secretary in the Temple building. At 2 o'clock will follow section meetings of Chemistry, Biology, Social Sciences, and Engineering. Dr. Doby's address will be at 8 o'clock that evening. Friday morning there will be a business meeting of the Academy. F. G. S. Collins, curator of the University museum, will speak on "The Museum in the Education of Nebraska." This will be followed by a general discussion of the place of science in education, of general as well as professional interest. Friday afternoon an hour will be reserved

Burro and Oleander Bush Causes Worry to "Tut Tut" Property Men

Where, in Lancaster county, can a burro be found? That has been a source of worry to the property managers for "Tut Tut" which is to be presented at the Orpheum tonight.

How, after having found it, can a burro be transported to Omaha in time for the show Saturday night? That is the problem which now confronts Kosmet Klub members and others who have been collecting the properties for the musical comedy.

The burro has been found and will appear in the show tonight. It was discovered after an extensive search, three miles south of the State Penitentiary.

But the problems concerning the burro have not all been solved and new perplexities arise constantly. In the first place, this particular burro has never accommodated more than one passenger, while it is absolutely necessary that he be ridden by two members of the cast tonight.

A railroad regulation which makes it necessary for someone to accompany the animal in the baggage car has brought gray hair to members of the Klub already. Who will be the burro's companion to and from Omaha?

An oleander bush was specifically called for in the list of properties. After ceaseless efforts it was found that there is one such plant in the city of Lincoln. This broadleaved sclerophyll will also be seen at the show.

A ten-dollar bill and several gold pieces have also been hard to get. Buckets and mops, pieces of ancient Egyptian furniture and tapestry, and six horseshoes are included in the list of properties.

So far the burro has showed marked signs of resentment on the baggage car proposition and it seems that it will be necessary to arrange several rehearsals before the animal will willingly submit to this ordeal.

A practice in which the two members of the cast and the burro itself will figure has been set for 3 o'clock this afternoon. Both actors are expert riders of ordinary horses, but the question of how they will get along with burro accustomed to being ridden by one person is still uncertain.

MANY TICKETS SOLD FOR PLAY

"Tut Tut" Tickets Are Almost Gone; Last Chance to Buy
This Morning.

COMEDY WILL BE GIVEN
TONIGHT AT ORPHEUM

Only a few seats are left for the 1925 Kosmet Klub musical, "Tut Tut," to be presented at the Orpheum tonight. Students' seats should apply at the box office this morning to avoid the last-minute rush for tickets.

A few single seats are left in the first balcony, second balcony is not all taken, that groups may reserve block seats if they appear early. Seats in Omaha have been good for the presentation at the Brandeis Saturday evening.

The first dress rehearsal was held last night at the Orpheum. Another will be staged this afternoon. The curtain will rise tonight at 8:30.

The play is a six-scene musical extravaganza written by Cyril L. Coombs, writer of the 1923 and 1924 comedies. Sixteen song numbers, with solos, duets, quartets and chorus numbers are included and the speaking parts are especially clever and original.

Some surprises will be sprung which are not only unexpected but mystifying and troublesome. Developments in the plot to cure the eccentric professor of his unusual digging tendencies come fast and furious after the arrival of the archeologist and his party in Egypt.

The comedy is the most elaborate ever undertaken by Kosmet Klub. Scenery, costumes and other details have all been prepared to meet the requirements of the story. Unheard of details will contribute greatly to the outcome of the plot.

The cast will leave for Omaha at 1:30 Saturday and will hold a rehearsal at the Brandeis Saturday afternoon. Phi Rho Sigma will entertain for the members and the cast after the show.

HOLD RALLY FOR FARMERS' FAIR

George Jackson, Secretary of State Fair Board, Speaks to Students.

George Jackson, secretary of the Nebraska State Fair Board, spoke on "Fairs at a Farmers' Fair rally, Thursday evening. Mr. Jackson has been president of the Fair Board for several years previous to his appointment as secretary and has been connected with fairs of different kinds for a number of years. Mr. Jackson told of the many things that must be done to put a fair across successfully. "Cooperation," said Mr. Jackson, "is the greatest factor in determining whether or not a fair will be successful." He stated that the talent in the College of Agriculture was sufficient to stage a better fair than any other fair in the state with the exception of the Nebraska State Fair.

Charles Graff, Bancroft, who has also been a member of the Fair Board gave a short talk regarding fairs. He stated that in order to be successful, the students must always be willing to compromise and arbitrate.

More than three hundred students attended the meeting which was considered by the Farmers' Fair Board to have been the most successful one that has been held. Nat Tolman, '25, assistant manager of the Fair Board had charge of the meeting and urged all committees to push their work as much as possible as the date of the Fair is not far off.

Joe Culbertson, manager of the Fair, announced that the last Farmers' Fair rally would be held Wednesday night, April 29. The Cornfield Follies and the Snorphen will both give a part of their performances at this time and several other of the leading features of the Fair will be presented to the Ag students. Reports from all of the committees show that the work for the Fair is getting well under way and preparations will soon be completed.

A committee from the Interfraternity council of the University of Colorado has been appointed to review a plan compiled by doctors and specialists recommending that all fairly large colleges should have a health service plan composed of three departments: one for individual health, one for inspection and sanitation and one for physical examination for freshmen and entering students. The plan is based on replies to questionnaires sent out to 181 university medical departments, to fraternities in 150 colleges and to assistant deans of these colleges.
