GALLERY IS OPEN TODAY

Musical Program Given To Open Exhibit Saturday Evening; Display To Be Open All This Week.

The annual art exhibit of Fine Arts students opened last evening with a musical program in the art gallery. Exhibits of drawing, painting, and design work executed by classes during the year are shown. The exhibit includes specimens of the work of nearly every student in the art courses, whether registered in the School of Fine Arts or not.

Musical numbers by Elizabeth Luce, violinist; Herman Decker, bass; Thelma Sexton, pianist and composer; Marion Yoder, soprano; and by the Delta Omicron trio, composed of Mary Creekpau, cellist; Mary Ellen Edgerton, violinist; and Harriett Cruise, pianist, made up the opening program.

The gallery will be open to visitors from 3 to 6 o'clock today, and on all mornings and afternoons during the week.

Varied Works Shown

Drawings in charcoal, pencil, ink, and pastels will be shown, as well as paintings in oils, tempera, and water-colors. The design, modeling, and pottery classes will show work done during the year, as will Mr. Dwight Kirsch's class in stage design, which has made the settings for all University Players productions.

Two portraits and a Breton scene, the work of Miss Theresa Emerson, fine arts instructor, and representations of antique tapestries and Chinese paintings, by Mr. Kirsch, will be faculty contributions to the display. Work from blueprints done in the interior decoration class will also be shown, showing rooms, elevations, plans and color drawings of the decorations realistically arranged.

Commercial Art

The commercial art class will be represented by illustrations for stories and poems, posters and layouts for advertisements, and cartoons. Miss Emma Skudler's pottery class will offer specimens of gesso, stenciling, tooled leather, painted tin, and wood. The drawing classes will furnish their share in the way of exhibits.

Mr. Kirsch's modeling class of about thirty students will present examples of work in outdoor sculpture, such as birdbaths and fountains, and interpretations of original or assigned subjects.

ISSUE MAY NUMBER OF ALUMNI JOURNAL

Complete Program and Articles on Round-Up Week Are Featured.

The May issue of the Nebraska Alumnus, which has just been published, extends a welcome to alumni throughout the country, asking all to join in the Round-Up festivities this spring.

This year's Round-Up comes a week before school closes, so that the students will all be here to welcome the alumni. Besides carrying out the regular traditions, there is to be a circus, a play, a dance drama, and a ball game. Ivy Day, the one day when the undergraduates reign supreme, comes on Thursday, the 28. The Alumni Council will meet in the Temple at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, and there will be a meeting for alumni women the same morning in Ellen Smith Hall. Saturday will be taken up with class breakfasts, an all-University reunion, the Memorial Day program, and dances.

A list is given in the Alumnus of the names of the alumni who have visited the office and signed the alumni register. Pictures of the campus and activities of long ago are featured.

Chancellor's Corner

"The Round-Up" by Chancellor Avery, and an account of the Chancellor's resignation are two of the leading articles. "The University and the State," an article dealing with the relation of the two, calls attention to the fact that the real value of the University is seldom appreciated. Our aim should be, it says, to make the citizen of Nebraska say that "the University is a workshop, not a playground." To do this we must appeal to three distinct groups: the students and faculty, the first and smallest group; the alumni; and the third and largest group, the citizens of the state who have no direct or personal contact, and consequently little interest in the institution. The University owes it to itself to keep the people of the state in touch with what goes on about the campus, the article points out.

The contents of the Alumnus also include "The Peace Primer" by Mrs. E. K. Bowman, 06, director of the Montana world peace information campaign; "The Nebraska Welcome" by Howard Buffett, '25; and the regular news of the classes.

Faculty Members Fill Speaking Engagements

Members of the faculty of the University are now filling speaking engagements for high school graduation exercises. Prof. C. W. Taylor of the Teachers College spoke at Cedar Rapids, Neb.; G. R. Boomer, extension agent in agriculture, at Linwood; Dean W. E. Sealock of the Teachers College at Orleans; Prof. A. A. Reed at Mitchell, Sunflower Consolidated and Lakeside; Rev. Harry Huntington, University Methodist pastor, at Hordville and Verdon; Dean R. A. Lyman of the College of Pharmacy at St. Paul; and G. W. Roseniof of the Teachers College at DuBois. Many other engagements have been made for the future.

TO PARADE FOR GOVERNOR

The entire R. O. T. C. regiment will be reviewed by Gov. Adam McMullen at a parade on Wednesday, May 20. First call will be sounded at 4:50 o'clock and assembly at 5 o'clock.

Will Shift Control of Annual Fair

Realizing that the Farmers' Fair has outgrown its organization the Ag Club at its meeting Thursday evening approved a new constitution which will be voted upon by all College of Agriculture students soon. This new constitution provides for a more concentrated organization which shall be known as The Farmers' Fair Association.

In contrast to the old method of electing a manager and various specified members of the board, it requires the election of five people; three men elected by the men and two women elected by the women. The man receiving the highest number of votes shall be the manager and the woman receiving the highest number of votes shall be the secretary. These two, with the remaining three, shall constitute the board.

It was at the suggestion of the outgoing board that this new constitution was drawn up. Several members of the faculty appointed by Dean Burnett have assisted in its construction. It will be ready for approval of the students of the College of Agriculture soon.

Election of the Fair Board and of Ag Club members will be held on May 27. Ray Swallow, '25, treasurer of the Fair, was unable to make an exact report as yet on the financial outcome of the Fair, but as soon as all bills come in a report will be given to all Ag students.

JAMES CONFERS WITH AVERY

New Dean of Arts College Stops Here On Way To Texas

Dr. Herman G. James, who has been elected dean of the College of Arts and Science, effective next fall, was in Lincoln last week and conferred with Chancellor Samuel Avery on matters connected with his new duties. Doctor James attended the meeting of deans of colleges of arts and sciences at Madison, Wis., representing the University of Nebraska. He will give a course in Latin-American government next year, it was decided. He has spent ten years in South America studying the governmental systems and is an authority on the subject. He returned after a day here to the University of Texas, where he is chairman of the department of political science.

Sociology Student Enters Welfare Work

Clara Brehm '25, Lincoln, who is majoring in sociology, has accepted a position with the Family Welfare Society, Minneapolis, Minn., where she will complete her training in social service. The appointment is effective September 1.

The University of Colorado has just finished its "Scholarship Week," sponsored by one of its campus societies, "The Booster Club." Special attention is given to studies during the period.

University Has Complete Drug Garden

The University of Nebraska has a complete drug garden. It is, perhaps, unknown to many students of the University, although they pass it many times every day.

This garden, located between the museum and Nebraska Hall, is a small rectangular piece of ground of about 70 by 90 feet. On the west side above the entrance to the garden is a weather-beaten arch that bears the words, "Pharmaceutical Garden, College of Pharmacy," but about half of the letters are missing.

MAY REGISTER ALL THIS WEEK

Students Now in School Should Complete Registration by Noon, Saturday, May 27 for First Semester Next Year.

SCHEDULES ARE ISSUED

Programs, When Approved by Advisors, Must Be Left With Dean with Statement of Activities.

Registration for the first semester of next year will continue this week until noon Saturday, May 23. Only those students who have been registered in the University this semester need register this spring. All new students will register in September. Those students who have not completed their registration by Saturday noon will be charged a late fee of three dollars.

Programs of courses to be offered next year may be got at the registrar's office. Advisors will be in their offices for consultation at the hours designated on the programs. When registration blanks have been filled out, approved and signed by the adviser, they will be left, together with a statement of the student's activities, with the dean of the college in which he is registering. All undergraduate women must have their schedules approved at the office of the dean of women.

Pay Fees Next Fall

The application will be approved by the dean of the college and the fees will be checked over. Fees will not be paid until next fall. A statement of fees will be mailed to each student before August 25. Anyone not receiving a statement should notify the office of the Bursar before September 1; otherwise, the office will not be responsible for any error in mail service. It is very important that the correct summer address be plain, on the student's application. Fees must be paid by September 7, either by mail or in person; otherwise the student will be charged a late fee of three dollars.

Students are urged to register early in the week to avoid the confusion connected with late registration.

Women May Apply For Scholarships

Applications for the scholarships of the American Association of University Women must be delivered in person to Miss Gertrude Jones, 2427 P street, by Monday, May 18. Freshmen, sophomore, and junior women are eligible to apply. Gifts amounting to $200 will be awarded to the winners of the scholarships. The number of applicants is small and the attention of all women is called to the matter by Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, from whom application blanks may be obtained.

Kosmet Plans For Interfrat Sing Ivy Day

One of the features of the program on Ivy Day this year will be the fourth annual Interfraternity Sing, sponsored by Kosmet Klub. Plans have been made for the contest and, from all indications, every fraternity will be represented. The Sing will be given during the early part of the afternoon of May 29, preceding the Ivy Day oration.

Each fraternity will be allowed to sing two songs. These are to be unaccompanied, but a piano will be available from which to get the pitch. The judging will be based on the following points: selection, diction, ensemble effect, and general presentation. Professors Paul H. Grummann, Carl F. Steckelberg, and Parvin Witte have been selected to act as judges.

Kosmet Klub has successfully conducted the Sing for the last three years and by means of it has given everyone an opportunity to hear the many fraternity songs. A large silver loving cup will be presented to the winner of the contest. This cup is now held by Delta Tau Delta, last year's winners. The Sing is under the direction of Deitrich Dirks and James Marshall, members of the Kosmet Klub.

SURVEY WORK IS VALUABLE

Conservation and Survey Department Helps Oil Men

Work done by the Conservation and Survey division of the University and by the United States Geological Survey in describing geological formations in Nebraska is proving valuable in oil prospecting in Furnas county where interest has been aroused by the discovery of oil at Narcat, Kas., just across the state line. The anticline on which the well was discovered was first observed by C. A. Fisher, then of the department of geology of the University of Nebraska. Subsequent work was done by Dr. G. E. Condra, director of the Conservation and survey division, and by Harry Mortlock, '16, who investigated for oil companies.

Last Issue Of Awgwan Out Monday

The last number of The Awgwan will be distributed from Station A Monday morning. Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalistic society, has had charge of the publication of this copy, with Irma Ellis in active charge. The unusual cover, developed in blue and orange, was designed by Marcelyn Lichty.

This is the last issue of the University humorous magazine and it will be larger than the ordinary copy. New items will be added to the usual sections. Longer humorous articles will take the place of the short jokes. One of the features is "Aesop's Fables" by Norma Carpenter.

MAY CHANGE MATH COURSES

Teachers' Association Investigates High School Work

A study of the content of mathematics courses in high schools is being made by the State Teachers Association for the purpose of suggesting changes in the high school courses. A questionnaire has been sent out by the extension division of the University to all high schools. The various branches of high school mathematics are listed, and the teachers are asked to tell what emphasis is placed on these branches.

The questionnaires will be mailed to Inez M. Cook, Lincoln high school. Suggestions from teachers for improvement of the work are also asked. The members of the committee in charge are: Inez M. Cook, chairman; Josephine Wible, first district; H. A. Campbell, second district; Glennie Bacon, third district; Nellie Johnson, fourth district; E. A. Ward, fifth district; F. C. Prince, sixth district.

Broad jump	1	8
Shot put	8	0
Javelin throw	1	0
Discus throw	1	3
Pole vault	5	3
Totals	63	46

Winning eight of the fifteen first places and placing in all but three events, Nebraska yesterday took first honors in the first annual triangular meet held on the Stadium track. The Huskies piled up 63 2-3 points to win over Kansas with 46 points and Kansas Aggies with 21 1-3 points.

Less than two thousand fans braved the icy blasts of a February wind to witness the meet, and the times were held down by a comparatively slow track. The cold weather put a damper on the efforts of the tracksters from the three schools.

Clean Sweep in 440

Nebraska's only clean sweep came in the 440-yard dash, when Crites, Scherich, and Beckord took the three counting places. Locke and Hein, however, took first and second in both dashes, and Weir and Dailey brought in eight points in the 220-yard low hurdles. Molzen and Krimmelmeyer also turned in first and second places for the Huskies in the shot put.

The first event of the afternoon was the century dash. Roland Locke took first easily in the slow time of 10.2 seconds, and Bill Hein beat out Fisher of Kansas for the second place. The two dashmen repeated the feat in the 220-yard dash, again letting Fisher down with a third place, in a time of 22.1 seconds.

The mile run points went entirely to the visitors. Balzer of the Kansas Aggies led from the start and crossed the tape first. Grady of Kansas (Continued on Page Four.)

Send Certificates to High School Debaters

The Nebraska High School Debating League has sent out its certificate of honor to the district championship schools—a large diploma suitable for framing, with a place for the team picture—and to each member of the district-championship teams a smaller certificate with the League's seal. These individual certificates are accompanied by a congratulatory letter from the League president, Prof. M. M. Fogg. They will bear the League's official seal and are signed by the president and by the secretary-treasurer, Superintendent C. K. Morze of Curtis. They will be presented either at a special assembly of the school or as a part of the commencement exercises.
