

MANY OLD GRADS HERE FOR ANNUAL ROUND UP

Alumni Return for Reunions and Ivy Day and Commencement Exercises—Full Program of Meetings and Entertainment Planned for Visitors.

ALUMNI REQUESTED TO REGISTER IN TEMPLE

The fourth annual Cornhusker alumni Round Up is in full swing. Many former students have returned to the University and are enjoying the program planned for their entertainment on the campus. All alumni are requested to register in the Temple.

Alumni and students yesterday celebrated the twenty-seventh annual Ivy Day. The features of the morning were the crowning of the May Queen and the tapping of thirteen new Innocents. The program began at 10 o'clock with the procession of girls carrying the traditional ivy and flower chains. The May Queen, Kathryn Warner, with her attendants, took her place on the throne and received the crown.

Eight students of the University competed in a song contest and Herman F. Decker and Harriet Cruise received honorable mention. The class poem was read by Virginia Argenbright. John Kleven, senior class president, planted the ivy, symbolic of the transfer of learning from one generation to the next. The thirteen new Innocents were tapped amid the cheers of the crowd.

The Ivy Day oration was given by William Norton of the senior class after the fourth annual interfraternity sing, in the afternoon. The new Mortar Boards were masked amid the cheers of the crowd.

A business meeting will be the first item of attention for today when the Alumni Association business will be discussed by the alumni council in the Temple building at 9:30. The alumni will meet in Ellen Smith Hall to discuss the problems incident to the co-eds of the school. At 10 o'clock the interfraternity baseball finals will be played in the stadium between the Sigma Phi Epsilon and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities. At 11:30 the law barbecue will be held at the Lincoln Auto Club park south of the city.

The Pan Hellenic board invites all the visiting alumnae and seniors of the sororities to attend a tea at Ellen Smith Hall between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

"Compet" This Afternoon
More than eleven hundred khaki-clad cadets will take part in the thirty-third annual "Compet" this afternoon. The regimental review will be held on the parade ground north of the Social Science building at 1:15 and the rest of the events will be held in the Memorial Stadium.

The honorary colonel, Dorothy Brown, and the sponsors of the companies and battalions will lend a note of color to the occasion. The annual "shirt tail parade" will take place in the evening with the winning company heading the unusual procession.

The University Players will present the mysterious love story, "Whispering Wires," at the Orpheum tonight at 8:15. Alumni and their families, faculty members and students, may secure free tickets at the box office.

The "All-University Reunion" is set for Saturday. The general headquarters will be located in the east concourse of the stadium which will be ablaze with gala colors and class emblems. C. E. Hinds is officiating in the arrangements and Mrs. Max Rehtol is general hostess for the day.

Many Class Reunions
Special class reunions will begin at 9:30, Saturday morning with a general reunion at the "Midway" from 10 to 12. At 12 o'clock the merriment will cease while Mortimer J. Brown of Niagara Falls, N. Y., conducts the memorial services.

After the memorial services a parade will form in front of the east entrance of the stadium on Twelfth street. The procession will move south to R street, then west to Tenth street, and north to the west stand of the stadium where an elaborate luncheon will be presided over by Mrs. F. E. Beaumont and her assistants, Mrs. Ellery Davis and Mrs. Carl Bumstead. Tables will be placed in the west concourse of the stadium to accommodate 800 people. There will be two tables each 400 feet long.

After the luncheon the alumni will pass through the ramps and use the west stand of the stadium as a place for a general business meeting. The speakers platform is built on a line with the ramps and the audience can sit in the shade of the balcony. Chancellor Avery will give his annual report and the business transacted by the alumni council Friday morning will be brought up for ratification and approval.

To Present Dance Drama
The Women's Athletic Association will offer a dance drama in the stadium Saturday afternoon. Valkyrie, senior women's honorary organization, is sponsoring a student circus in the armory from 2:30 to 5:30, with many features in addition to the side shows, roulette wheels, and dancing.

Decker Wins Ivy Day Song Contest

The song contest, which immediately followed the crowning of the May Queen yesterday was won by Herman Decker. Harriet Cruise won honorable mention. This is the first time a contest has been held, but in the future it will be an annual part of the Ivy Day festivities.

Elsie Neely, Martha Graul, Grace Rogge, Harold Hollingsworth, Emma Johnson, Francis Bolton, Herman Decker, and Harriet Cruise were the contestants.

SENIORS WILL HOLD BANQUET

Tickets for Dinner at The Lincoln Go On Sale Today—Are One Dollar.

BANQUET REPLACES TRADITIONAL PICNIC

The senior banquet will be held next Wednesday evening in the main dining room of the Lincoln Hotel. Tickets go on sale today at the Y. M. C. A. office in the Temple and may also be obtained from any member of the Innocents. The tickets will sell for one dollar.

The banquet will begin promptly at six o'clock and will last until eight. The program will be short, so that students having other engagements for the evening may attend. The committee hopes that the banquet will become a tradition with the graduating classes. It replaces the former senior picnic which had become impractical because of the large size of the graduating classes.

Tickets for the affair must be purchased by Tuesday noon. As the dining room at the Lincoln will only accommodate 400, an early demand for the tickets is anticipated.

Wendell Berge, president of the Innocents, will preside at the event as toastmaster. Chancellor Avery and Dean Seavey of the College of Law will give short addresses and Kathryn Warner, president of Mortar Board, and Mike Hannaford will be the student speakers on the program. The Nebraskans orchestra will furnish music for the occasion and Orville Andrews will sing several selections.

Governor McMullen, the Chancellor, the deans of the colleges, and the heads of the departments will be special guests of honor of the graduating class at their banquet.

Text of Ivy Day Oration

Following is the full text of the Ivy Day oration by William Norton, Law '25, Polk, on "Our University: Its Danger Signs."

We are gathered here to observe an established tradition, Ivy Day. This tradition was started by the planting of an ivy upon the University campus by members of the class of 1898. With the planting of that ivy arose the tradition that today aids in filling every student and alumnus with a feeling of love and admiration for his alma mater. The first ivy day was exclusively a senior affair, but in each succeeding year changes were made that tended to make it more and more an all-University day until 1908 when it was definitely designed as a day to be observed by the entire student body.

The purpose of its founders was to foster and instill in the University a better class and University spirit. Hence, we have here a day of honor to the outgoing and incoming seniors; we hear here the class poem; we witness the crowning of the May Queen, a very beautiful and pleasing ceremony, which bestows the highest honor that can come to a University woman, as a tribute of
