ILLINOIS HOSPITALITY.

The following editorial in The Daily Illini, student paper of the University of Illinois, gives some indication of the welcome Cornhuskers who follow their team to Urbana may expect:

Last year when Illinois went to Nebraska, the Cornhuskers gave the team a royal reception. Every car in town bore a "Welcome Illinois" sticker, and banners of orange and blue hung in abundant quantities about the campus.

There is, we believe, a celebration department of the Illinois Union, of which Mr. Mitchem is head. The Illini suggests to Mr. Mitchem, as one friend to another, that it would cost but little to write or wire to Nebraska and borrow sundry banners and pennants of the Cornhusker chroma, with which to bedeck the campus, possibly the stadium and to a fitting extent, the hotel at which Bearg and his men will stay.

The Illini further suggests to the Athletic Association that if the Athletic Association cared through Mr. Huff to ask fraternities to invest 79 cents in cheese cloth of the proper color, with which to adorn their chapter houses and fraternal automobiles and motorcycles, the fraternities would probably comply with Mr. Huff's request.

The Chamber and Association of Commerce are interested in spreading the good names of their respective cities far and wide. Here is a golden opportunity to leave a good taste in the Cornhusker's mouths, even if they don't win, by having some dexterous sign painter inscribe a few "Welcome Nebraska's", and having these signs hung about at strategic points.

Illinois hospitality needs a workout. Let's have it on Nebraska. This is sort of spirit that makes intercollegiate athletics so successfully withstand its critics. And it is an opportunity for Nebraskans to give their sportsmanship a workout in case the Huskers fail to win.

The Autumn Tints in Hosiery Are a Joy to Behold

A most alluring variety of interesting autumn shades are offered you, at Rudge & Guenzel's, in silk Hosiery. All the beautiful tans, browns and autumn tones may be had to harmonize with your costume. Soft, silvery gray, and dozens of new shades, too! Firm, smooth silk—fine, beautiful chiffon—all silk, or, if you prefer, hile feet and tops.

Rudge & Guenzel's feature Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings—the silk stocking that wears—and you're sure to favor Gotham for school wear as well as for dress occasions.

THE HONORARY COLONEL.

Within the next few days the students will go to the polls to select the honorary colonel for the year. If the election is on a basis as lacking in real significance as in the past, the excitement that will undoubtedly arise will be little justified.

Heretofore there has been no particular basis of selection, and there probably will be none this year. The winner's vanity is gratified and the losers are left to weep alone or on some friendly shoulder.

If the students voted for the candidates on the basis of scholarship, democracy and service to the University, as well as on a flimsy sort of popularity, the election of the honorary colonel would be justified. But there is little reason to hope that the old system will be changed.

WHEN THE BELL RINGS "RING OFF!"

Whenever a new instructor assumes a charge in an unfamiliar environment, it becomes necessary for him to adapt himself to more or less traditional customs to suit the fancies of the particular student body. One of these customs, to be observed in Indiana University, as well as in any institution, is that of punctuality. When the chimes of the Student Building ring out the ten-minute notice, students expect the privilege of leaving the classroom on time. Some of the new instructors in the University are not complying with this privilege of the student body.

One of the strictest observers of the class-period bell, Dr. W. M. Tucker, a professor in the geology department, is the one who strikes the hour. Any student who is late is locked out and can not enter the room. When the bell proclaims the end of the 50-minute period, the students are at liberty to leave. Students do not object to this hard and fast rule. They have no reason or right to oppose it.

New professors and instructors in the University would do well to follow the practice resorted to by Dr. Tucker.—The Indiana Daily Student.

COMMERCIALIZING GOOD WILL.

Two students seeking to reap private gain by commercializing the good will of the campus organizations have commenced the publication of a so-called "Fraternity and Sorority Directory," to be sold to the students, the advertising to be sold to the merchants and the proceeds to go into their own pockets.

This directory embodies no more than the official directory published by the university Y. M. C. A. and in fits from the official directory pay many respects is inferior. The prospect of the "N" books printed at great cost and distributed free to the first year students.

The solicitation of advertising for the unofficial directory makes it harder to secure advertising for the support of the bona fide university publications and is harmful to student activities in this respect. Organization presidents in a meeting Wednesday evening voted to oppose the success of this private enterprise. Loyal Nebraska students are called upon to endorse this action and in so doing, forever put their brand of disapproval on movements of this kind. In summing it all up the directory is not needed, it injures the democratic distinction, it injures the finances of authorized publications, and in an enterprise for personal gain only at the expense of the student body.

To Vote On R. O. T. C. Question.

The Student Council at the University of Missouri, by a vote of seven to three, has decided to give the students in the University an opportunity to vote on the question of compulsory military training for freshmen and sophomores.—The Columbia Missourian.

Kansas Enrollment Increases.

The registration in the University of Kansas has reached the high mark of 4,034, according to George O. Foster, University registrar. The registration of this year exceeds that of last year by 277 so far, and it seems likely that this figure will increase.—The University Daily Kansan.

Cautions Columbia Students.

Students of Columbia University were warned against overcredulosity by Dean Russell, who addressed the student body at a recent convocation. "The attitude of skeptical open-mindedness must be cultivated," he said. "You should be 'from Missouri'." The decision on what the teacher shall teach is not with him—it is with the student.

The Dean also cautioned his hearers of "the fads and frills of modern education."—Columbia Spectator.

471 BADGER ALUMNI LIVE OUTSIDE U. S.

Of the 23,000 living alumni of the University of Wisconsin, 471—or about 2 per cent—now live in foreign countries, according to a computation made by the Alumni Recorder.

The graduates of the Badger university live in 41 different countries. China is the home of the largest number, 130. In Ontario, Canada, there are 39, and France and Japan 32 each. Many of the alumni came to the university as students from foreign countries but others are native Badgers.

Ten Years Ago

The Auditorium skating rink opened its winter season. The floor was crowded with co-eds and their escorts, proving the fascinating sport of roller-skating very popular. The Y. M. C. A. closed their membership contest with a big banquet. Every man who had secured a new member was invited.

New members for Silver Serpent, the junior girl's honorary society, were announced.

The Cornhuskers, after a hard scrimmage and individual workouts, declared themselves ready to withstand Drake's "Bulldog assaults."

It was said that there was more pep out in the state for the football team than there was in the University. Some change today!

Twenty Years Ago

The seniors met for breakfast at the State Farm grove. The morning was spent in allying games to get the members of the class acquainted. Something "free" was advertised in The Daily Nebraskan. A Free Religious Society with free discussion for all.

The men's gymnasium classes met for the first time in their uniforms, Turner pants and blue sleeveless jerseys.

Many university classes were so large that the students were forced to stand during the entire hour.

Football was an inter-fraternity game. A contest was scheduled between the Phi Gams and the Phi Pais.

--our shop scout says:

—you never saw so many! Placed end to end they'd reach almost to Urbana and back again! And such clever ones—birthday cards for mother, dad, sister, brother and all the other ramifications of the family tree; friendship and anniversary cards; convalescent cards and sympathy cards—of all sorts, from novelties that will please youngsters, to beautiful sentiments for older people. Place cards and tallies too, for your fussiest luncheons and bridge benefits!—and framed mottoes, that are hand colored, of tooled leather, or etched on glass—priced from 60c to $3.00.

A Superb Collection of Coats at the Famous

—and it's hard to tell which will please you most, the coats themselves or their prices. No need to do without lunches or marceils all semester in order to achieve the coat of your choice! Not if you buy it at the Famous! Good looking fur-collared models at low as $18.75, with assortments of dress and sport coats at $29.50 and $39.50 that you'll simply marvel at. Others as high as $150. And of course you'll want the latest novelties for campus wear—a Navaho blanket coat at $15, and a colored slicker at $5.

Shoes that delight College Girls at Ben Simon and Sons

—bought especially for you! Let one of their courteous efficient salesmen fit you to a pair of their new Autumn brown kid pumps to wear to Urbana tomorrow. You'll have the most dazzling feet on the special! Several styles to choose from at $6.85 and $7.85, with others as low as $4.85. And if the high cost of afternoon tea has hit your pocketbook pretty hard of late, perhaps you'll want to follow the footsteps of many co-eds to Simon's Basement Shoe Section, where smart school oxfords and the latest novelties may be purchased for only $3.85.

Plan your Party Decorations with the Lincoln Floral Store

—of course you'll want your fall formal to be a total eclipse of all the others—so it isn't too early to begin thinking about the setting. It makes no difference whether you want magnolias from Florida, or sun flowers from College View, the Lincoln Floral Store will get them for you. And have you seen their corsages—the most artistic affairs ever! Better whisper their address and telephone number into Bill's ear. Perhaps he'll say it with flowers now and then! It's 1231 N. B 5363.

Champe goes to Chicago for the Latest in Bob-dom!

—this progressive manager of the Terminal Hairdressing Parlor says that he thinks it is just as important for Nebraska girls to have the last-minute styles in bobs as it is for them to have the new fashions in dresses, hats and slickers. So that is why he is in Chicago attending all the important beauty demonstrations. He'll be back the first of the week, so come in for a haircut, a marcel or a permanent, and you'll appear on the campus looking as though you had just stepped off Michigan Boulevard!
