MORE ABOUT PLEDGING.

Many types of delayed pledging have been tried by the universities and colleges of this country. They vary in the time required before rushing is conducted and bids extended.

Multiplicity of rules, it has been found, serve to defeat the purpose of delayed pledging, and those systems which are the simplest have worked out the best.

The period before pledging can take place varies at different schools from three weeks to two years. Three weeks seems too short to aid greatly in solving the problem of hit-and-miss rushing; while to delay two years would be to deny to the underclassmen for an excessive time the advantages he may gain from a fraternity.

In some schools the rushing is limited to certain evenings each week, in others all rushing is prohibited until some time after school has opened. A limitation on rushing is necessary, it has been found, to prevent the taking of too much of the time of both the fraternity men and rushees from their school work.

The system most in vogue, and probably the best, is that in which rushing is limited to Friday and Saturday evenings and pledging prohibited until the end of the first semester. While men probably "spike," or promise to join, some fraternity before the official pledging opens, it has been found that "spikes" mean little. The student has a good deal of time to think the matter over before he puts on a pledge button, and since he is not living in the fraternity house he can easily change his mind.

Under such a system the invitations to join might be extended in writing, to doubly make sure that the rushee's decision is not made while under the pressure of a "sweat session."

Under such a system the freshman would have an opportunity to look over the fraternities carefully, to study their members, and to make his decision unmolested. He would not, in addition, be cut off from making acquaintances and enter into the fraternity social life, as he could be entertained at the fraternity houses.

FAIR PRICES.

Because of the number of reservations that have already been made for parties, no action could be taken by the representatives of campus organizations who met Wednesday evening at the temple. Decision to again consider the matter, and to set a student scale for ball rooms and other necessities for parties was made, however.

Such action is necessary, it seems, because of the increase in prices, particularly by the managers of ball rooms. The increase hardly seems justified, and has more the flavor of action taken because of a virtual monopoly.

In the future the students will do well to set a definite price and refuse to pay more. Such action was successful several years ago and in all likelihood it would succeed again.

Student Opinion

The Daily Nebraskan assumes no responsibility for the sentiments expressed by correspondents, and reserves the right to exclude any communication whose publication may for any reason seem undesirable. Except by special arrangement, communications cannot be published anonymously.

To the Editor: In yesterday's Nebraskan an outraged student protested against the high cost of dating. No doubt he knows his financial state well enough to talk, but in his argument did he consider both sides of the question?

His main grievance seemed to be the price of Rent-a-Fords, because, as he said, girls refused to walk to and from parties. This statement, I believe, was made without sufficient investigation, for there are very few normal co-eds at this school who would object to walking down town, if the subject were broached, and if the weather was agreeable.

Of course a boy must take into consideration the girls who live in the south part of Lincoln, where the distance makes walking impossible. And of course if the weather is disagreeable, or when the formal parties are on, it is necessary to have a car, but otherwise there are few girls who would flatly object to walking. Of course it is rather preposterous to even think of taking a street car to the park, or even to the Lindell, for the service is not all it could be.

Try asking a girl if she minds walking. If she refuses, you can remember and not give her another opportunity to do so, but the chances of her refusing are rather slight. At (Continued on Page Three.)

Ten Years Ago

Drake was defeated by the Cornhuskers on the Nebraska field 48 to 13. The largest opening-game attendance in years saw the team start the fall campaign.

Bessey Hall for the botany and zoology departments was being constructed on Twelfth and Q streets. It was to be built similar to the new buildings on the campus.

Ten minutes each day was to be devoted to setting up exercises to give the new men on the campus the smart appearance of regular soldiers.

The Phi Deltis had a smoker at the Delta Upsilon house.

A Wonderful Floor at the Lindell Party House

Dick Stryker, of course, wouldn't be satisfied until it was 100 per cent perfect! So, much hard labor has been spent on it this week, with the result that it is now the kind that gives an Irene Castle technique to even the most reluctant feet! The Nebraskans, featuring Orville Andrews, are other perfectly good reasons why students prefer the Lindell. Dance here tonight and you'll be glad you are in Lincoln instead of in a stuffy old Pullman, or perhaps even riding the "sit-cars" on your way to the Illinois game.

Winter Coats are "Wrapsodies" at Ben Simon & Sons

—the best looking affairs you ever saw—so unmistakably 1925 in line, color, and fabric, that you'll never have the courage to wear last year's coat. Sport and dress models that will enable you to look conspicuously smart on the first cold days: with great fur collars in which to hide collegiate noses; with fur cuffs and trimming bands too, in many instances. Pleasingly priced from $25.00 to $198.50. Fur chokers and scarfs to wear with fall dresses are also waiting for you at Simon's, from $6.25 to $85.

Five Shoe Styles at Mayer Bros. Co. that Score with Co-eds!

—just five of the many, of course! No. 1 is a velvet strip pump with Spanish spike heel; No. 2 is a patent pump with inlays of metallic cloth; No. 3 is a patent pump with hand painted strap. —these are the social butterflies in the college shoe world! No. 4 is a low-heeled strip pump of patent leather that does NOT slip on the heel; No. 5 is a seal brown calf walking oxford trimmed with pig-oat. Two numbers that do duty all day long, from the first eight o'clock to the dinner gong!

The Globe Laundry will Erase the Worry Lines!

—Those needless wrinkles caused by such weighty problems as: When will you ever get the time (and courage) to run down to the post office with the big white canvas suit case? or will it be back so that you can wear that white crepe blouse Saturday night? When there are so many more picturesque worries, just eliminate this one by calling the Globe Laundry each week. They not only give excellent 24-hour service, but return your stockings darned and your clothes mended.

Get the idyl Hour Tea Room Habit!

—drive up in the old broken-down Ford tonight after the dance or movies. Get a malted milk and one of the new Twatwich sandwiches perhaps. U-m-m! but they're good. They toast the whole works not just the bread! The Idyl Hour is the place to eat after classes, too. It's so handy to campus (136 No. 12th) After you've tried their fountain and luncheonette service, you'll know why so many co-eds "tan" here. Featured also, are excellent Sunday dinners at 50c and 75c.
