MORE THAN VICTORY

The Nebraska Cornhuskers at Urbana yesterday afternoon defeated a team that before the game was rated a 2 to 1 favorite.

Sweet though victory may be, it was not in winning that the Nebraska team showed its greatness, but in the gallant spirit of never-say-die that the victory was accomplished.

The students, therefore, who welcome home their team today should remember that honor is due not for winning alone, but for the manner in which it won.

VOTES

Class elections come Tuesday. The names of the candidates are announced in the Nebraskan today.

Enthusiastic citizens are prone to forget that a blind vote is more dangerous to the community than no vote.

The University student who is genuinely interested in his class and his school will make an effort to get acquainted with the candidates before voting.

Also, the Pershing Rifles was about to be made a national organization; if this word were to get around to the universities that had applied for chosen who are worthy of the honor, who are competent to fill the office, and who will not abuse the privileges which accompany it.

Don't vote Tuesday, unless you know who you are voting for!

CONCERNING THOUGHT.

Superficial thinking is a common human quality. Fortunately, in some classes of human endeavor, mere industry and care bring large rewards, even to those with surface-skimming minds.

University people are an over-privileged group. A University person must be careful that, for all his opportunity, he does not render back under-service.

Why not set aside a period each day for deliberate thought? The thinker should be secluded, the desk barren, all noises shut out, the intellect alone put to work.

—which ought to be sufficient even at the beginning for at least thirty minutes real thinking.

Student Opinion

The Daily Nebraskan assumes no responsibility for the sentiments expressed by correspondents, and reserves the right to exclude any communication whose publication may for any reason seem undesirable.

AGAINST CRACK PLATOONS.

In the Friday issue of The Daily Nebraskan, there appeared an article on the front page to the effect that Captain Huska of the military department was making plans for the formation of a platoon of crack crack cadets in drilling, to be taken from the junior advanced classes in military science.

In my opinion, this will in time do away with the Pershing Rifles, a crack drill organization founded by General John J. Pershing, then commandant of the University of Nebraska R. O. T. C.

Without doubt the underclassmen will not be interested in Pershing Rifles. They will devote their time and attention to the platoon to be formed by Captain Huska.

The Pershing Rifles had plans completed to drill between halves of the football games this fall, but if these plans that are mentioned are pursued, it will mean that their plans will have to be dropped.

Also, the Pershing Rifles was about to be made a national organization; if this word were to get around to the universities that had applied for it they would no doubt withdraw. The question is, should or should not the Pershing Rifles continue? A PERSHING RIFLE.

ABOUT SMOKING

To the Editor:

I was pleased to note in last Thursday's Nebraskan that the Student Council has taken up the question of smoking on the campus, with suggestions that the practice be stopped.

If the present ruling of the Board of Regents cannot be enforced, the Student Council should make a new rule covering the matter. Such a rule could be enforced by instituting a system of campus police.

THE OUTLAW DIRECTORY.

To the Editor:

The recent editorial attacking the new fraternity and sorority directory seems to be based upon premises which are unfounded in fact.

The purpose of "The Greeks" directory is to make immediately available to fraternity and sorority students accurate information concerning these organizations.

It does contain information which has been hitherto unavailable. It will be absolutely as accurate as possible since each organization has had the opportunity to check and revise the printed proofs.

In brief, this directory answers a definite need, is very reasonably priced, and is not intended to compete with or supplant the general directory.
