

FRESHMEN TO TRY MISSOURI PLAYS

Coach Newman Will Drill Yearling Team in Plays Seen at New Orleans.

The freshmen football team after a lay-off Thursday took possession of the sawdust field which was vacated by the Varsity Friday. The men were in charge of Coach Myers, who put them through a snappy scrimmage.

The first part of the afternoon was spent in punting, dropkicking and passing. A short signal practice followed and the rest of the afternoon was spent in scrimmage. The first team was pitted against the seconds. On the first squad Holmes was at center, Teal and Weller at guards, Richards and Lucas at tackles, and Ashburne and Summers at the ends.

In the backfield Bushby was at quarter, Beck at full, and Ayres and McNicol at halves. Several substitutions were made during the scrimmage. The first team had little trouble in tearing through the seconds although their passes did not work. Roberts at tackle for the second team broke through and spilled several plays before they were under way.

The freshmen are now set for the Missouri plays which will be brought back from New Orleans by Coach Newman.

Washington Back Going Good This Fall

ELMER TESREAU

Elmer Tesreau, captain and full-back on the University of Washington (Seattle) football team, which will clash with the Cornhuskers at Lincoln October 17, is one of the most popular athletes ever to appear in a football suit at the Pacific coast school. Tesreau won his spurs two years ago in the game with the Navy at Pasadena. He is a man with a pleasing personality, active in student affairs, and one of the best students in the institution. Cap. Tesreau is 22 years old and tips the scale beams at 187 pounds. He has a brother, Louis, who weighs 195, and is among the leading members of the 1924 Husky freshman team trying out for a regular position on the Washington eleven.

UNI PLAYERS' SEASON TO OPEN

Forbes, Cosmo Hamilton, William Anthony McGuire, Arthur Richman, and Edward Childs Carpenter.

The play deals with an average American household "jazzmania" has laid its hand on the youth of the family. Father and mother alike are content to scrimp and save that their children may enjoy, until finally there comes a crisis that makes their continued sacrifice impossible. It is at this juncture youth steps in and reveals that it is not as bad as it has been painted. The boys are willing to give up their careers, college, and whatever is necessary that they may ter readily volunteers to buckle down help out and the little flapper daughter to house or office work in order that she may prove her worth. The novel twist given the play at this point, brings it to a joyous ending and comes to the defense of much maligned youth.

Stray Notes On Husker Victory

Nearly 150 Nebraska football followers from Lincoln and Omaha came to Urbana for the game on the special train. Nearly 500 Nebraska alumni from Chicago and intervening points were in the stands.

Nearly three thousand Illinois boy scouts visited the game. The scouts marched into the Illinois stadium in a body. They were invited to the contest by the Illinois athletic department.

In the east stands, Illinois students dressed in orange and blue formed a large "I." The Nebraska rooters were seated in the west stands, in the middle of the field.

Rain in the morning left the field wet. The green turf with the concrete stands on three sides, the orange and blue of Illinois, and yellow slickers or miscellaneous fans, made an impressive sight. The field was soft and the turf was torn up during the game.

The Illinois line outweighed Nebraska four pounds per man, while the Husker backfield bested the Illini one pound. As a team Illinois had the heavier eleven, its team averaging 181 8-11 to Nebraska's 179 4-11.

Nebraska marched on the field at 2:16, amid cheers by Illini and Husker followers. The Cornhuskers gave an impressive appearance with scarlet jerseys and cream helmets. Illinois entered the stadium five minutes later, and three illini elevens started signals. The Illinois team had blue sweaters and orange helmets.

Delegation of 100 New York legionnaires and their ladies on their way to the national legion convention at Omaha witnessed the game and paraded between halves.

The Lincoln special ran over a man and killed him shortly after leaving Urbana.
