

CORNHUSKER SALES SHOW BIG DEMAND

Tassels Now Have Slight Lead In Sale of Honorary Organizations

BOOK WILL SELL FOR $4.50

Priscilla Towle Leads in Individual Sales For Monday; $2.50 Deposit Required

The result of the first day's sale of Cornhuskers on the campus gives promise of a total as great as last year when the subscription list reached its high mark. The honorary societies who are competing for the $50 prize offered by the business manager are giving each other strong competition as the difference in number of subscriptions sold is very slight.

Many members of these organizations failed to check in their books at 5 o'clock on Monday so an accurate count could not be made. All books must be checked in between 5 and 6 o'clock each afternoon. Additional books and tags are given out at the Cornhusker office during the day.

The results as compiled from those checking in give Tassels a slight lead over the honorary societies. Valkyrie is second followed by Xi Delta and Mystic Fish. The honor of the greatest number of sales by one individual for the first day, is held by Priscilla Towle, a member of Valkyrie.

The sales force this year is much smaller than last and the students are urged to buy from the sales managers before Thursday night when the sales campaign closes. Tables have been placed in Social Science, University Hall, and the Library. Books can be reserved there by a deposit of $2.50.

The 1926 Cornhusker will be truly a memory book, taking up as it does every phase of college life. Most students consider they can not be without one for each year of their college life. The order for the number of books will be placed with the printer in a very short time, and to be sure of a book a reservation should be made now.

Sigma Kappa House Suffers Loss of Some Jewelry Sunday Night

A ruby ring, a bracelet, and a fright composed the total loss at the Sigma Kappa house when a thief paid a visit at 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

The robber entered the house by a window in the dining room, it was revealed after police were called. He immediately made his way to the upstairs rooms, where he took the ring and the bracelet from a room in which two were sleeping.

Miss Dorothy Howe, sleeping in a third floor room, gave the alarm which frightened the burglar out of the house. She was awakened by the opening of the door of her room. She saw a man carrying a dim light make his way down the hall. She slammed the door and cried out to the girls across the hall, telling them to turn on the lights.

The police were called and a search made, but the only loss was that of a ring and a bracelet. The intruder picked up a handbag but left it on the first floor. None of the other rooms containing occupants were disturbed.

NEW MINERALS RECEIVED

Department of Geology Exchanges Collection of Stones with Ohio Institution

The department of geology has received an exchange collection of minerals from Toledo, Ohio, which includes specimens of blue celestite, gray lepidolite, pink beryl and dark fluorite with celestite. Samples of gem sapphire mined in Montana also have been received from the New Mine Sapphire Syndicate of Montana.

Students Will Speak At Vesper Service

Dorothy Olmstead, '16, Seward, and Lucille Gillette of Nebraska Wesleyan University will speak on the industrial experiment recently held in Chicago, at the Vesper service in Ellen Smith hall, 5 o'clock today. Both women worked for six weeks last summer in a Chicago factory to get the factory girl's viewpoint on life.

Marion Eimers will be in charge of the Vesper services. Special music will be on the program.

Call First Meeting For Freshmen Today

The first meeting of the freshman class has been called by Reginald Miller, president of the freshman class, in the Social Science auditorium 11 o'clock this morning. The vice-president, secretary, and treasurer for the freshman class will be elected, committee organizations will be announced, and the class will be organized for the Olympics, the annual sophomore-freshman fight. Nomination of candidates for office will be made from the floor.

CHURCH DINNER TO BE THURSDAY

Charles W. Gilkey Secured as Speaker; is well Known College Pastor

EXPECT 250 TO ATTEND

Two hundred fifty students are expected at the first bi-annual banquet and meeting of the Inter-Denominational Clubs of the Christian association of the University at the Grand Hotel Thursday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock. Tickets may be secured for fifty cents at Temple 101 or from any resident of the campus religious organizations.

Charles W. Gilkey, of the Hyde Park Baptist church of Chicago, will be the principal speaker. He is a well known college pastor, taking great interest in young people's affairs and colleges. His lecture, which will be on some phase of college life, is said to be worth hearing because he has recently been the Barrow representative in India where he delivered forty lectures to the students of the University of Bombay, Calcutta and other Indian colleges. Dr. Gilkey has been pastor both at Harvard and Cornell Universities.

He is a graduate of Harvard, and has been traveling and lecturing at various colleges since his pastorate there.

A general invitation is extended to students; but a limit of 250 tickets has been set because of the capacity of the banquet room. Tickets have been distributed to the various campus denominational clubs according to membership, but other students may secure them at the Temple.

College songs, music and special entertainment will be other features of the program. The committee in charge consists of the presidents of the college denominational organizations, with Paul Haberlan as chairman.

Brownell and Wade Publish Science Book

Teaching of Science and the Science Teacher is the title of a new book by Prof. Herbert Brownell, chairman of the University department of secondary education, and Frank B. Wade, head of the chemistry department in Shortridge high school at Indianapolis, which has just been published by the Century company. It deals with problems of teaching science in high schools, including class and laboratory management, conditions necessary for satisfactory work, and qualifications of teachers. It also includes discussions of science courses as an aid in building character and developing of citizens.

University of Nebraska Will Give English Course Over Radio

A Radio Correspondence course in Business English is the latest thing offered by the Extension Division of the University of Nebraska to any people of the state who wish to take advantage of home study. Professor Maurice H. Wesen, of the College of Business Administration, will be the instructor and will give the lectures Tuesday evenings at 8:05, beginning November 10. He will speak from the University of Nebraska Studio, broadcasting over KFAB, (340.7.)

The course will consist of a series of twenty lectures, with written assignments accompanying them to make the instruction practical. Enrollment is open to all, and registration is now under way.

Professor Wesen is very successful teacher of practical, everyday English, and he has been able to bring a great deal of assistance to the business needs of this subject. He is an authority on the theory and practice of teaching business English and his text "Everyday Uses of English" which is the basis of this course, has a wide use.

There are a great many advantages of correspondence study. In the first

HITCHCOCK TO MAKE ADDRESS HERE FRIDAY

Chancellor Avery Urges Students and Faculty To Attend

THEME IS WORLD COURT

Mr. Kirby Page and Conrad Hoffman Will Also Make Speeches At The Meeting

Chancellor Avery has issued to The Daily Nebraskan the following statement relative to the coming of Senator Hitchcock who speaks next Friday on the World Court. He urges members of the faculty and student body to hear Senator Hitchcock and Mr. Kirby Page who speak to help promote the reign of law among nations.

To the Faculty and Students:— A joint committee of representatives from city and University organizations has arranged a meeting at St. Paul's church on Friday, October 16, in the interests of World Court. Former Senator Hitchcock, whose able address to the University audience at the beginning of the World War will long be remembered, and Mr. Kirby Page, prominent in the World Court movement, are to speak.

The meeting will be primarily for the purpose of giving information in regard to the World Court. The necessity of making use of judicial proceedings in international disputes instead of appealing to arms has been recognized in principle by every president of the United States and every Secretary of State for many years.

As a step in this direction the constituting of a World Court on the best possible basis is of vital interest, not only to the United States, but to the entire human race. Hence I urge faculty and students to attend this meeting called to help promote, among the nations, a reign of law.

S. AVERY.

Senator Hitchcock and Kirby Page are to discuss the World Court and Conrad Hoffman will talk about relief work being carried on among the students of Europe in connection with a convention of students and members of the faculties of colleges in Eastern Nebraska. About fifty delegates from the colleges are expected.

Meetings of the convention will continue from Friday noon when Mr. Hoffman speaks at a luncheon at the Grand Hotel until Saturday noon. Delegates will get all the facts about the World Court and world peace so that they may carry on a study of them at the several colleges.

The meetings is held in accordance with a recommendation of the national council of Christian associations which advised a study by all college and university students of the World Court. The local Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. organizations are hosts to the members of the conference.

Set More Dates For Cornhusker Pictures

place, the student need not leave his home; he may study when and where he pleases; he utilizes his spare time gaining valuable information and at the same time receives personal attention from competent instructors. In addition to these advantages, the opportunity of hearing a radio lecture on each lesson.

This Radio Correspondence Course will appeal to many. Business men who wish to improve their letters, and consequently their business affairs, will find this course invaluable. Teachers of English in general, and of Business English in particular, will find this course invaluable, for there is a scarcity of competent instructors in this field. In fact, this course will appeal to all who are interested in promotion and advancement, for every institution is seeking men with ability and training in correspondence.

Following is a brief outline of the course: 1. Rising standards of Business English. 2. Dead letters. 3. Live letters. (Continued from Page Three.)

Son Writes Dad To Be Sure To Attend Annual Dads' Day

Lincoln, October 13.

Dear Dad: Just a line to let you know that I want to be sure and be here this Saturday, October 17, for Dad's Day and the Washington-Nebraska football game.

We have set this day aside for your entertainment and you are to be the guest of the entire University. Dad's Day is an annual event, and a special section has been set aside in the new Memorial Stadium so that you and I may sit together at the game.

There will be a banquet in the main dining room of the Chamber of Commerce at noon sharp and several good speakers including Governor McMullen and Captain Ed Weir will talk. After the banquet we will go over to the Stadium and see the opening home game of the 1925 football season, a game which is undoubtedly one of the best on the schedule.

Be sure and come down, Dad, because all the rest will be here, and I'll feel rather out of place if I don't have you with me.

Your son, —JOHN.

HUSKIES NEED VETERAN LINE

Washington Has Tremendous Scoring Combination in Backfield

HAVE HOST OF NEW MEN

A 50.00 horsepower backfield with speed, size, aggressiveness and a steam roller's kick; with passing ability, kicking strength, both at punting and at field goals, experienced reserves; with everything, in short, that a backfield needs to be a tremendous scoring combination, except the one vital asset of a veteran line in front of it to open holes—that is the football aggregation that the Washington Huskies will bring to Lincoln, for the big opening game in the Nebraska stadium, on October 17.

And, that line situation seems fairly near solution as the season's practice progresses. Two regular ends from the 1924 eleven form the stronghold of the forward wall, and a host of new men are battling for the other five positions on the line.

But that Washington backfield will give the Nebraska Cornhuskers plenty to worry about. It is headed by George Wilson, 190 pounds, the great half-back that Walter Camp called one of the hardest hitters he had ever seen. And to support him there are Elmer Tesreau, captain and fullback, 185 pounds—a fullback of tremendous power on attack, a fine interference runner and stalwart at defense.

Then there is George Guttmersen, quarterback, 160 pounds, a left-footed punter who kicks 50 yards with ease, and can run and pass in addition. There is Harold Patton, 165 pounds, the fleet little half who chased from the opposite side of the field, ran down and stopped Tut Imlay, the fast Californian, when he had broken completely away last year, and of whom Andy Smith remarked: "I didn't know there was a man in football who could catch Imlay—where have you been hiding this kid?"

And beside all of this, there is Les Sherman, 160 pounds, quarterback of two years ago, who did not play last year. He is fast, elusive, a steady passer and a fair kicker.

These five veteran backs combine every quality a coach could ask of his backfield cavalry. They have punch, yet there is also speed and elusiveness; they can kick, run, smash and pass; and not a man of them but is also a defensive player.

And the beauty of it, from Coach Enoch Bagshaw's point of view, is that they are not alone. There are exceptionally capable backfield reserves.

For instance, there's Shidler, the 160-pound lad with the accurate toe, who was pushed in after Washington had scored the tying touchdown in the California game to make certain of the goal kick. He kicks 'em over from any place within the 40-yard line.

And there is Louis Tesreau, the chunky 195-pound brother of Captain Elmer, slower perhaps, but a smasher and the best punter on the squad. There is Hugh Beckett, 150 pounds, a second cousin of the famous Oregon Johnny Beckett. There is Bill Charleston, 185, letterman, and near regular last year at half.

And, added to this array of backfield material, there are two prize finds from the last year freshmen squad—John Strombough, 165, and Johnny Sechan, freshman quarterback, a rangy, quick-witted, 165-pounder.

Start Sale of 400 "N" Books Today

"N" books are on sale beginning this noon in the Y. M. C. A. office in the Temple for the rest of the week. All freshmen are urged to get them this week as there are only 400 left. They will be on sale for upperclassmen at fifty cents each.

TO SELL STAMPS FOR HOMECOMING

Associated Women Students Start Campaign For Distributing Advertising Stickers

"Advertise Homecoming" has become the slogan of the Associated Women Students, who are beginning a campaign to sell Homecoming stickers.

This is the first year stickers have been used on the campus, but as they have been very successful at other places, A. W. S. decided to sell them in place of the customary arm bands and badges. This method of advertising reaches more people and they hope will draw more of the alumni back to the Homecoming game.

The members of the A. W. S. board are selling them on the campus by putting the stickers on all letters they will circulate all over the country, and the attention everywhere will be centered on the Nebraska Homecoming game.

They are only a cent each and are very attractive. Printed in red, "U. of N. Homecoming, October 24," is on the face.

A. W. S. hopes to sell twenty-five thousand of these stamps. They will be on sale for the next two weeks and anyone who wishes to buy them can do so from any members of the A. W. S. board, or from Doris Pinkerton, who is chairman of the campaign. Besides advertising Nebraska the money raised will be put into the A. W. S. scholarship fund.

WILL OUTFIT CADETS SOON

Privates and corporals in the cadet regiment will be completely uniformed by the end of the week as the issue of uniforms is progressing at a good rate after a delay of three weeks caused by the closing down of Nebraska Hall.

The uniforms are being issued in the basement of Nebraska Hall, entrance on the east side.

Wood of Ag College Publishes Bulletin

Ivan D. Wood, state extension agent in agricultural engineering, is the author of a 78-page bulletin published by the College of Agriculture extension service entitled "Farm Buildings for Nebraska." It contains detailed plans, prepared and approved by the department of agricultural engineering, for farm buildings, dairy barns, sheds, granaries, corncribs, fair-ground buildings, feeders, garages, silos, rural school buildings, and other structures.

Dr. Pfeiffer Represents Nebraska At Annual Institute of Politics

Dr. Laura B. Pfeiffer, of the history department of the University of Nebraska, was one of only six persons from west of the Mississippi river in attendance at the Annual Institute of Politics last summer at Williamstown, Mass. She was Nebraska's only representative, and since her return she has received requests from all parts of the state to speak upon the subjects studied there.

Membership in the institute, a meeting of international leaders for discussion of political problems, is by invitation only. Every country of Europe and Asia was represented. Teachers, writers, bankers, diplomatic officials, army and navy officers, editors, and authorities on international law, sat around the same table to discuss questions that concern the entire civilized world. General conferences, lectures and round-table meetings comprised the program.

Dr. Pfeiffer's account of the general conference is especially interesting, although she is of the opinion that the British leaders are more deserving of praise than the representatives of the United States.

"One of these," she says, "was led

Dad's Day Nebraskans To Be Mailed Today

Copies of today's special Dad's Day Nebraskan will be sent out from booths on the campus today by the Vikings to the dads of all University students free of charge. All that is required is that the address to "Dad" be turned in at booths in front of the Social Science building and University hall. It's an easy thing to do, members of the committee feel, and it may make "Dad" feel pretty good.

"But do more than that—after mailing the paper, write a personal letter of your own. Better do that today, before you forget it, and urge your father to witness the Washington-Nebraska game," committee members urge.

ARRANGE WORLD FORUM PROGRAM

Dr. Alexander Will Make Address At Meeting Wednesday Noon

"The Significance of Monuments in Civilization" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Hartley B. Alexander at the World Forum tomorrow noon at the Grand Hotel. The committee in charge has announced that Governor McMullen has been invited to speak to the World Forum and he probably will do so during November.

The part which monuments, not only of stone, but of writing, literature, music and architecture, have played in the perpetuation of civilization's highest ideals is to be the theme of Dr. Alexander's speech, according to the committee. Dr. Alexander's last visit to Europe, it is said, has more than ever convinced him of the significance of such monuments in keeping civilization alive.

In trying to secure Gov. McMullen, the committee announced that it is trying to bring to the discussions the speakers of standing and attainment in their professions, who will give students something to think about. In harmony with the same ideal, the committee is urging students to hear Kirby Page and Senator Hitchcock on the World Court question, and Conrad Hoffman on student conditions in Europe in the meetings on next Friday.

TENNIS PRACTICES FOR WOMEN BEGIN

Tournament Sponsored by Association Will Take Place on October 21.

Tennis for women sponsored by the Woman's Athletic Association starts immediately and all practice must be in by the tournament date, which is October 21. Five practices are necessary to be eligible for the tournament.

A practice is one hour of tennis, which should be reported at the W. A. A. desk in Armory 203. In reporting a practice give date, time, and name.

Twenty-five points are awarded for the five practices which makes one eligible for the tournament. Other points are awarded according to the rules for major sport.

McMULLEN WILL WELCOME DADS ON SATURDAY

Football Game With Washington To Be Feature of Entertainment

EXPECT MANY FATHERS

Annual Event Includes Luncheon At Chamber of Commerce And Special Music

Dad's Day, which is an annual event at the University of Nebraska, will be held this Saturday, October 17, the day of the Washington-Nebraska football game. Fathers of University students are all welcome and they will be guests at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. This banquet will be held in the main dining room which will seat several hundred and will commence sharply at noon.

Special music has been arranged for the luncheon and the University quartet will sing several Nebraska songs. The program of speeches will be very short. It will be headed by an address of welcome by Governor McMullen. Coach Bearg and Captain Ed Weir will be introduced. It is planned to give the fathers a rousing welcome rather than a tiresome rounds of speeches. It is hoped to have the entire program over by 1:30 p. m.

In this issue of The Daily Nebraskan is a letter addressed to "Dad." Free copies of this issue are being mailed out from booths on the campus today to the fathers of students who leave their names at these booths in front of the Social Science building and University Hall.

The Washington-Nebraska football game will be the main attraction of the day and a section of the seats in the stadium will be set aside for the students and their fathers. This game is the opening one of the home schedule of 1925 for the Cornhuskers and undoubtedly will prove to be one of the best on the schedule, as prominent sport writers say that the Washington team is the strongest team on the Pacific Coast.

The Chamber of Commerce will be the headquarters for the day for students and their "Dads." All students are urged to write home at once asking their fathers to be here next Saturday. Reservations for the luncheon should be made when the students exchange their tickets for Dads' tickets.

WILL OFFER NEW ART COURSE HERE

Well Known Instructor To Give Series Of Lectures And Study Hours

Many students, especially those interested in art, will be interested in a series of lectures and study hours to be given twice weekly from November 14 to December 12, by Mr. Johnnot, former head of design at Pratt Institute.

During the past year, Mr. Johnnot has given this course in Cleveland, Des Moines, Ames, and Cedar Falls, and will be in Omaha during October. Mr. and Mrs. Johnnot have spent much time in Europe studying the art of the peasant peoples, which influence is probably responsible for the charm of color and design in their work.

The mid-week meeting is devoted to personal criticism of problems suggested by Saturday lessons. The meetings are conducted in the form of study hours conducted by illustrations of art.

L. H. Gregory, sports editor of the Portland Oregonian, says all this, and adds: "Give that backfield a line and it would run touchdowns from the tropic of Capricorn to the Arctic circle. Give this 190-pound George Wilson a line and he never would stop. Incidentally, watch Wilson this year. He should be better than ever. Always a catapult, they say he's developed a hipshift which doubles his effectiveness by adding elusiveness to his bull strength."

Distribute First Awgwan This Morning
