STILL WE HESITATE

At a meeting of the board of regents the question of fraternity rushing was discussed and a committee was appointed to invent some scheme by which the confusion at the beginning of each school year might be abated.

So reads an item in The Nebraskan of twenty years ago. Second semester pledging, as proposed by the committee, was not adopted by the fraternities.

A similar fate has been received by the delayed rushing proposition each time it has been considered. Why this is so, is difficult to determine.

At some schools, and within the last ten years at Nebraska, the fraternities, after a great struggle, have adopted second-semester pledging.

At the University of Kansas a campaign is being carried on to adopt delayed pledging. The stimulus that started this campaign may have been an incident, caused by hurried rushing, that occurred recently.

"Dear brothers." Such is the fruit of the present insane system of rushing, together with other mistakes of a disturbing but less serious type.

KINDS OF COURAGE

In the 1924 Olympics among the most notable performances which has gone down as athletic history was the 10,000 meter cross country run.

Saturday the Nebraska cross country team goes into action on the home course. Their task will be to uphold the Husker standards of good sportsmanship and fighting spirit in the race.

Many an athlete has risen to higher efforts and added glory with the crowd cheering and urging him on to the goal and victory.

The courage they depend upon to win the five mile run may even surpass the courage of the football team. To them it is a man to man fight for supremacy through thirty odd minutes of grueling foot racing.

Signals! —vital in electrical communication, too "41-7-27-3," sings out the quarterback; and the football goes on towards a touchdown. "Madison Square 32198," says a voice in San Francisco; and a message starts on its way across the continent. But the similarity between football and the communication art doesn't stop there. In each case signals have unleashed a great force. Coordination has scored the goal. And this was made possible only through years of preparation. In one instance, on the gridiron. In the other, in the college classroom and the laboratories of industry. That, in short, is why men who've learned their fundamentals and how to apply them at the snap of a signal are qualifying for positions of leadership in the greatest field of signals known to man — the field of communication.
