OUR DEMOCRACY

We talk a great deal about democracy; we have innumerable meetings to promote this virtue; but how many practice it? There is a tendency on the part of the students to make only those friendships that are accidental...

OF TRADITIONS

We see that the Freshman Barbecue has been labeled by someone, perhaps a Nebraskan reporter or perhaps by someone in charge, as a "tradition." Now the barbecue is doubtless an excellent thing; it provides some form of entertainment for the first year men and gives them a feeling that they are a part of the school...

tom with that title. To a student in an older university, where the traditions did not become traditions until they had existed half a century or more, this would be rather amusing...

THE TEACHER'S MEETING Meetings of teachers of District 1 of the Nebraska State Teachers Association are now being held in Lincoln. Many of the teachers here for the convention are graduates of this university and will visit the campus...

Ten Years Ago

Basket ball has now received more attention, now that the season has advanced. Both Varsity and Freshmen candidates came out or preliminary practice. Captain Hugg of the Varsity had charge of the practice. Ex-Congressman John McGuire addressed the class of Public Finance on the procedure of dealing with financial legislation in the Congress...

Twenty Years Ago

In a sea of mud and water, Nebraska went over the Ames goal for four touchdowns in last Saturday's game. Ames brought with her the largest excursion of students that ever came to this city from a visiting school. Nebraska was given plenty of competition with their rooting squad, as well as the football team. The crowd was the largest considering the weather. The girls at the Nebraska dormitories celebrated Halloween. There was a program and refreshments served. In her selection as assistant to Dr. 1902, was accorded a very high honor in her selection as assistant to Dr. Carroll Wright, in the preparation of Industrial history of the United States. Dr. Engberg of the Department of Mathematics, was a botanist as well as a mathematician. He made a collection of plants on the Pacific coast and has been classifying them in the University herbarium.

College Gossip by VERA MILLS Flowers That Bloom in the Fall Goodness! There is no telling where they'll bloom next. Just as we get accustomed to seeing a rose below her knee on Milady's hosiery, some clever person comes along and places a flower on the shoulder of a newest dress, and now the flowers are blooming on shoulders, collars and at the waist line. Rudge & Guenzel's have a particularly nice assortment of Flowers on display at this time, both on the Aisle of Accessories, Street Floor, and in the Millinery Section, Floor two. A gay little flower will do wonders to enliven your dark frock. Vera Mills Personal Service Bureau Rudge & Guenzel Co.

Teachers Seeking the New, Beat a Path to the Famous! wear some of their smart winter apparel back to your school-town and people will think the convention was held in Paris instead of Lincoln! Particularly noteworthy at this time is the Famous' collection of coats. New models are arriving daily in Gracklehead blue, lip-stick red and the other late shades. Coats lavishly furred with squirrel, beaver, fox, fitch and raccoon, with splendid selections at $35 and $49.50. Might as well miss your meetings, teachers, as a visit to the Famous!

A Fine Shine for 5c at the City Shoe Rebuilding Co. have your shoes groomed here, and you're not only getting a good polishing for a nickel, but helping two Nebraska students pursue their studies at the University as well! Visiting teachers will find this a handy place these next few days, located as it is, on North 12th street right on the way to campus. It's a satisfying feeling these drippy days to know that you can indulge in spick-and-span footwear as frequently as is necessary, without having to spend all your goup and marcel money!

A department of brass-wind instruments has recently been established at the University of Oregon. Three women were members of the University of Wisconsin debating team last year. Actual construction of the Oklahoma University's new $185,000 classroom building began Tuesday, October 20. Paul Sunday, son of Billy Sunday, the well known evangelist, is a student at De Pauw University, Green Castle, Ind. University of Illinois authorities expect 67,000 football fans to fill the stadium at both the Michigan and Chicago games. Several members of the faculty at the University of Wisconsin have threatened to leave because the institution refuses to accept gifts from incorporated bodies. An alumni directory of all who have ever attended Oregon Agricultural College is being prepared by the alumni office. It will contain 9000 names arranged both by class and geographically.

Due to a typhoid epidemic at the University of Arizona, the school swimming pool has been closed for an indefinite period. Oklahoma Agricultural college has built a new glass-covered press box in its stadium for the use of newspaper men attending the game. All freshman men were invited to be the guests of the first year women, recently, at a get-acquainted dance held at the University of Utah. The band at Ohio University needs from sixty to seventy new men to fill the ranks depleted by graduation and by failure of others to return. The president's own band, the first military band formed in this country organized by order of President John Adams in 1798 and which has continued its organization without a break throughout the history of the United States, recently gave a concert at Northwestern University.

what nicer Christmas gift than an enlargement of some particularly good picture you have taken! The little snap of you that Ted admired so; let Macdonald make an enlargement of it, adding a bit of hand-color perhaps, and you'll have a gift supreme for your suitor. Beautiful campus scenes await you at Macdonald's, too. Tell your visiting teacher-alums about them! Not only do they picture the familiar spots, but in the artistic manner which labels them decisively as Macdonald work. Studio at 218 N. 11th.

FAMOUS PERSONAGES mentioned yesterday, have a lot to do with your personal appearance. If you don't know them by these names it's your loss. Friday, we'll let you know their whole name so you can get acquainted.

Gift-giving Items at the Lincoln Photo Supply Co. —pictures that you'll be proud to dispense, too! Finished in platinum grey with your eye's every sparkle flatteringly reproduced. Visiting teachers will like them. Just phone for an appointment, have your sitting before you leave, and Barnett's will send the finished pictures to you in double quick time. This type of picture is but one of course, from the many featured at this popular studio. Every sort from those at $1 a dozen to large, beautifully tinted photos.
