

DRAKE DRILLS FOR HUSKERS

Bulldogs Prepare for Hardest Gridiron Struggle in Last Decade

BACKFIELD HAS SPEED

DES MOINES, Ia.—Preparing for their greatest football struggle within the last decade, the Drake University Bulldogs inaugurated Monday what will probably be the most intensive week of drill this season for their battle with the crack University of Nebraska eleven here Saturday in an encounter that will officially dedicate the new Drake bowl.

Instead of confining their sessions to indoors as they were forced to do last week because of snow the Bulldogs have taken to the open again. Scrimmage of the intensified sort against the freshmen armed with the Nebraska formations will be the feature of the week's workout. Chalk talks and dummy drills are also on the program.

Virtually every member of the Blue and White squad came through the struggle at Lawrence in fairly good shape, which means that Ossie Solem, Bulldog coach, will throw his strongest lineup against the Huskers.

Saturday will also see Gail Frey and Charles (Chuch) Everett starting in the backfield lineup for Drake, as both of these quarterback regulars have completely recovered from injuries. The presence of either one or both, in the backfield will mean additional speed. Ralph (Red) Amend did commendable work as center against the Jayhawks, and, no doubt, will oppose Hutchinson, the Husker pivot man in Saturday's game.

Outside of the positions mentioned the Drake lineup will be intact for the sixth Missouri Valley conference battle which faces it.

POSTPONE GREEK HARRIER RACES

Interfraternity Cross Country Will Be Run Off Next Thursday—Winner Gets Prize Skins

An interfraternity cross country run, scheduled for today will not be run until Thursday of next week, on November 12. A mistake in the schedule, coupled with the prospects for extreme cold weather are responsible for the change of the dates.

Each fraternity entering the annual classic must deposit one dollar at the athletic office on or before four o'clock of the day of the race. As in former years, five men will be allowed to run from each fraternity and the first three men to finish will score for that organization. The award will be the usual intermural sports award of a skin, for first place.

Several fraternities will have good teams this fall. Sigma Phi Epsilon and Pi Kappa Alpha, the two teams that tied last year for first will be in the running this season again; while the Farm House, winners of several of the runs have a good number of men out. Alpha Sigma Phi and Tau Kappa Epsilon will be among the leaders according to appearances.

HARRIBRS FACE HARD COMPETITION

Husker Distance Men Will Run in Triangular Meet Saturday With Drake and Ames Teams

Cross country through the Valley is in the most part taking a week off, only two meets being held this week end. Besides the Husker-Drake-Ames, triangular meet Oklahoma and Kansas are meeting on the Sooner course. The triangular meet will in all probability be the hardest test the Husker runners have been put to this fall, but Coach Schulte expects the Nebraska harriers to win.

The Nebraska distance men have been kept busy for the past three weeks. Following a two weeks rest after their easy victory over Missouri, the Huskers tested their strength against Kansas. Last Saturday they met and defeated the Sooners in a hard run which seems only a stepping stone to their race with the Iowa teams.

Running alone against Drake, the dope would have pointed to a fourth victory for Nebraska, but the coming of Ames into the affair has changed the outlook. The best Drake runner is Captain Wahl, and he is a good one. Van Landingham is another harrier at Des Moines whom the Scarlet and Cream runners must look out for. Drake is running with four veterans this fall.

Ames presents more speed men than Drake in the triangular affair. They have one man who is sure of first place and that is Conger. In both the Ames meets so far, Conger has led the field much in the fashion that the two Oklahoma runners did here Saturday. A new man, Cervi, has been running wonderful cross country this fall for Iowa state, finishing second to Conger against Drake two weeks ago. Captain Drew and Maone are both men who will be among the leaders.

Nebraska's chance will again be in placing all of the men in a group well toward the front. This Husker team will have a large job on its hands, if they hope to keep their slate clean this fall. The workout Tuesday pleased Coach Schulte, and the men will be in excellent condition for the meet. No definite line up has been announced by Coach Schulte.

Professor Injured
Prof. Richard Flint, a member of the Geology department of Yale, was severely injured when a platform on which he and fourteen Yale students were standing collapsed and plunged them 40 feet into a stone quarry. The accident occurred during a Geology field trip.

Berkley's Interfraternity Council has recommended that fraternities not able to maintain a "C" average be put to probation for a year.

They will be prohibited from holding any social functions or reserving space for their pictures in the Blue and Gold until their average was raised.

VARSITY WORKS WITH PASSES

Coach Bearg Drills Men Hard On Defense Against Drake Aerial Attack

REGULARS ARE IN SHAPE

With all the regulars in suit except Glen Presnell, the Varsity football squad was treated to a lively practice yesterday. Every man, regular or not, was out, and almost every one got into action.

The kickers of the squad worked out on the stadium field, while the scrimmages were held on the practice field to the south of the main sod. Avar Mandery, and Brown were limbering up their toes, with Mandery trying kicks from placement.

Coach E. E. Bearg carved a good share of the time to the passing end of the game. He was training his regulars in the art of breaking up the passes, too. With Bob Stephens doing hurling and Dover, McIntyre and Wickham receiving, the regulars matched themselves against the seconds in breaking up passes.

Coach Bearg's attention to the passing game is due to reports from Drake which state that the Bulldogs, who play Nebraska at Des Moines Saturday, have a nice passing department. Oklahoma last week put the only crimp in the Husker's victory over the aerial route, and Nebraska will have a defense trained against those passes.

The Huskers will have to begin a strenuous practice on this feature at the beginning of next week, also. Nebraska meets Kansas Aggies a week from Saturday, and the "junior Notre Dame" team is certain to have a large number of passing tactics.

Today and tomorrow are all that is left to Coach Bearg before the Drake game. The perfection of a more consistent defense will be taken up today, and it is believed that the Huskers will be primed right for the Bulldog contest.

The last real workout is today, but Coach Bearg will run his team through a short workout Friday morning preliminary to embarking for Des Moines. The team leaves at 1:19 Friday afternoon, and will arrive at Des Moines that evening about 7 o'clock.

Five hundred rats are being used by a psychology professor in Leland Stanford University in doing research work to determine learning ability with respect to age. Two types of tests are being conducted, the problem box and the maze. The study is being financed by a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of $12,000 extending over a period of three years.

FRESHMEN WORK ON DRAKE PLAYS

First-Year Gridsters Put in Long Scrimmage Session With Varsity Yesterday

About thirty freshmen reported for practice Wednesday afternoon. The practice was held on the drill field which has just been put in good condition. After an hour of scrimmage they were sent to the stadium for a long scrimmage with the Varsity.

In spite of the fact that the Varsity made long gains through the yearlings Tuesday afternoon, although the Bulldogs use the hurdle system the freshmen were not using it, but are devoting their time to the learning the deceptive line shifts. A complete list of the freshmen who will go to Drake is not obtainable at this time, the question of eligibility causing the delay in getting out a corrected list.

BOWLING LEAGUE OPENS TONIGHT

Pi Kappa Alpha Was Winner in Preliminary Matches Rolled Last Week

First games in the interfraternity bowling league will be played tonight on the Saratoga alleys. Although only three teams played in the preliminary games last week, others have signified their intentions of having teams on the alleys tonight.

The number of games to be rolled during the season has not been definitely decided as yet, but it has been announced that a skin will be given to the winner when the season closes. Last week Pi Kappa Alpha nosed out Phi Kappa Psi for first place. Zeta Beta Tau had the other team in the match. If enough teams enter tonight, the league will meet every Thursday night for regular tournament games.

Robert B. Mantell at the Orpheum

Discriminating theatergoers cannot fail to appreciate the importance of the announcement that the attraction at the Orpheum for the three days commencing today, will be America's greatest player of Shakespeare, Robert B. Mantell. This star's long and honorable career, now approaching the half century mark, has ever been in association with the best of stage offerings. As for the past several seasons, Genevieve Hamper plays the roles opposite to his and the remainder of the company includes a number who have spent years with the Shakespearean organizations. The repertoire to be offered here is "Richard III," tonight, "Macbeth" Friday evening, "Merchant of Venice" Saturday matinee, and "King Lear" Saturday night. Complete scenic equipment and period costumes are carried for each play.—Adv.

homans 20 to 0; Nebraska scored 12 to 0 over the Sooners, while they defeated the Jayhawks 14 to 0. Oklahoma won from Drake 7 to 0, but Kansas lost to Drake by the same score.

"It is rank injustice to students for instructors to force them immediately to make up all work lost during illness," declared Dr. C. L. Kessel, of West Virginia University. "The convalescent student is often unable to make work of any kind directly after a severe illness. Many students are kept ill because of worry over school work."

A co-ed at the University of Iowa has just written a rival song of "Collegiate," entitled "Iowa Blues." The song will be published and on sale after the first of November.

California Aggie football men are meeting each night at various fraternify houses for a strictly-proper dinner and half hour of "skull practice."

DOPE POINTS TO OKLAHOMA VICTORY

Kansas University Expected to Lose To Sooners in Game at Norman Saturday

LAWRENCE, Kan.—After a series of unfortunate contests with northern neighbors, the University of Kansas football team will go to Norman next Saturday to meet the University of Oklahoma in the 23d annual contest.

Of the 22 games already played, Kansas has won 13, lost 7, and tied 2, piling up a total of 265 points to 181 for Oklahoma. In recent years, the University of Kansas has been a consistent winner, taking last year's game 20 to 0.

This season gives Oklahoma somewhat an advantage on comparative scores. K. S. A. C. which defeated Kansas 14 to 7, defeated the Okla-
