

FRESHMEN WIN FROM VARSITY

File Up 13-6 Score in Practice Game Against Squad of Regular Men

ADVANTAGE IS THEIRS

Smashing through the line and running the ends, the freshmen team ran through the Varsity in a regular game played in the stadium as a part of the long preparation for the Notre Dame game on Thanksgiving Day, and chalked up a victory against the regulars to the tune of 13-6.

It was an ambitious freshman team which went into the practice game against the Varsity lineup of second string men. And the yearlings achieved most of their ambitions before they allowed the Huskers to score. All through the game they held the advantage, and this was done against the Varsity regulars—the team that is going to play Notre Dame—as well as against the seconds.

The greens' first touchdown came in the second quarter as the result of a Varsity fumble on the 5-yard line, and the second score came in the last quarter against the first string. Until that time the freshmen were the center of attraction and the Varsity wasn't even in it. But that was too much, and the regulars came back in the closing minutes of play for a touchdown.

The second string started the game against the freshmen. "Captain Wostoupal and "Captain" Howell of the freshmen were introduced by Coach E. E. Bearg, an interested onlooker, and the game was on. It was Notre Dame against Nebraska, just one week before the real contest.

The Varsity took the ball on the kickoff but were forced to punt. They couldn't gain through the line. The yearlings, too, were forced to punt soon after, and the game resolved itself into a battle between what seemed to be equal forces. The ball went back and forth, but never came very close to either goal.

The Varsity was pulling same very pretty passing, though, and one of them, Presnell to Mielenz, was good for twenty-five yards. Another one bounced off a freshman's shoulder into a Nebraskan's arms for another gain of twenty yards. But that was the extent of the Varsity play.

Stephens at quarterback for the Varsity, with Mielenz and Presnell at halfbacks and Oehrich at full. Later Presnell was taken out with a slight injury and Locke was substituted. Locke's shoulder is still sore, though, and he too was replaced by Stephens, while Wickman went to quarter.

On the line were Wostoupal at center, Whitmore and Raish at the guards, and Molzen and Randells, at tackle, and Sprague and Lee at ends. The first break for the Varsity came near the end of the second quarter. The Varsity was backed up close to its own goal line and when the freshmen punted to Stephens, the Hastings boy fumbled the ball. A greeny was right there, and he grabbed the ball and went across. Howell drop-kicked the extra point.

Howell was the main punch in the freshman offense. He plunged for large gains against the regulars as well as against the seconds. Stephens showed some nice plunging when he was playing halfback.

The Varsity made the mistake of passing when they were on their own 15-yard line, and one of these was intercepted by a freshman on the 45-yard line, which paved the way for the first score.

Coach Bearg, from his vantage point in the stadium, sent his first string down to start the second half. Brown was at quarterback, Dalley and Mandery at halves, and Rhodes at full. Wostoupal staid in the game at offensive center, with Hutchinson playing offensive guard and defensive center. The other guard was Scholz, who was replaced by Whitmore on account of the former's shoulder being hurt.

The tackles were Lonnie Stiner and Ed Weir and the ends were Joe Weir and Shaner.

The yearlings relished the Varsity being sent out against them. Again they took the ball and punched holes in the line for good gains. The passing game was comparatively neglected.

Nothing of note happened during the third quarter, but in the last period the freshmen worked the ball to the Varsity four-yard line, using Howell as the main plunger. With four downs to make it in, the freshmen progressed by inches and finally pushed it over on the last chance.

That was the signal for the Varsity to tear loose. Taking the ball on the kick-off, Rhodes plunged for twenty-five yards, and in three more plays the ball rested across the green goal-line. Score: "Notre Dame" 13; Nebraska 6.

Whether the game yesterday should cause any worry is questionable. The Varsity still shows plenty of punch, and the defense will tighten up in the game next week. That is certain. It didn't pay the regulars to loaf yesterday.

The loss of Rhodes, Hutchinson, Wostoupal, Weir and Locke this year will not mean so much when this freshman team is aken into count. 1926, these freshmen will come to the Varsity and there will be some more neat scrapping for regular positions.

When Smart SHOES are Discussed

Wilma interrupted Eve's absorbed interest in the game.

"Look — there's Carol Drake," she exclaimed; "they call her the best dressed girl in the University."

"I'm flattered," was Eve's reply. "I met her at Marie's tea and she asked me where I bought my pumps. She said they were the smartest shoes she's seen this season."

"Which ones?"

"The patent leather pumps with the rose cut-out. Marie told me Carol went down the very next day to Rudge & Guenzel's and bought six pairs of their new models. She just raved about them!"

You will be as pleased as Carol Drake when you see the new show models Rudge & Guenzel's are now showing.
