

IRISH, FRESH FROM VICTORY, DOPED TO WIN

Notre Dame Looks Stronger With Defeat of Northwestern, 13 to 10.

PLAN BIG RALLY HERE

Thousands of Nebraska Students, Carrying Red Torches, To Greet Hoosiers

Notre Dame, the Irish who meet the Cornhuskers here Thursday, yesterday added another victory to its record. The proteges of Rockne won over Northwestern on home sod, 13 to 10.

Winning from the Purple, the Notre Dame aggregation comes to Lincoln on Thanksgiving day as a strong favorite to win the annual classic. Nebraska is doped to drop the game, and odds are being offered on Notre Dame, some ranging to fourteen and eighteen points.

Preparations are being made for "the biggest rally in the history of Nebraska" when the University students greet Notre Dame squad Wednesday evening. A huge bonfire will be built on the drill field. From there the students will march to the Lincoln hotel, where the Rocknemen will be quartered during their stay in Lincoln.

Students in the parade, which will go through the main streets of Lincoln, will all carry red torches. Only after he had been informed of the big welcome which was planned for his team, did Rockne decide to bring the Notre Dame players to Lincoln Wednesday night. It had previously been planned to have them stay in Omaha that night.

SOUTH BEND, Indiana, Nov. 2.—Knut Rockne probably will bring thirty-eight of his gridiron men with him to Lincoln, Neb., when he boards the train which will take him to that city to meet the Nebraska Cornhuskers on Thanksgiving Day. This was indicated as an almost certainty here today.

Of these men, fifteen have had varsity experience before this year, although none were regulars. The tallest man of the lot is John McManmon of Lowell, Mass., who is 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 197 pounds, while Joe Boland of Philadelphia, a 6-foot 2 1/2 pounder is the heaviest man on the probable traveling squad. Arthur Parisien of Haverhill, Mass., a 5 foot 8 inch 143 pound quarterback, is the lightest man on the Notre Dame squad.

That the two teams will be almost evenly matched as far as weight goes seems very probable, especially if the same lineups are started on Thanksgiving afternoon as the coaches have been started in most of the games to date. What difference will have no bearing on the result, for speed and football brains are more apt to decide the winner than brawn. And, both teams have a goodly share of each.

One of the members of the Notre Dame squad to make the trip probably will be a Nebraska boy—John Doorn of Omaha, Neb., a graduate of Omaha Central High School. Doorn is a right tackle substitute, who weighs 181 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He is playing his first year on the Rockne eleven.

Civic Bulletin Lists Information Sources

Sources of information about Nebraska are listed in a civic bulletin issued this fall by the Legislative Reference Bureau. Edna D. Bullcock, director of the bureau, writes in the introduction: "Intelligent living presupposes knowledge. Since the primitive day when the first Nebraska territorial pioneer built a sod house and called it home, the machinery of government and community life has been increasing in complexity. Naturally the difficulties of knowing what the machinery is and does, and who is involved in the community life have become greater with the years. Yet the sources of information are many and freely available, provided by us for your own use. This leaflet is an effort toward the encouragement of inquisitiveness."

Want More Women To Sell Candy Thursday

More women are needed to sell candy at the Notre Dame game, Thursday. Lists are posted on the W. A. A. bulletin board in west armory. A box of candy will be given to the woman selling the most candy at the game. No one is to sell while the game is in progress, so women selling are given opportunity to also see the game.

PARTY IS WELL ATTENDED

Over a Thousand Go to All-Union Dance Saturday Evening

Over a thousand students attended the All-University party held last night at the Armory. Harriet Cruise entertained the crowd with several popular songs during the intermission period.

The Armory was decorated with gold and black streamers leading from the center of the hall. Punch and wafers were served throughout the evening.

DEMOLITION WORK GOES ON

Debris Scattered by Wind as Wreckers Continue Work On University Hall

FOURTH FLOOR CLEARED

A blinding driving dust storm blew over the western prairies on September 23, 1869, when a small group, full of hopes for the future great university, assembled at the cornerstone laying exercises of University Hall. Yesterday another wind storm swept over the plains to receive the first dust from the wreckage of University Hall, now condemned, and soon to disappear from the campus, where the dream of a great university has come true.

The brick base of the tower was the first masonry of the old building to feel the pikes and irons of the wreckers yesterday as they proceeded downward in their demolition work. The broken bricks and powdery mortar, as it slid down the wrecking chutes, added to the load of the dust-laden winds.

Partitions Removed
The fourth floor was the scene of the greatest desolation, where the wreckers were tearing off plaster from the walls, and clearing out the wooden partitions Friday and Saturday. All the fourth floor attic windows were removed Saturday, and the wind made a clean sweep through the barren rooms and hallways.

All the doors and woodwork, and some of the windows were also removed from the second and third floors, leaving only gaunt, desolate walls.

Bannisters Preserved
The bannisters from the two stairs on which thousands of students have trod and which are the original ones installed in the building, were taken out Friday afternoon, and are now

Large Stoves Heated Classrooms Of University Hall in Early Days

There are eight chimneys on the roof of University Hall. They reach down into the class rooms, where the holes in the walls have long been covered with wall paper or wood, and are only visible reminders of the early days when U Hall class rooms were heated by large hard coal base burners.

The principal duties of the janitor in those days were to carry buckets of coal up to the rooms, and carry down the ashes after a day of stoking. The coal bin was located in the basement directly underneath room 108, which had that time was the janitor's quarters.

Professor Laurence Fossler, who entered the University in 1876 as a student remembers well the old janitor named George MacClean, who used to carry the coal. He was a man of large build and took several buckets of coal up the stairs at one time.

There was no running water in the building then. The source of water supply was a well northwest of the building in the court between the north and west wings. The well has long been covered over, and no mark remains to indicate its exact location. It was the janitor's other duty to draw the water.

HUSKERS PLACE THIRD IN CROSS COUNTRY MEET

Kansas Aggies Win Annual Missouri Valley Run—Ames Second

RUTHERFORD IS THE STAR

Oklahoma Runner Sets New Course Record—Ross, Tenth, Is First Nebraskan to Finish

LAWRENCE, Kansas, November 21—(Special)—Nebraska took third in the annual Missouri Valley cross country run held here this afternoon between halves of the Missouri-Kansas football game. Seven Valley schools entered the competition which was won by the Kansas Aggies. Iowa State College (Ames) was second.

A new record for the Jayhawk course was set by Captain Floyd Rutherford of the Oklahoma University team, who finished first in 26 minutes, 6.9 seconds. It was a case of Rutherford bettering his own mark, for the previous course record was set by the Oklahoma star last year.

Ross, who took tenth place, was the first Nebraskan man to finish. Zimmerman was twelfth, Hays, fifteenth, Searle seventeenth, and Lawson was eighteenth.

Conger of Ames ran the Oklahoma star a close race, but the Sooner forged into the lead with a great burst of speed in the last fifty yards. He led the Ames man across the tape by five yards.

Scores of the teams follow: Kansas Aggies, 50. Iowa State, 81. Nebraska 85. Oklahoma 92. Drake 99. Kansas 100. Missouri 119.

Valley schools which did not send teams were Grinnell, Oklahoma A. & M., and Washington. The weather was ideal for the run.

Professor of History Will Discuss "The Honor System" at Wednesday Noon Meeting

"The Honor System" will be discussed by Dr. Fred Morrow Fling at the meeting of the World Forum on Wednesday noon, November 25. KANSAS WINS, BUT MISSOURI STILL ON TOP

Jayhawks Accomplish the Impossible by Defeating Haughty Tigers

AMES SPOILS DRAKE HOPE

Victory of Iowans Puts Them Right At Missouri's Heels in Dickinson Ratings

The Missouri Tigers were knocked from their lofty percentage rating in the Missouri Valley yesterday by an underestimated, fighting Kansas team, losing to the Jayhawkers by a score of 10 to 7, but they were not thrown from the top of conference. For while Kansas was administering a sound drubbing, Ames was whipping Drake, and thus moving into second place. The Bulldogs dropped to third.

HOW THEY STAND

1. Missouri	833	20.0
2. Ames	750	20.0
3. Drake	714	17.8
4. Nebraska	500	15.0
5. Kansas Aggies	500	15.0
6. Oklahoma	500	15.0
7. Grinnell	333	15.0
8. Kansas	250	13.7
9. Washington	000	11.0

more games to play. Missouri was able to hold first place because of Ames' defeat of Drake. Nebraska and Kansas Aggies are in a tie for fourth.

Oklahoma added another victory to its record by its defeat of Washington yesterday, 28-0, and stands in fifth place. The Oklahoma Aggies come close behind in sixth place. They are placed above Grinnell (the two teams have the same index) because they have beaten Grinnell.

Kansas is eighth and Washington ninth in the standings. Kansas' defeat of the Tigers yesterday was indeed an upset; very few fans thought it could be done. The Jayhawkers had lost all but one game this season, and they stood a good chance of losing to Missouri. But they turned the trick.

Ames moved into second place by its upset defeat of Drake, by the score of 7-6.

The "Indian Sign"

Sport writers were unanimous in declaring that the Huskers had the "Indian sign" on Notre Dame when Nebraska defeated Rockne's greatest team for two successive years. It was also the "Indian sign" that made Red Grange powerless against Nebraska the two biggest years of his phenomenal career.

Just what the "Indian sign" was, outsiders were unable to discover.

But it soon leaked out and today Nebraska's "Indian sign" is recognized all over the country. The "Indian sign" is Nebraska spirit.

Football experts now take Nebraska morale and Nebraska spirit into consideration when they start to figure on the outcome of Cornhusker games. Rockne had planned to have his team stay in Omaha the night before the Thanksgiving game but after being urged by Nebraska authorities consented to bring his "colts" here for the big rally Wednesday. It is rumored that he desired to have his team exposed to the "Indian Sign" as little as possible.

Students, you are largely responsible for the "Indian sign." Your unity, your pep, your sportsmanship, and your spirit has become part of every game. Get it, build it, keep it and work it on Notre Dame. The "Indian sign"—Nebraska spirit.

FRESHMEN WIN THE RIGHT TO DISCARD CAPS

Are Victorious in Olympic Contests With Sophomores

NUMBERS MAIN FACTOR

Yearlings Overwhelm Opponents in Mass Events—Sophomores Win Early Bouts

Overwhelming power of numbers in the deciding events enabled the freshmen to win the sixteenth annual freshman-sophomore Olympics by a score of 60 to 40. The victory also won for the freshmen the right to doff their green caps. The freshmen girls turned out in greater numbers than sophomores, adding five points to the first year men's total.

The sophomores threw a scare into freshmen ranks by winning five of the six preliminary boxing and wrestling events. The score stood 25 to 5 in favor of the sophomores when the first mass contests began. Only one of these, the bull pen, was won by the sophomores. Freshmen garnered all the remaining by force and number.

A new wrinkle added to the tug-of-war made that event the most relished victory of the afternoon for the freshmen. A stream of water was played over the middle of the tug rope, and the losing side was slowly pulled through the cold water.

Every freshman on entering the gate to the stadium was met by a reception committee, and daubed with black paint to distinguish him from the sophomores, who were marked with red paint.

The mass rushing events were won by the freshmen in the characteristic style of previous years. The pole rush, netting twenty points, brought Walter Cronk, president of the sophomores, down into the arms of the awaiting freshmen, who stormed through the cordon of sophomore defenders.

The bull pen was the one mass event the freshmen failed to win. When the whistle blew the sophomores had dragged eighteen unwilling freshmen over the chalk line, while the freshmen had been able to get but thirteen sophomores over on their side.

Some good boxing and wrestling exhibitions were put on in the preliminary rounds of the afternoon held in the stadium. The sophomores proved superior in four of these and won another by forfeit.

DeFord, sophomore, won the decision over Carrier, freshman, in the 135 lb. wrestling bout. Andrews, another sophomore, beat Abbott, in the 145 lb. class. The third bout was won by Tolman, freshman, over Pattade, sophomore.

A spirited boxing match occurred in the 158 lb. division where McIntyre won the referee's decision over Weller of the freshman. Dierich was the sophomore to win the 145 lb. match. The sophomores won the 135 lb. boxing match by forfeit when Poppe dislocated his thumb in the haste of getting ready to fill the place of the original freshman who failed to appear in time.

Freshmen who ran in the quarter mile relay race were Coffee, Green, Donisthorpe and Easter. The course was two times around the indoor track.

Those which he has sent are excellent tiny specimens and will greatly improve the collections.
